SAILING IS SMOOTH

Squall Over National Chairmanship Dies Away Into Perfect Calm.

PLATFORM WILL "STAND PAT"

By HENRY J. FORD.
(Staff Correspondent.)
[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

Chicago, June 20.—All is harmony today and the convention will be a love feast. Roosevelt and Fairbanks will be the ticket and there is such smooth sailing that it would be quite possible to wind up the work of the convention in two days; in fact, there has been a movement in favor of such a course, but consideration for the Chicago people who have invested in the affair will cause the convention to be prolonged for the stipulated time of three days. There will be plenty to interest the delegates and make things pleasant for them.

The storm over the national chairmanship subsided so rapidly and left so little result as to show that it was only an ordinary wind storm after all. It has blown itself quite out and all is peaceful and smiling again. There will not only be a new man at the head of the national committee, but the committee itself will be largely renovated. Meetings held by the various state delegations to choose members of the national committee show that hardly one-fourth of the membership of the present committee will be on the new committee, which will elect George B. Cortelyou as its head.

There is no more talk of the possibility of a Cannon stampede. Senator Depew gave a concise account of what happened to the movement, by saying:

"Cannon has exploded and blown us off the track."

The New York delegation, whose support of the Cannon movement made it formidable, have quit with a feeling that they got more kicks than thanks from the speaker for their enthusiasm in his behalf.

All the states are falling in line for Fairbanks so rapidly that if it were not for the desire of some candidates for complimentary mention Fairbanks would now have a clear field. Illinois is ready to drop Hitt, but Nebraska is loath to scratch John L. Webster without showing him on the track. Wisconsin feels the same way about ex-Gov. John M. Scofield.

John W. Springer, the Colorado candidate for vice president, talks for himself. "I shan't get out to make way for Mr. Fairbanks," said Mr. Springer. "I come from a state where we fight for what we get. Colorado will vote for me and I shall have other votes."

Senator Fairbanks said tonight that he felt it his duty to bow to the call of the delegates if they wish to place his name on the ticket.

There is little talk about the platform. It is generally assumed that it will be a "stand pat" document and this gives general satisfaction. The tariff revision resolutions were overwhelmingly defeated in the caucus of the Iowa delegation which disposes of Gov. Cummins and his "Iowa idea," so far as any effect upon this convention is concerned.

The convention hall arrangements appear to be perfect. The seats are comfortable and well arranged, the sections are plainly indicated, the hall is tastefully decorated with plants and bunting and it presents a remarkably pleasing appearance.

WILL ACCEPT HONOR

CANNON EXPLODES HIS BOOM

By CHESTER D. POTTER.
(Staff Correspondent.)
[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

Chicago, June 20.—Senator Charles W. Fairbanks of Indiana, will be President Roosevelt's running mate. He may receive the honor by acclamation. It will certainly come to him without material opposition. Efforts were made this afternoon to have those in charge of the other vice presidential booms withdraw their candidates. Nebraska and Wisconsin delegations are anxious to present the names of their favorite sons, not with any idea of winning the honor but merely in a complimentary sense.

Pennsylvania blazed the way for Fairbanks. It did the same for Roosevelt four years ago. As a maker of vice presidents the Keystone state is in a class by itself. The selection of Mr. Fairbanks, for he is practically nominated now, is due to the same forces which at the national convention in Philadelphia four years ago compelled the nomination of Theodore Roosevelt. Then Senators Quay and Penrose, backed by Platt of New York, Wolcott of Colorado, Foraker of Ohio, Kerens of Missouri, nailed the Roosevelt colors at the masthead and forced the unconditional surrender of his opponents.

Mr. Roosevelt did not want the nomination then. Now Senator Fairbanks' attitude has indicated that his position was negative, if not antagonistic, in relation to his acceptance of the honor. So indifferent has Mr. Fairbanks appeared that a strong sentiment was created prejudical to his selection.

Pennsylvania Influence Felt.

Many of the leaders believe that if the honor was not worth asking for it was not worth having, and that it was the duty of the convention to decide upon some man who would at least feel grateful. The Hitt boom as well as those in favor of Cannon, Webster of Nebraska, and ex-Gov. Scofield of Wisconsin, were the outgrowth of Fairbanks' extreme apathy.

Here it was that Pennsylvania made its influence felt. Several weeks ago Senator Penrose in an interview given The Gazette, said: "There is no one in sight but Fairbanks. If he will accept he will be nominated." Since his arrival here Senator Penrose has quietly reiterated from day to day this prediction. The Pennsylvania delegation upon its arrival was found to be fully in accord with the views of their state leader, and they have been actively at work all day in Fairbanks' interest. The first important change was in the attitude of the New York delegation.

Following Pennsylvania's lead, the Empire state leaders this afternoon ceased their efforts in behalf of Speaker Cannon and decided to support Fairbanks. Other states rapidly swung in behind the Keystone banner, and it became quickly evident that the Indiana senator would be the unanimous choice of the convention. Senator Scott of West Virginia, Senator Depew of New York, Cornelius N. Bliss, treasurer of the national committee, and others in control of state delegations, passed the word along the line and the matter was settled.

Fairbanks Defines His Position.

Senator Penrose had prepared a resolution indorsing Mr. Fairbanks for vice president, which was presented this evening by Gen. H. H. Bingham in the caucus of the Pennsylvania delegation in the Auditorium hotel. It was unanimously adopted. A similar indorsement was made in the caucus of the New York delegation.

When informed of the tidal wave of enthusiasm beating in upon him from all directions, Senator Fairbanks for the first time since his arrival in Chicago outlined for publication his position.

"If the delegates deem it wise," he said, "to place my name on the national ticket I fell that it would be my duty as an American citizen to bow to their call."

When asked if he had been promised the presidential nomination four years hence as a condition precedent to his acceptance of vice presidential honors, he replied:

"That is just four years too far ahead for me to talk about. I have not been formally asked to take the place as yet," continued the senator. "But if the people of the country, represented at this

FAIRBANKS COULD NOT BE JOLLIED BY STRATEGISTS

By L. W. STRAYER, Staff Correspondent.

CHICAGO, June 20.—All sorts of schemes have been worked during the past two days to get Senator Fairbanks of Indiana to commit himself on the vice presidential question. All that was wanted was to get him to indicate directly or indirectly that he expected to receive the nomination or that he would like to have it, but efforts along this line have been futile. Senator Kean of New Jersey walked up to his colleague from Indiana and said:

"Fairbanks, have you your speeches ready?"

"What speeches do you mean?" replied Mr. Fairbanks. "I am to make no speeches."

"Why, you are to be made chairman of the Indiana delegation and you will have to make a speech then, and also when this nomination comes to you, that will require another speech."

"John," said Mr. Fairbanks, "it isn't good to make too many speeches," and he walked away to elude further attempts on his silence.

A party of newspaper men gathered in the Auditorium lobby when Mr. Fairbanks approached and said:

"Are you gentlemen over here to avoid the confusion in the Annex, or are you on a still hunt for news?"

"We are just trying to settle this vice presidential matter," said one of the party. "Can't you help us out?"

"Oh; are they going to nominate a candidate for vice president?" asked the senator, with affected surprise. He dodged every attempt to get an expression from him.

Broke in on Depew.

A little man, wearing a light suit, a battered straw hat and an effervescent jag, floated through the surging crowds in the Auditorium lobby, bobbing up here and there at the most unexpected times and breaking into any conversation that attracted him, without the formality of an introduction. He was an enthusiastic Cannon boomer and he proceeded to spread the glad tidings in broken and hiccoughing sentences, that the speaker was sure to be nominated.

Senator Chauncey M. Depew and Cornelius Bliss of New York were talking together and several times the little Cannon boomer tottered by, endeavoring to attract the attention of the New York men. Finally he could be restrained no longer and he butted into the conversation with: "Chauncey, old boy, I'm glad to see you. You're for Uncle Joe and he's going to be nominated, don't forget it, either. Stick to Uncle Joe, for I tell you he's the real stuff. Say, Chauncey,

PARKER A COWARD, SAYS MR. BRYAN

Vicious Attack on New York Judge Made by Twice Defeated Candidate.

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
Herald Building, Herald Square.

"Democracy Versus a Plutocracy. That is the issue in the approaching campaign. It is not the money question, nor imperialism nor any of the small things that have been worrying us in the past, but the one great and constantly increasing aggression of the money power," said William J. Bryan tonight in his address at the anti-Parker convention in Cooper Union.

"The trouble with Judge Parker and the men who are backing him," he continued, "is that they are trying their utmost to get between Roosevelt and Wall street in order to get a campaign fund larger than that of the Republicans."

Mr. Bryan spoke for more than two hours to an audience that packed Cooper Union to its utmost capacity, while crowds who were turned away cheered Bryan when he entered the hall. Mr. Bryan lost no time in making it plain that he believed the Esopus jurist would be an unfit man for the nomination.

Defines His Choice.

"The man who is nominated in St. Louis for the presidency must be a man who prefers the honesty of the plain people against the grasping greed of organized corporate interests—a man upon whom there is not and never has been the taint of the monopolies we are fighting. That is all I ask," said Mr. Bryan.

"I am opposed to the nomination of Judge Parker for two general reasons: The first is, I believe him to be a weak candidate; the second is that, if elected, he will prove a great disappointment to those who believe in Democratic principles," he continued. "I say Parker

SLOCUM VICTIMS NOW NUMBER 734

102 Additional Bodies Found and Carried to Morgue for Identification.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

New York, June 21.—The total number of bodies of victims of the General Slocum disaster found up to 1 a. m. was 734; the number found in the 24 hours ending at 1 a. m. was 102.

New York, June 20.—The list of those who perished on the General Slocum is growing at an alarming rate. Bodies came to the surface today off the shores of North Brother island, singly and in groups of twos and threes until at dusk 98 additional had been secured. Every passing steamer seemed to churn up the water to such a degree that with its wash one or more bodies would be swept into the beach. Between the hours of 3 and 6, in the afternoon 45 bodies, some of them badly mutiliated, were taken ashore by the searching parties.

This brings the total number of bodies recovered up to 730, and yet there are something like 300 persons unaccounted for. A number of these are among the unidentified at the morgue and on North Brother island and the "unrecognizable" that have been buried in the Lutheran cemetery on Long Island.

The coroner's inquiry into the disaster was begun today.

Officers and members of the crew testified that the fire hose burst in three places, that there were two barrels of oil and other combustibles stored in a forward cabin, that the life preservers had not been adequately inspected and that only one lifeboat had been lowered.

Testimony of the utmost importance was given by Mate Flannagan. He stated that when government inspectors last examined the steamboat they looked at only 10 life preservers and ordered these thrown away.

PENNSYLVANIANS MEET AT CHICAGO

Senator Penrose Selected as Member of the National Committee.

PAID TRIBUTE TO M. S. QUAY

By WALTER J. CHRISTY,
Staff Correspondent.
[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

Chicago, June 20.—Pennsylvania tonight declared for Senator Charles W. Fairbanks of Indiana, for vice president and instructed Chairman Boles Penrose to vote the delegation as a unit for Roosevelt and Fairbanks. There were 500 Pennsylvanians assembled in the Auditorium music hall. Nearly every delegate and alternate was in his seat and the gathering was the most enthusiastic of any of the state caucuses.

There was perfect harmony. Just before the caucus adjourned Gov. Pennypacker offered a resolution eulogistic of the life and work of the lamented leader of Pennsylvania, Senator Matthew Stanley Quay. It was adopted by a rising vote of the entire assemblage. The resolution follows.

Resolved, That the Republicans of Pennsylvania in uniting with her people, rejoice in the achievements and deplore the death of Matthew Stanley Quay. A soldier, he won the medal of honor for distinguished services on the field of battle. A scholar, he could express a thought and turn a phrase with deft skill. A political leader of capacity unexcelled, he entered the stronghold of the foe and achieved a presidential victory under the most adverse conditions. A senator, his wise counsel and keen intelligence were ever sought and always potent. A statesman, he prevented the passage of the force bill and in time of stress preserved the principle of protection to American industries to the lasting benefit of his country.

An example of bold and steadfast integrity, his last contest was a successful effort to compel the national government to keep faith with the downtrodden and the helpless. In the grave he found that longed-for peace, which ingratitude denied him while he was alive.

Penrose is National Committeeman.

The hall was handsomely decorated with flags and palms. In the center of the stage was the oil painting of Senator Quay that usually hangs in the office of the secretary of the commonwealth. It was draped with crepe. To the right were portraits of Senators Penrose and Knox, and to the left was one of Gov. Pennypacker.

Senator Penrose called the delegation to order. The roll-call revealed the absence of John A. Bell, an Allegheny county delegate. He is expected to arrive in the morning.

Congressman Henry W. Palmer of Luzerne was chosen to preside over the gathering. Senator Penrose was elected national committeeman from Pennsylvania and chairman of the state delegation. Col. W. R. Andrews was chosen secretary. These committee assignments were rapidly made: W. W. Griest of Lancaster, honorary vice chairman; James A. Dale of York, on permanent organization; A. S. L. Shields of Philadelphia, on credentials.

Col. John J. Carter of Titusville, nominated George T. Oliver of Pittsburgh as the representative of the state on the committee on resolutions. Just as Chairman Palmer was about to put the question, Mr. Oliver sprung a genuine surprise on the caucus. He said that when he was elected a delegate from the Thirty-second district he had a desire to represent the state on the committee on resolutions. While he would have been pleased to occupy the position, he said that it occurred to him the gentleman who so ably represented the state on the

HANNA SLOGAN IS WATCHWORD

"Stand Pat" Is to Be the Keynote of National Platform.

PLANK ON STATEHOOD

Effort Will Be Made for a Declaration on Admission of Territories.

MAY DEAL WITH POLYGAMY

By L. W. STRAYER.
(Staff Correspondent.)
[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

Chicago, June 20.—"Stand pat" will be the watchword in the platform of the Republican national convention. The Hanna slogan backed by the Hanna idea is to be the paramount keynote of the campaign this fall. Tariff revisionists may bring on their offerings to allay the criticisms of the Democrats, but they will be read, considered and, like rejected manuscripts, respectfully declined. This is given upon the authority of men who are high in the councils of the party and whose opinion is worth listening to.

As stated in previous telegrams to The Gazette, the tariff plank of the Masschusetts platform will be closely followed and the national plank will declare for a revision of the schedules, but only when, in the opinion of the party, such a change becomes necessary and advisable. It will recite that tariff schedules are not considered sacred or immutable, as the Democrats have charged that the Republicans so consider them, but the decision as to the proper time to revise the tariff will be left to the Republican party. It will be a "stand pat" plank, as much so as the most ardent protectionist could wish for.

Not only on the tariff but on the other important questions before the country will the platform be a "stand pat" document. The party's position on the trusts, on the Philippines, the Panama canal and financial legislation will be reaffirmed, practically, if not in exact words.

"Iowa Idea" Eliminated.

Senator Henry C. Lodge of Massachusetts, who has the platform ready to submit to the resolutions committee, guards it very carefully, and only those who are close to President Roosevelt are permitted to get a glimpse of it. It is said that Senators Spooner, Allison and Lodge have collaborated on the tariff plank.

The "Iowa idea" is not likely to reach the convention, certainly not through the medium of the resolutions committee. Gov. Cummins made an attempt to get the idea before the committee, but his effort failed and he and his revisionist supporters were defeated by the "stand patters."

Senator Dolliver opposed the resolution in the Iowa delegation caucus, declaring that the delegation had received ample instructions on the subject of the tariff from the state convention, which adopted a "stand pat" platform. By a rising vote the Cummins resolution was defeated. J. W. Blythe, a strong administration man, was placed on the resolutions committee for Iowa, and thus it is believed that the "Iowa idea" is effectually disposed of for this convention. If it comes before the convention at all, it will have to be brought up on the floor, and the chances are that if this is done it will receive short shift.

Wants Statehood Plank.

Delegate B. S. Rodey of New Mexico, although not a delegate to the convention, is here for the purpose of trying to have a plank adopted declaring for joint statehood for the territories of New Mexico, Arizona, Oklahoma and Indian territory. What he wants is a declaration in favor of statehood in the form proposed by the bill that has already passed the house of representatives. That bill makes one state out of New Mexico and Arizona, and another out of Oklahoma and Indian territory.

But there are many people down in the southwest territories who still cling to the hope of single statehood for all the territories, and H. O. Bursum, the New Mexico member of the resolutions committee, is one of these. It is feared that he will contend for a plank declaring for statehood for each of the territories separately and that this will fail, and the best the territories will get will be a general declaration such as was incorporated in the last national platform.

It is possible that an anti-polygamy plank may be adopted as the result of the Smoot investigation by the United States senate. A number of Republican leaders said they were not certain whether the party would make any declaration on this subject or not. Senator Dubois of Idaho, who is here as a spectator, remarked today that the Republicans had better place such a plank in their platform, as he was sure the Democrats would do so.

Autonomy for Filipinos.

Senator Dubois is qualified to speak on this subject for the Democrats as he has taken a leading part in the investigation.

Secretary Leslie M. Shaw of the treasury department, in discussing the platform, said:

"In my judgment, the declaration on the tariff will be practically the same as that adopted four years ago. There has been no change in conditions and the utterances of the party will be reiterated. The 'Iowa idea' has been shelved by Iowa itself, and although there will be no declaration to the effect that there will be no revision of the tariff schedules, neither will there be any promise of revision in the near future. Of course, the platform will consider the trust question. The administration policy will be approved, but there will be no declaration calling upon congress for riotous action. There will be a Philippine plank promising autonomy for the Filipinos, but conditions will be attached demanding high standards of civilization for the inhabitants of the islands. Financial planks of previous platforms will be approved."

BATTLE RAGING NEAR KAI PING

Kuropatkin and Kuroki in Death Struggle in Manchuria.

LOSSES INCREASING

Latest Reports from Vafangow Show That Russia Was Hard Hit.

SQUADRON AT VLADIVOSTOK

[SPECIAL CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

Tokyo, June 20.—The great battle of the campaign in Manchuria is now being fought below Kai-Ping, according to reports received here today, and the same reports declare that the Russians are being forced back all along the line with heavy loss. The first train bearing wounded men has already passed Liao-Yang.

Gen. Kuropatkin is in command of the Russian army in person, having joined Stakelberg's command shortly after its crushing defeat at Tellasu.

A Japanese infantry and cavalry patrol which was sent out from Takushan on June 18 reports having encountered a force of Russians at Pan-Himg, 36 miles west of Siu-Yen, and at other points, and the fighting of a series of skirmishes. The Russians had 50 men killed and three men and many arms captured. The Japanese sustained six casualties.

LONDON, June 20.—(Special Cable.)—Advices from both St. Petersburg and Tokyo show conclusively that the Russian losses at Vafangow were heavy in the extreme, but there are wide discrepancies in the figures.

Figures Don't Agree.

The official account of the losses announced from Mukden states that the Russians lost 17 officers and 519 men killed, 97 officers and 1,588 men wounded and 12 officers and 793 men missing.

Gen. Oku has made an entirely different report to the army headquarters at Tokyo. He says that his troops have buried 1,516 Russian dead on the field of Vafangow and that the work is still incomplete. The natives declare that the Russians also carried away many of their dead and buried them.

Still another report comes from a Russian officer at Niuchwang, who was wounded at Vafangow. He declares that the losses on both sides were severe and estimates the Russian losses at 7,000.

He says no soldiers in the world could withstand the Japanese as they have been fighting lately. Their artillery fire, he claims, is marvelously effective. The Russians fought stubbornly, but were unable to withstand the enemy's dashing persistency. Several hundred wounded Russians have been sent north owing to a lack of hospitals and surgeons. All the available transportation has to be used for supplies at the expense of the sick and wounded. The Japanese buried most of the Russian dead after the battle.

Big Army Moving North.

It is estimated on information obtainable that the Japanese force moving northward is 70,000 strong, with 20,000 men in the aggregate engaged in the operations at Port Arthur. Several Japanese spies have recently been captured a few miles south of the Niuchwang. The Russians are becoming more vigilant, and are watching newspaper messages closely.

ST. PETERSBURG, June 20.—The war office expects news of a fight with Gen. Kuroki. It is believed that Gen. Oku is pursuing Gen. Stakelberg.

Under date of June 20, Vice Admiral Skrydloff sent the following message to the emperor:

"The cruiser division has returned to Vladivostok without losing any men or sustaining any damage."

The emperor has received the following dispatch from Gen. Kuropatkin:

Moving Toward Hai Cheng.

"The enemy in the direction of Saimatsze and Fung-Wang-Cheng have not only stopped, but have made a retrograde movement. They have evacuated several points toward the north of Feng-Wang-Cheng, which until recently they occupied.

"The movement of the Japanese troops toward the Dalime defile has been stopped, but a rather important movement of the Japanese forces has been discovered in the direction of Siu-Yen and Hai-Cheng or Siu-Yen and Tashichiao."

Lieut.-Gen. Zilinsky, chief of staff of Viceroy Alexieff, has sent the following telegram to the minister of war under date of June 19:

"According to information received from Port Arthur on June 14, three Japanese battalions pushed forward across the Siaobindar mountains toward Lounnatan. Two detachments of Captain Loubinsky's rifles and a company of frontier guards stopped their advance.

"The enemy's torpedo boats bombarded the semaphore station, but they retired precipitately on the approach of the cruiser Novik and our torpedo boats which opend fire on them.

"On June 13 our rifles drove the Japanese from two positions east of Siaobindar mountains. Lieut. Ribeleff and a rifleman were killed and Lieut. Zrolinsky and four riflemen were wounded. Lieut. Zrobinsky has since died."

Emerson had been shot by retreating Russians, who mistook him for a spy.

STAMPEDE FOR CLEVELAND IS EXPECTED AT ST. LOUIS

Troubles of the Democratic Party to Be Tossed Aside and Nomination Tendered to Sage of Princeton Says Eastern Delegate.

[BY PRIVATE WIRE TO THE GAZETTE.]

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., June 20.—"If the Democratic national convention becomes deadlocked over the presidential nomination, then look for a stampede of the convention for Grover Cleveland."

This rather startling statement was made by one of the national delegates elected to the St. Louis convention, who was in the city today, and who refused to allow the use of his name.

Discussing the situation as he saw it, after visiting some of the big chieftains of the eastern states, and studying the positions of such state leaders as Guffey, of Pennsylvania, he said: "Until recently the strength of Judge Parker, the leading presidential possibility, was steadily growing, but today those who are following the situation must admit that Parker's strength is weakening.

"The very fact that Parker was not the unanimous choice of New York greatly weakened him as a presidential possibility."

West Virginia Republicans Hope to Reach a Compromise on State Ticket.

NATIONAL DELEGATES CAUCUS

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

CHICAGO, June 20.—West Virginia Republican leaders are worried about the gubernatorial contest in their state. They are afraid if the fight for the nomination between W. M. O. Dawson and Charles Teter is allowed to go to a finish it may leave enough sore spots to endanger the success of the ticket this fall. A legislature will be chosen in November that will elect the successor of Senator N. B. Scott. With a factional quarrel on the Democrats might be able to get control of the general assembly.

Several conferences have been held here since the arrival of the delegation and a plan is being formulated to bring about party peace. If it is found that neither Dawson or Teter can be nominated at the Wheeling convention on July 12 without danger of party rupture, they will be asked to withdraw from the contest. The compromise candidate will be ex-Gov. George W. Atkinson. The leaders say that he has been neutral in the campaign for delegates to the state convention and will come nearer healing the breach than any man who can be named. Mr. Atkinson was asked concerning the plan to compromise. He admitted that there had been a good deal of talk about the matter.

"I know that they are trying to get me into this," said the governor, "but I will not be forced."

Must Be a Compromise.

W. L. Armstrong of Sistersville says that West Virginia leaders are anxious to secure a compromise in the gubernatorial contest.

"The fight has grown so bitter," he said, "that the ticket may be endangered this fall. Our state must be kept in the Republican column and a legislature chosen that will re-elect Senator Scott. Both candidates for governor are excellent men, but the battle has been waged so hard that it is difficult to see how either of them can be nominated without leaving much ill-feeling. There has been much discussion of the situation since we came here and every delegate is of the opinion that ex-Gov. Atkinson should be put forward as the compromise candidate."

Neither Dawson nor Teter are here. They are busy at home looking after the few remaining primaries to be held. The propositions being discussed here will be laid before them when the delegates go home.

The West Virginians are keeping open house at their headquarters in the Lexington. It so happens that today marks the 41st anniversary of the admission of the state into the union. About noon the Virginia delegation called and the parent congratulated the child on its marvelous growth and prosperity. Gov. Atkinson responded on behalf of West Virginia. The delegates from the Dakotas also visited the headquarters. The celebration was kept up until midnight.

Would Step Aside for Fairbanks.

The West Virginia caucus was held this morning. Before the meeting Senator Scott conversed with Senator Elkins by telephone. Mr. Elkins said that he did not want his name placed before the convention as a candidate for vice president if it has been agreed to give the nomination to Senator Fairbanks. It was decided that the delegates would vote for Elkins if there is a chance to nominate, and if not the state will support Fairbanks.

The gubernatorial contest was not allowed to creep into the caucus. There was evidence that there is harmony on the senatorship. J. L. Caldwell of Huntington, who had intended opposing Senator Scott, offered a resolution thanking Mr. Scott for his services to the party as a member of the national committee for 16 years. There was also a resolution praising Senator Elkins.

Fairfax S. Landstreet, vice president of the Western Maryland railroad, was chosen chairman of the delegation. T. E. Huston of Elkhorn was elected chairman, and George A. Laughlin, president of the Wheeling Intelligencer Publishing Company, is secretary. Senator Scott was re-elected a member of the national committee. The following committee assignments were made:

Virgil L. Highlands, Clarksburg, permanent organization; George W. Atkinson, Bluefields, rules and order of business; W. L. Armstrong, Sistersville, credentials; ex-Gov. George W. Atkinson, Charleston, resolutions; J. L. Caldwell, Huntington, notify the president; Enoch Carver, Charleston, notify the vice president. H. Stock of Jefferson was elected an honorary vice chairman of the national committee. Mr. Armstrong will cast his vote in the committee on credentials to seat the Spooner delegates from Wisconsin. He says that in doing this he will be upholding the position taken by Senator Scott when the contest was before the national committee. The West Virginia delegates are wearing large badges bearing the inscription: "Roosevelt and Elkins."

OHIO DELEGATES WORK IN PEACE

Herrick Selected to Succeed Himself on the National Committee.

FORAKER GETS ASSIGNMENT

By WALTER J. CHRISTY,
Staff Correspondent.
[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

CHICAGO, June 20.—Until after the presidential election there is to be harmony in Ohio. Today Gov. Myron T. Herrick, Senator Charles Dick and George B. Cox held a conference and decided to carry their working agreement along until the ticket is put through in November. After that any one of the trio is free to make war. Senator Joseph B. Foraker is not considered in the negotiations.

By this agreement the caucus of the Ohio delegation this afternoon was, to all outward appearances, as harmonious as the most peace loving politician could desire. There were rumors of trouble last night. Senator Dick thought that he should have the Ohio seat in the national committee. Gov. Herrick was determined that he should succeed himself on the committee.

When Dick reached Chicago this morning, he found that Herrick and Cox were inclined to work in harmony. Finally the three men agreed that it would be wise for them to stand together until after the fall election. They knew that Senator Foraker could not afford to start any trouble previous to November. After Ohio has been turned into the Republican column a battle for state leadership is expected.

At the caucus no mention was made of the choice of the state on the vice presidency.

Early in the day former Secretary of the Navy Long, former Postmaster General Smith and some others started to talk of Secretary Taft for vice president. After the caucus Gov. Herrick had no comment to make on the mention of Taft's name.

Both Dick and Foraker said that it was unjust to Taft and to the Ohio delegation to bring the war secretary into the race at this time. If Ohio had been wanted to furnish the vice presidential candidate opportunity should have been given the delegation to get behind the Taft boom. It is generally believed that the state will support Senator Fairbanks of Indiana.

Senator Dick was named a member of the credential committee. There are contests from the Fourth, Sixth and Twentieth Ohio districts. When they come before the national committee, Gov. Herrick succeeded in having the Foraker delegates thrown out and his friends recognized. With Dick on the credential committee it is considered extremely doubtful whether the Forakerites will follow up their contest. Under the peace agreement Dick would have to stand by the decision of the national committee. In the Twentieth district Congressman J. A. Beidler is credited with having inspired the Foraker men to make the contest. Dick will vote to seat the Spooner delegates in the Wisconsin contest.

Mr. Cox was chosen chairman of the delegation and Gov. Herrick was re-elected national committeeman. When it came to select the members of the committee on resolutions, there was a painful pause, and then Foraker was named. The other committee assignments follow: Congressman T. E. Burton, permanent organization; Harry Daugherty, rules; J. E. Lowes, vice chairman; George T. Waldorf, notify the president; George W. McMurchey, notify the vice president.

The Blaine club of Cincinnati arrived here this morning. It will escort the delegation to the convention hall each day.

convention, see fit to honor me by placing my name on the ticket, no conditions will be asked. They have the right to call on men to serve the party, and it is the duty of such men to answer to the call of the convention which represents the people."

This plain, conclusive statement by Mr. Fairbanks placed at rest all question as to his attitude and clears the deck for action. Senator Penrose and others in the confidence of Mr. Fairbanks have known for months that while he would not seek the nomination he would accept it if it came backed by the majority sentiment of the national convention. There is no doubt that his aspirations have been centered upon the presidential nomination and by many it is believed that had President McKinley lived Mr. Fairbanks would have succeeded him. There was a time when it was believed a vice presidential nomination blighted the prospects of a man ambitious to fill the highest office within the gift of his countrymen. The experience of Mr. Roosevelt has reversed this opinion. The experience of Mr. Fairbanks may emphasise the new condition of affairs.

There was an earnest effort made this morning by some of the New York leaders to stampede the delegations in the interest of "Uncle Joe" Cannon. Senator Chauncey Depew, Congressman Sherman of New York, Senator Lodge of Massachusetts and even Mr. Bliss, the treasurer of the national committee, were trying to drown Cannon's protest by the din of their tom-toms, but the grand old man would not be hypnotized. He sent for Senator Depew, also Mr. Sherman. Both admitted after leaving the veteran Illinois leader that the things "Uncle Joe" said to them could not be printed in a family newspaper.

The final effort to stem the Fairbanks tide was started this afternoon by Charles Emory Smith of Pennsylvania, and ex-Gov. Crane of Massachusetts. Their choice was Secretary of War Taft. Some of the Ohio leaders for a while took kindly to the Taft idea but when Senator Foraker and Gov. Herrick discovered that Pennsylvania had anchored alongside the Hoosier senator they quickly gave the orders for Ohio to fall in behind.

Tonight there is no opposition to Mr. Fairbanks.

KILLED BROTHER; SHOT NIECE; TRIED SUICIDE

Long Island Man, After Committing Murder, Cuts His Throat to Dodge Posse.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, June 20.—After quarreling over money matters today, Samuel Meringola, 49 years old, of Fair Ground, L. I., killed his brother Thomas, aged 52, with an axe, shot his niece, Mrs. Carman Petra, in the thigh and arm, and attempted suicide by cutting his throat.

The murder occurred at Long Swamp, near Fair Ground. After nearly decapitating his brother, Meringola went to the home of Mrs. Pietra and shot her. Meanwhile, the news of the murder had reached Huntington and a posse started in search of the murderer.

When he was discovered leaving the Pietra house he opened fire on his pursuers. The shots failed to take effect and he surrendered when the posse fired on him. As the crowd was closing in Meringola cut his throat. Tonight the physicians say he has an even chance of recovery. Mrs. Pietra's wounds are not considered fatal.

CONTRACTORS GET NO CHANCE TO OFFER BIDS

Allegheny Councils Give Director of Public Works Authority to Lay City Water Mains.

Allegheny select council last night established a precedent by passing finally an ordinance that prevents contractors from bidding on a contract for the laying of water mains in 30 streets in the city, and gives to the director of public works the power to supervise the work and employ the laborers on the job.

The measure was introduced about six months ago in common council by John R. Henricks of the Eleventh ward and was killed in committee. It provides that the public works director shall have the work done and that only residents of Allegheny shall be employed.

In introducing his ordinance Mr. Henricks explained that it was to give employment to men who were out of work in the city. Another measure authorizing the mayor to advertise for bids on the work was repealed and common council, not concurring in the action of the committee, passed the bill and messaged it to the select branch. Its passage is regarded as a victory for the administration that can be used to good purpose at the municipal election next spring. The job involves the expenditure of $30,000 and will give employment to about 300 men.

An ordinance to increase the salaries of several clerks in the bureau of engineers and in the public safety department was laid over for want of a legal majority. The ordinance letting the garbage contract for two years was passed finally. Several measures providing for the grading and paving of streets were passed finally.

EPWORTH LEAGUERS IN ANNUAL SESSION

Pittsburgh District Convened Yesterday—Reports Were Encouraging.

With 130 delegates present, the largest in the history of any convention, the thirteenth annual session of the Pittsburgh district of the Epworth league convened yesterday morning in the Friendship park Methodist Episcopal church, Liberty avenue. President H. C. Renton presided. After reading and adopting reports showing marked progress in the work from every standpoint, an address was delivered by Prof. A. C. Kundson of Allegheny college, Meadville, on "Some Essential Elements of Intelligent Bible Study."

The afternoon session was opened with prayer by the Rev. Dr. R. I. McKee of the Friendship church, which was followed by more reports of an encouraging character. The $1,000 requested from the 30 leagues in the district for the station plan, missionary work was reported assured. The Rev. H. M. Chalfant of Duquesne Heights, spoke on "The Church Militant," which was followed by a junior department conference held by Mrs. F. L. Wilbur of Bloomsburg. The Rev. W. R. Denyes, missionary at Malaysia, told of the laborious work in establishing Christianity in that country.

"An Illustrative Study of the Gospel of Luke," by Prof. Kundson opened the evening session. "The Situation in the Far East" was then handled by the Rev. W. N. Brewster of Hinghua, China, which held the audience for nearly two hours. He stated that the "yellow peril" is to be found in Japanese success in the war and declared that the Chinese were worthy of any trust while the Japanese were not. The Boxer uprising was described by the speaker. The session will be continued today.

PARKER IS A COWARD, SAYS MR. BRYAN

goes before the people on the New York state platform on a cowardly and straddling platform, that appeals only to cowards and straddlers and not to the rank and file of the Democratic party, who are honest and courageous.

"Is he for a high tariff? Don't know. For a low tariff? Can't tell. Just a reasonable tariff? Well, whoever advocated an unreasonable tariff?

"Who knows his ideas on any subject? Is he for gold? Don't know. Is he for silver? Can't tell. Maybe he is for radium. Who knows?

Says Parker Is Unfair.

"I charge Judge Parker now with playing an unfair game; with concealing from the great mass of the American people his views and making them known secretly to a few capitalists, who are to put up the cash for his campaign.

"I say that we have the same right that the heads of great corporations have to know where he stands on the trust question. I charge further that, in addition to being cowardly and deceptive, the Parker managers have been dishonest. They have fought openly every delegate they could get in state conventions to carry out their purposes. In Connecticut men were bought by corporations and you can get their names at any time in New Haven.

"The platform adopted at the meeting opens by condemning the expansion policy of the Republican administration. The platform continues:

"Judge Parker is silent. Senator Hill speaks for him. We know Senator Hill's record. As governor of the state of New York he blocked the ripper bill. As senator he opposed his party's positon on the tariff and the income tax. The people of New York expressed their opinion of Senator Hill when he was beaten for the office of governor in 1894 by 156,000 votes. Neither harmony, confidence nor success can follow his discredited leadership."

Candidate of Monopolists.

"Judge Parker is the candidate of tariff beneficiaries, imperialists, monopolists, and those who profit by special privileges and seek to uphold them at the public cost.

"The party should refuse to follow the leadership of such men as August Belmont, declares the resolutions, adding that the Albany platform failed to make a single issue with Republican policies, contained no denunciation of "President Roosevelt's usurpation of power," no preference to the breach of faith with Colombia, no opposition to the government of colonies by the republic and no condemnation of monopoly in private hands. The platform adopted tonight denounces protection of monopoly by tariffs, and concludes:

"Resolved, That a committee of 25, of which the chair shall be one, be appointed by the chair to present this to the St. Louis convention."

STEAMER T. N. BARNSDALL SINKS; PANIC ABOARD

Strikes Snag Near Waverly, W. Va.,—Coolness of Officers Prevents Loss of Life.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

MARIETTA, O., June 20.—The steamer T. N. Barnsdall, loaded with passengers and carrying a large amount of freight, struck a snag near Waverly, W. Va., today and sank to the bottom. The passengers and crew had a narrow escape, but by the coolness of the officers of the boat they were all rescued. The damage to the freight is heavy. The boat was on route to Sistersville, W. Va., to this city and while passing Waverly this morning an unknown snag was struck. The boat began to sink rapidly and for a moment panic reigned. No other steamers were in sight and the officers hastily had the boats lowered and held back the crowd, getting all off the sinking vessel safely. The boat touched bottom a short time after the passengers left it.

The insurance company, which had insured the boat, took charge of it and efforts will be made to raise the craft. The boat will be taken to Parkersburg for repairs when she is raised. The water is about six or seven feet deep where the boat sank.

CLERKS MUST GO.

Cassatt Decides That Several Hundred Employes of P. R. R. Must Take Furlough.

PHILADELPHIA, June 20.—At a conference today between President A. J. Cassatt and Assistant Comptroller Max Riebenack of the Pennsylvania railroad on the subject of reducing the clerical force in the general offices of the company in this city, it was decided that economies are to be accomplished by laying several hundred clerks on furlough, and by requiring those retained in the service to take vacations without pay. More than 2,500 persons are employed in the general offices here and it is believed that more than 2,000 will be affected by the orders that are to go out. Retrenchements decided upon for the general offices will be followed by similar ones at Altoona, Harrisburg, Pittsburgh, Jersey City and all other division points.

LA FOLLETTE MEN PROMISE TROUBLE

CULLOM DEFEATED YATES

By L. W. STRAYER
(From a Staff Correspondent.)
[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

CHICAGO, June 20.—The two states in which the Republican party is now afflicted with factional troubles, Wisconsin and Illinois, are working out their own salvation and in each of them the Republican leaders have hope that they will be able to settle their family differences without injury to the national ticket.

Wisconsin causes the most uneasiness owing to threats that the La Follette faction has been making. They do not intend to stop with the defeat they received from the Spooner-Quarles faction in the national committee when the latter's delegates were seated in the convention. They will carry the fight into the committee on credentials and to the floor of the convention where they hope to win a final victory.

Today as the various state delegations held their caucuses and selected members for the credentials committee, an anxious inquiry was made by the Wisconsin factionists as to how these members stood on the trouble in that state. Enough members of that committee have already been chosen who are favorable to the Spooner people to insure a report favorable to the "Stalwarts." In fact there was little hope for the La Follette people of finding enough members of the committee who would be willing to reverse the action of the national committee.

Taken as a Bluff.

The threat has been made openly by the LaFollette supporters that if they are not successful in securing recognition in the convention they will put a separate electoral ticket in the field this fall. There is an inclination here to treat this statement as a bluff put out in the hope of strengthening the cause of the La Follette faction. Such action, if carried into effect, could have but one meaning. It would mean a bushwacking campaign of retaliation intended to wreak revenge on the national party for wrongs, fancied or real, suffered in a state fight.

Such a course would naturally place those who followed it outside the pale of the Republican party and would end the political careers as Republicans of the leaders who conducted it. Therefore, while the Wisconsin situation is causing some worry to the leaders, they are not inclined to believe that the La Follette faction will go to the lengths they threaten. But even if they should do this, it is by no means certain that the defeat of the Republican ticket in that state would result. This factional fight is already in the courts, and as to which faction has the right to use the party name will be settled by adjudication. But one ticket can go on the official ballot headed "Republican" and consequently any attempt to put two Republican tickets in the field and thus split the Republican vote, would be accomplishing futile.

Another threat of the La Folette people is that they will place on their ticket the names of nine Republican candidates for presidential elector who have declared that they would stand with the La Follette cause. Such action would result in state ticket stalwarts nominating nine additional electors to fill out their ticket. Complications of this kind would naturally reduce the Republican majority in that state, but the fight is so well advertised that the voters are pretty thoroughly posted regarding it and would not be easily fooled.

In 1900 McKinley carried Wisconsin by a plurality of 106,551. Two years later the Republican ticket had a plurality of 47,590. It will be seen that the Republican party has a good winning majority in the state, and, therefore, it will be difficult for any bushwacking tactics to lose the state for the Republican ticket.

Senator John C. Spooner, in discussing the situation today, said:

"We are going to win our fight in Wisconsin. It is not a fight for power or upon any individual, but it is a fight for principle. Such a fight is never lost. Nothing can stop it, and I repeat that we are going to win."

Gov. La Follette, who was called away from the city, returned today and will take charge of the fighting for his side.

Fighting Their Own Battles.

The developments in the Illinois situation today culminated in the defeat of Gov. Yates by Senator Shelby E. Cullom for control of the state delegation. Yates aspires to Cullom's seat in the senate and as a step in that direction he tried to have himself chosen chairman of the Illinois delegation. But when the question of the chairmanship was settled Senator Cullom was elected chairman by a vote of 32 to 23 for Yates. The Cullom slate for committee members and including Frank G. Lowden for national committeeman, went through without a hitch.

The result of this contest settles for the present at least the aspirations of Yates and gives Senator Cullom a good hold on the situation. Congressman Lorimer is credited with turning the trick for Cullom by deserting Yates and turning over to Cullom nine delegates that he controlled. The Illinois factions seem to be fighting out their battles among themselves and little apprehension is felt here as to any danger to the national ticket from these differences.

POLICE SEARCH FOR MAN WHOM AUTO DRIVER SAW

Leetsdale German, Robbed, Beaten and Left for Dead, Looked for Police While Wagon Load of Officers Hunted for Him.

A big, red automobile dashed down Sixth avenue about 8 o'clock last night and stopped in front of the Public Safety building. The occupants quickly left the machine and hurrying into the office of Superintendent of Detectives McQuaide said:

"There is a man lying out on the Grant boulevard, near the Seventeenth street incline, with his head cut open. I think it's a murder."

The patrol wagon from Central police station was ordered out and Detective Riley and Special Officers Morgan and Callen aboard, started for the scene of the reported crime. Once there a small boy told them that there had been a fight and that one man had been hurt on the head. They searched the boulevard for about 200 yards on each side of the incline and then returned to police headquarters.

A half hour later Peslik Gottlieb, a German, aged 30, of Leetsdale, walked into Central police station with the blood gushing from a wound in his scalp. After receiving medical attention he told the story which proved him to be the man the police were looking for.

He came to this city yesterday afternoon and met a very affable young man—a description of whom the police now have. Several Grant street saloons were visited and the new friend told Gottlieb to come along as there was a good time in store. The latter fell into the trap and was taken out the boulevard to a spot near the incline.

Suddenly the young man struck him on the head with a piece of lead pipe, felling him to the ground. When he recovered he found that $69 which he had was missing. He started to walk to the police station. On the way he passed the patrol wagon with the officers, but made no attempt to let them know what had occurred.

HITCH IN NEGOTIATIONS WITH MOROCCAN BRIGAND

No Release for Perdicaris and Varley Is Likely Until Next Saturday.

[Associated Press Cable to The Gazette.]

TANGIER, June 20.—It was stated positively in official quarters here today that Perdicaris and Varley would be released tomorrow, but later in the day it developed that apparently there was another hitch in the negotiations, the authorities of the British consulate expressing the opinon that Saturday would probably be the date for the release of the prisoners. It appears that Raisuli suggested to Mohammed el Torres, the representative of the sultan of Morocco, that the exchange of prisoners be made through Zelai, governor of the Beni M'Sara tribe. Zelai refused Raisuli's proposition.

WASHINGTON, June 20.—The navy department has received a cablegram from Rear Admiral Chadwick at Tangier, saying that Perdicaris and Varley probably will be released tomorrow.

GIBRALTAR, June 20.—The United States battleship squadron, consisting of the Kearsarge, Alabama, Maine and Iowa, arrived here today and will sail for Tangier after coaling.

NEWPORT, R. I., June 20.—The United States cruiser Mayflower sailed from here today for Gibraltar to join the battleship squadron.

BORAXOLOGY
There are different degrees of cleanliness, just as there are degrees of goodness. You can be just passably good, or you can be really good; so you can be passably clean, or you can be really clean—like the Boraxologist. When you wash anything—no matter what it is—if you will add a little Borax to the water you'll not only lighten the labor, but get a degree of cleanliness impossible with soap and water alone. Borax doubles the power of soap and water to cleanse and purify. Imitations are worthless and often injurious. See that you get

COMPROMISE IS NOT LIKELY

Mrs. Phipps Will Have Her Children if a Trial Has to Be Faced.

THEY HAVE NOT YET MET

Prospects of a compromise in the divorce suit of Lawrence C. Phipps against his wife are not bright. Added interest was given the case yesterday when Mrs. Phipps, who is still at Grandview, the Wilkins avenue residence of the family, engaged additional counsel in the person of a prominent Pittsburgh attorney. His name will be made public within a few days. She has also summoned to her side James M. Beck, of the law firm of Sherman & Sterling of New York, who was here until yesterday. This is the first firm engaged by Mrs. Phipps after the loss of her daughters.

It is understood, from a very good source, that in the event of the conferences failing to effect a compromise, application will be made for a change of venue in the divorce suit. The attorneys are now busy trying to satisfy themselves as to the legal residence of Mr. Phipps, and if the case comes to trial there is a strong probability that it will be either here or New York. While both Mr. Phipps and Mrs. Phipps are said to be fighting off the suit, the latter is said to fear least the publicity of a trial, and she is in favor of having the case tried in the Western Pennsylvania district.

Slow progress is being made in the conferences which began here on Saturday, when Mr. Phipps arrived from Denver with his attorney, Gerald Hughes. James M. Beck came on from New York in the interests of Mrs. Phipps, as did Judge Platt Rodgers of Denver. It was found expedient to have a Pittsburgh attorney represent Mrs. Phipps in addition to her New York and Denver counsel, and this step was followed out yesterday morning. The attorney in question will go to New York today on the case.

The first conference yesterday was between Mr. Phipps and ex-Judge J. H. Reed and Attorney Hughes, the meeting being in the offices of Reed, Smith, Shaw & Beal, Carnegie building. Shortly afterwards the attorneys of both sides met, and the result of the talk was communicated to Mrs. Phipps by Judge Rodgers and her Pittsburgh attorney about 4 o'clock in the afternoon at Grandview. Mrs. Phipps was seen shortly afterwards by a reporter for The Gazette, and in the presence of her attorneys she said: "I do not wish to say anything at present. A statement may be made later."

One of the attorneys said: "I will not say that we are meeting to reach a compromise, but often in talking over affairs of this kind a compromise is reached." They were asked if a change of venue would be applied for. They declined to answer. One of them admitted, however, that no conclusion had been reached, and that the conference would be continued today. Mrs. Phipps, when talking with a Gazette man Sunday night, in reply to a question as to whether she would go to Denver to answer the charges made in the divorce papers, said: "If Mr. Phipps' home is in Denver I shall go there."

The proposals for peace, it is learned, came from Mr. Phipps. His ultimatum, delivered Sunday, met prompt refusal, and his attorneys are now pursuing a different tack. Mrs. Phipps is sticking out vigorously for the possession of the two little girls, and she is said to have declared that if they are not given into her custody by an amicable arrangement, she will insist on a trial, believing that the court will award her the children.

It is not known how long she or Mr. Phipps will be here. Mr. Phipps is still at the Duquesne club, where the lawyers are also staying. He has not met his wife, and likely will not during his visit.

MUTES TO BE GRADUATED.

The closing exercises of the school year at the Western Pennsylvania Institution for the deaf and dumb, at Edgewood park, will take place there tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock. The celebration will be unique in many ways, for there will be music and "action songs" by those who can neither speak nor hear. Frank Berry is to give an essay on "The Philippine Islands and the Filipinos" and Margaretta Irene Bracken will dwell on the subject, "Work as a Means of Happiness." Charles Elmer Sharpnack will discuss "The Russo-Japanese War" and five of the girls will give a patriotic hymn. Three action songs will be given by parties of students, entitled, "The Merry Sailor Lads," the lullaby from "Erminie," and "This Is East and This West." The vocal accompaniments will be sung by Prof. Charles M. Carothers and the instrumental accompaniments played by Miss Alice M. White. Besides there will be exercises and drills.

The diplomas to the seven graudates will be presented by John E. Jackson, president of the board of trustees. After the exercises the buildings will be open to all visitors.

The graduates are: Margaretta Irene Bracken, Pittsburgh; Bertha Jackson, McKeesport; Sophia Mullen, Turtle Point, McKean county; Frank Berry, Anita, Jefferson county; McLeod M. Blair, Allegheny; Charles E. Sharpnack, Carmichaels, Greene county, and J. Charles Thompson, Monessen. A fine program, printed at the institution, has been prepared.

Alleged Pickpockets Caught.

"Midget" Foley, alias William Poole, and George Herman, alias Lynn, alias Marshall, both well known characters of Allegheny, were lodged in jail yesterday afternoon on commitments from Alderman Groetzinger, charging them with larceny from the person. They are alleged to have stolen a diamond stud from Jacob Stevenson and $172 from Charles L. Nicholas, both of Natrona, May 3. Foley was arrested at the time, but was later released after a hearing before a police magistrate, paying a $15 fine.

New Evangelist for Troy Hill.

Phillipi, who was called to Uniontown. Mr. Brichta arrived in this country a few weeks ago. He will conduct all services in the Bohemian language. While speaking five languages he does not speak English.

Soda Tank Exploded.

An overcharged soda tank in the basement of Christy's drug store at Smithfield street and Fourth avenue, blew up yesterday morning, causing considerable excitement in the neighborhood. When the explosion occurred no person was in that part of the building. Several bottles containing acids and medicines were shattered.

LARKIN THREATENS TO HOLD UP CITY LIGHT BILLS

Controller Larkin threatens to hold up the bills of the Allegheny County Light Company for supplying the city with electric light. The controller has received complaints that in different parts of the city many lights are out all night and at other points are out from three to eight hours at one time. The controller declares he will examine Director Bigelow's payroll closely to see that the rebates are obtained.

Women's Coats for Summer Wear.

For the chilly evenings, for a long drive into the country, for a tramp in the woods, a long loose coat is a most grateful companion. Be sure you have one among your baggage when you start for your summer outing, else you'll rue the oversight.

Oxford Gray Automobile Coats—three-quarter length, double-breasted, loose fronts and loose back, held with two-inch belt. Flat collar and small shoulder cape, full pouch sleeve with cuffs. Yoke and sleeves lined with black taffeta. $30.00.
Light tan pin check cloth Raincoats, three-quarter length, double-breasted front, loose back falling from small yoke, belt across back, long shoulder effect, deep pockets, bell sleeves—sleeves and yoke lined with self-colored silk. $30.00.
Three-quarter length Raincoats in plainer style in gray and tan, regular mannish styles, at $16.50 to $20.00.

Light Weight Linings for Summer Dresses.

Pres de Soie is the best substitute for silk. It has the feel and cry of a good taffeta, is light in weight and its wearing qualities are unequalled. Many people prefer it to taffeta on this latter account, as it obviates the troublesome necessity of having a gown relined, which is frequently the case when the lining is of silk.

The best quality of Pres de Soie will cost you 30c a yard.
We have another quality which comes only in black at 25c.
Lining Lawns for use under transparent fabrics, extra quality, 40 inches wide, in full range of colors, 12½c a yard.

$2.50 Cottons Waists for $1.75.

Just received several new lines of white lawn and madras waists. While these were made to sell for $2.50, yet they were bought on terms that enable us to say $1.75 each. The madras is figured, the trimming consists of tucking.

Waists of sheer batiste made with deep lace yoke and lace trimmed bertha, buttons in the back, at $2.50 from $3.50.
Another style—all-over embroidered French eyelet front, tucked back, lace yoke, at $2.50 from $3.50.
Very fine India Linon Waists, fancy all-over lace and embroidery front, pleated back, at $4.00 from $5.00.

For Children's Amusement.

We feel a certain satisfaction when it comes to reducing prices on things that tend to amuse the children. It's a pleasure to us to give so much pleasure to them. Note these reduced prices:

China Tea Sets, at 65c from $1.25.
Japanese Furniture, at 10c a set, from 25c.
Rolling Hoops, at 10c from 25c.
Wicker Chairs, at 25c from 50c.
Wagons, at $4.00 from $5.00.
Wagons at $2.75 from $3.50.

Pretty Laces for Smallest Prices.

Laces are used on everything this season, from stockings to hats, from cotton to silk and velvet, yet we offer the prettiest of laces for the most trifling of prices.

Ecru Venise Galloons, 2 to 4 inches wide, former prices $1.00 to $2.50, today 50c a yard.
Ecru Cotton Cluny Lace and insertions to match, ½ to 5 inches wide, former prices 10c to 25c a yard, today 8c, 10c and 12½ a yard.

Lace Robes $10.00 Each.

Ask a woman to describe them and she'd begin several times and feel that she had done these injustice, then end by telling you they were simply a dream.

Ecru Lace Robes, Black Spangled Robes, White Net Robes, beautiful things that sold for $15.00, $20.00, $25.00 and up to $40.00. Today $10.00 each.

Tuesday, June 21, 1904.

The Gazette desires to call the attention of those of its readers who contemplate summer trips to the announcements of the many summer resort hotels published on page 14 of this issue.

It seems incredible that women could be so lost to all sense of decency and of sympathy as designedly to crowd themselves into carriages provided for mourners at the funerals of the Slocum victims, dispute possession with the bereaved themselves and defiantly retain their seats until ejected by the police. Nowhere else than in a huge city, where hearts become calloused by utterly selfish living and by the frequent spectacle of death and grief, could such a type of degenerate come into being as that aptly designated the "professional funeral-goer." To extract enjoyment from the sight of human suffering—surely human nature could sink no lower than this. It dwells on a plane beneath even that of the brute creation.

It is reported from Washington that President Roosevelt has selected Representative Victor H. Metcalf of the Third California district to succeed George B. Cortelyou as secretary of the department of commerce and labor. This does not indicate any disposition on the part of the president to yield to pleas of the politicians to have a practical politician placed at the head of the national committee. Aside from the momentary political significance of the news, it may be said the selection is a good one. Mr. Metcalf has been a close friend of the president and is thoroughly in touch with his policies. He has valuable training for dealing with the affairs of commerce and labor that come before the department and will make a strong addition to the president's official family, as Mr. Cortelyou will make a competent and conscientious campaign manager.

"The Chinese government will do well to carry out the program for securing an effective army and navy as mapped out for it by Sir Robert Hart. As long as China's military condition remains as it is at present it will be subject both to internal rebellion and foreign aggression. With a modern, well-drilled and well-equipped army and navy it will vastly increase its safeguards in both directions. * * * At the same time the cause of international peace will be advanced." The above excellent advice is from our contemporary, the Post. It is interesting chiefly because the Post is one of those papers that tear their hair every time a budget is proposed at Washington for an increase of army or navy. Thus in the Post lexicon what is strength for China is not strength for the United States. It is desirable that China shall fortify itself against aggression, but this country should deteriorate to China's present helpless condition.

An inquest has been begun by the coroner into the General Slocum disaster. It will be thorough and searching, attended by representatives of the departments of justice and of labor and commerce at Washington. Transcripts of the evidence will be examined by the United States district attorney at New York as fast as they are made and as soon as negligence is apparent proceedings will be begun in the United States court. Meantime those engaged in the work of rescuing bodies and investigating the causes of the catastrophe report finding bodies at the bottom, wearing life preservers, and the fact that some preservers thrown into the water sank at once. It is further charged that a section of the guard rail grasped by a number of persons who were drowned while clinging to it has been found to be rotten and worm-eaten. Obviously there are things for which some one must answer, and there are the best of reasons for overhauling excursion steamers in general.

The De Glehn locomotive imported from France by the Pennsylvania railroad for experimental purposes is rapid but not a success at hill-climbing. American locomotives are built for heavy as well as rapid work. Heavy grades make heavy pulls, and the light French locomotive is hardly up to the work. Nor, it is said, is the French engine effective in rounding sharp curves, in which most American railways abound. The speed of 72 miles made by this engine with a train of six cars was done on a piece of extra good track. It is an economical coal user, but that is its chief point of value. It may be possible to combine the good points of the French locomotive with the good points of the American locomotive and thus produce an improvement.

Fairbanks a Winner.

On the day preceding the convening of the Republican convention the features have been the rapid development of the Fairbanks boom for vice president and the sudden subsidence of the protest against the selection of Secretary Cortelyou for chairman of the national committee. There is hardly a shadow of doubt now concerning the nomination of Senator Fairbanks. Except for the desire to pay tribute to favorite sons of several states no other name would be mentioned. The strong movement for Speaker Cannon made by the New York delegation had the effect, first, of putting Representative Hitt completely out of consideration, and second, of rousing "Uncle Joe's" anger to a pitch where he eliminated himself from the discussion. He made the New Yorkers understand he would not tolerate further mention of his name.

Interest now centers almost wholly upon the platform. The committee on resolutions will be named today and should report tomorrow. Nothing will be left for Thursday but formal ratification of the choice of candidates and the speechmaking incident to placing the names before the convention. Even the platform has been pretty well outlined, so the campaign may be regarded as already begun. It is well begun, too, with excellent candidates, who will stand upon a strong platform.

Senator Fairbanks will make an ideal candidate for vice president. He has been looked upon as such for months, but has been reluctant to have his friends put him forward for the honor. He is representative in the highest degree of that aggressive region known as the middle west. He is a man of ripe experience in public service and a man of affairs of wide acquaintance. There can be no question that he measures up fully to the requirement that he should be able to succeed the president in the event of misfortune, for under other circumstances he would have been a leading candidate for the head of the ticket. His service in the senate has admirably fitted him for the duty of presiding over that body. No mistake will be made in nominating Senator Fairbanks.

The Goebel Cases.

While the case of Caleb Powers, former secretary of state in Kentucky, is being held in abeyance, that of James Howard, under sentence of life imprisonment for the murder of William Goebel, is being pushed forward. His application for a rehearing has been refused by the court of appeals of Kentucky and will now be heard by the supreme court upon a writ of error. It appears impossible, even after the lapse of four years, for the people and courts of Kentucky to consider these cases dispassionately, so intense has been the political feeling aroused. There is absolutely no evidence against Caleb Powers that would be considered competent by an unprejudiced court or jury, yet he has been convicted upon three separate trials and sentenced to death at the last. The evidence against Howard is hardly stronger, though he has been convicted upon two separate trials and sentenced to imprisonment for life.

These men were, of course, in the midst of the excitement and turmoil when William Goebel undertook to wrest from Gov. Taylor the victory he had won at the polls. Mr. Powers admits the use of language that was too strong—words that constitute the only ground for his prosecution. They were spoken in the heat of passion and bitterly regretted afterward. But there is every good reason to believe these men were not parties to the assassination that followed. One witness, who confessed to participation in the plot, for the purpose of giving testimony against Mr. Powers, has been granted immunity from punishment. There is no other testimony in the case that a non-partisan jury would consider. That testimony is discredited on the face of it. It is the price paid by a self-confessed murderer for immunity for himself and probably for a share of the corruption fund beside.

Under these circumstances the supreme court of the United States is requested to take up the cases when every means has been exhausted to secure justice in Kentucky. We believe there is reason in law and equity for the supreme court to assume jurisdiction, and we believe a trial beyond the confines of Kentucky will secure for these persecuted men a prompt acquittal.

Count Cassini's Protest.

Unquestionably, popular sympathy in this country is on the side of the Japanese. Count Cassini, Russian ambassador to the United States, is undoubtedly too shrewd an observer not to know this, but so long as the nation officially has declared its neutrality toward the war in the east, the conventionalities of diplomacy require that the count should be deaf and blind to the popular spirit. It is his official business to accept the pleasant diplomatic assurance handed him by our state department. To preserve the "smile that won't come off" under these circumstances must be no small effort for Russia's representative. It is little to be wondered at, therefore, that he has sought temporary relief from this unnatural pose, in the opportunity afforded him by that little affair at the recent dinner of the American Asiatic society in New York.

On that occasion, Capt. Takehita, the Japanese naval attache, who was called on for an address, proposed the toast, "Banzai," which, translated, means "Victory for Japan." Not only was the toast responded to standing, and with cheers, but at its conclusion a number of the guests shattered their glasses on the floor. Prince Pu Lun, imperial representative of the Chinese emperor in this country, was an interested spectator of this incident.

Now comes the ever-vigilant Cassini with a protest to Secretary Hay. It is not a raw protest—the count is too polished a diplomat for that. He suavely disclaims any intention of calling into question the sincerity of this nation's neutrality, but he points out that such open and enthusiastic sympathy for the cause of the Japanese arms is apt to be misunderstood by the world, especially by China, whose neutrality at best is but a wavering thing. The measure of Cassini's feelings on the matter may be judged from his tart remark to Secretary Hay that if a member of the Russian embassy, similarly placed, had so far exceeded his liberties as a diplomat he would have been sent out of the country in 24 hours. This was an allusion to Mr. Rockhill of the state department, who was present at the dinner, but who, it is said, did not arise to respond to the objectionable toast, as did neither Prince Pu Lun nor the Chinese minister.

Secretary Hay has promised to "look into the matter," which is probably all that the incident will warrant, and all that Count Cassini expects. It has at least afforded him an opportunity to work off a little of his politely concealed but perfectly natural irritation over a situation in this country which must be just as apparent to his common sense as it is supposed to be obtuse to his diplomatic vision.

Great Battle Pending.

Russian official advices admit a total loss of 3,000 killed and wounded in the fighting last week about Telissu—Vafangow—but that is probably an understatement of the facts. Gen. Oku reports 1,516 Russian dead left on the field, as buried by his troops up to Friday evening, and the work still proceeding. A wounded Russian officer, arrived at Niuchwang, estimated the Russian losses at 7,000, which is probably too high. A death roll of 2,000 would indicate a wounded list of probably 3,000, and the Japanese took 600 prisoners. There are no figures yet on the Japanese casualties, but Russian reports of the early fighting put them higher than the Russian losses. No doubt the conditions were reversed after the rout began.

Reports from Liao-Yang and other points yesterday told of fresh fighting, supposed to be near Taschichao. This is the junction of the Pekin railroad with the Manchurian railroad, southeast of Niuchwang. It may be assumed that if an engagement is in progress there it is between Gen. Kuropatkin's advance guard and one of the columns of Gen. Kuroki, or the mysterious third army of Gen. Nodzu. The Russians probably do not know which. They persistently reported last week that Gen. Stakelberg was fighting Gen. Nodzu, though it develops that no Japanese troops were engaged except those of Gen. Oku, the same that took Nanshan hill.

Russian reports predict a fight with Kuroki within a day or two, but do not indicate where it is expected to occur. As Kuroki's first army occupies positions from Saimatze at the northeast to Siu-Yen at the west, it would be interesting to know which of his columns is to be attacked. Gen. Kuropatkin's movement has been southward toward a juncture with Gen. Stakelberg, but it is possible another Russian division has gone to the east in strength to meet Gen. Kuroki's right. In any event, news may be expected of harder fighting and heavier losses than heretofore, though Stakelberg's percentage of men engaged takes rank with those of the world's great battles.

Evidently Russia has reached the stage of desperate endeavor and Kuropatkin's defensive policy is at an end. He is taking the aggressive and will fight valiantly. But he will not soon "drive the Japanese into the sea," as the Russians have boasted from the beginning. The little brown men have shown in every engagement superior strategy, superior equipment and courage never exceeded in the history of war. They are not in the least likely to break down when the work grows more earnest, but will develop more surprisingly their marvelous mobility, artillery strength and irresistible spirit. We expect Kuropatkin to fare little, if any, better than his able lieutenants. When he is beaten backward the siege of Port Arthur can be pressed again more vigorously.

Webster J. Davis failing to appear, Gen. Pearson and the other Boer agent have been discharged. That is probably the last echo of the Boer war in America.

In the language of surgery and of the Russian war office Gen. Stakelberg's latest operation was a "brilliant success" even if it did result fatally.

Quaker City scientists have discovered that bee stings are a cure for rheumatism. We can also recall their virtues as a relief for that tired feeling.

Gen. Oku and Russian official advices are far apart on the number of Russian dead, but Oku has the advantage of having buried them.

Contract has been let for a $500,000 wall about the capitol park at Harrisburg. It is not intended to keep the Tartars out, however.

Wants the "Reseat."

Talked of in Gotham

By GEORGE C. JENKS.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, June 20.—Police Commissioner McAdoo takes a former commissioner, Theodore Roosevelt, as his model in many of his official acts. For instance, he likes to go about the city and see for himself that his orders are obeyed by policemen everywhere, and that discipline is strictly maintained. The part of town wherein he is most vigilant is that known as the Tenderloin. Mr. McAdoo has an automobile, which whisks him a great many miles in a few hours, and without exceeding the speed limit, either.

Most of the patrolmen and roundsmen know him and when his machine is seen bearing down on them, they involuntarily bring their heels together with a military click and stand at attention. The commissioner watches closely to see that the regular men are on duty at busy crossings. He does not like changes to be made without his knowledge. This sentinelism to save pedestrians from being run down is a duty in which he takes a strong personal interest. He argues that it is perilous to the public for a new man to be placed at a crossing where there is heavy traffic, because the new officer cannot possibly know the peculiarities of the tide of travel at that point as well as the pilot who has directed it for weeks or months. If he sees a new officer at any spot where he has been accustomed to seeing another, he stops and asks the reason. He listens gravely to the reason given and if it does not satisfy him, he is likely to drop into the station of the precinct to talk to the captain about it.

The placing of men is the function of the captain, of course, but the commissioner likes to be consulted, and most of the busy intersections are policed according to his desires. He is a stickler for discipline and the thousands of policemen in the greater city hold him in as much respect as that they used to entertain for the police commissioner who is now president of the United States.

Flutter in the Cafes.

Broadway is always concerned when a brand new alcoholic mixed drink is introduced. Hence the appearance of a beverage called a "twister," has caused an agreeable flutter in the cafes, although bartenders have become so used to it that they no longer look puzzled when it is ordered in the off-hand manner with which men generally ask for something odd in refreshers. A "twister" is thus prepared: Highball glass, jigger or two of liquor Irish—insist on having the right three-star; juice of a lemon; ice. Then fill up with celery tonic. Don't drink more than two at a sitting, or standing.

Woman Wants Admission to Exchange.

One of the extraordinary developments of the woman's equality idea is a suggestion that women be admitted to the floor of the New York stock exchange. The lady who makes the proposal thinks it would improve manners in the pit. She deplores the boisterousness of brokers, and believes it would be better for the world in general and Wall street in particular if they were more ladylike. Somehow, the notion does not seem to strike favorably. They see in it only a subject for ribald criticism and laughter. Evidently the time is not ripe for the presence of women brokers on the floor of exchanges, although they have been busy in offices for several years, and doing a good business, too, as a rule.

Enthusiasm Led to Hospital.

Baseball enthusiasm placed a Harlem citizen of 53 years in a hospital today. He was sitting on a 12-foot fence watching a baseball game yesterday when a batsman scored four runs by knocking the ball into the river. "Good," howled the citizen, and immediately tumbled backward in his excitement, putting out one of his shoulders, cutting his scalp and acquiring several bruises on the knobbly parts of his anatomy. That is what Sunday baseball does.

Bryan Looks Healthy.

William J. Bryan, who is the principal speaker at an anti-Parker mass meeting in Cooper union this evening, is still the healthy-looking, contented man he always has been. He looks as if he never had overworked himself in his life, and the strain of two fierce presidential campaigns has left no marks upon him. He is as easy in his demeanor as if he had acquired his present considerable fortune by no more trying process than inheriting it. Indeed, he is a fresher looking person than many a young multi-millionaire who never earned a dollar in his life.

If Morgan Should Meet a Burglar?

J. Pierpont Morgan is expected to be in New York this week. This may weigh on the minds of humble persons in the neighborhood of his home in Madison avenue, for a servant maid in the house next door has told the police that she overheard two men discussing the easiest way to break into his home, finally deciding that the "second-story game" would be advisable. A policeman or two have been watching the Morgan home ever since, but the burglars have not tried to get in.

People in Wall street who know Mr. Morgan are speculating as to what would become of a burglar if the stern financier were to meet him face to face on the second floor. Any number of clerks and messengers make it a point to yield the whole sidewalk to him when they meet him in the free air of Wall or Broad streets, and when they have no evil intent. They opine that it would be a bold burglar indeed who would take a chance of meeting J. Pierpont in the regular course of burglarious business.

Real Estate That Pays Well.

An indication of the rapid increase in the value of upper Broadway property is offered in the price of $850,000 just paid for a small hotel opposite the Metropolitan opera house. The company which sold the property a few days ago, bought it in January, holding it 154 days. The price they paid was $700,000. They made a profit of about $1,000 a day on the investment in the difference between their purchase price and what they got for it. In addition to this, they had the profits of the hotel, which were considerable, for the house always has been a well-paying one.

Must Look to St. Louis.

How dearly the average American loves a "shindy" is conversely shown by the unconcern which New York witnessed the departure of the Republicans of promise for the Chicago convention. The general understanding that there will be no quarreling in the convention has destroyed interest in its proceedings. Even the uncertainty as to the outcome of the vice presidential nomination did not awaken more than a feeble glimmer of excitement. On the other hand, everyone is waiting for the fun that is in pickle in St. Louis. Something will be heard from that convention, no doubt, and local pride suggests that Tammany will be a factor in any entertainment that may develop there.

Stage Money?

The New York Telegraph says Lillian Russell's winnings on Hermis yesterday were $12,000 and Lew Field's, $20,000. Stage money?—Albany Journal.

The Quiet Observer

By ERASMUS WILSON.

Do you know a good thing when you see it—any sort of thing?

No doubt you think you do, but what can you show in proof of your claim?

The world is full of good things. In fact everything is good, for the Creator declared all things good in the beginning, and He hasn't made any bad things since.

It may never have occurred to you, and yet it is a big, fine fact that all bad things are nothing more nor less than good things gone wrong through the carelessness and indifference of men and women.

In other words, if a man were to do his part as well as he may do it, everything in life would be a good thing.

This fact bumps us pretty hard, but no harder than we deserve.

Don't flare up and begin using language recklessly in a vain effort to shield yourself from the charge of being the author of your own misfortunes. Better to keep cool and take your medicine than to be held up and made to take it.

You see it is a matter of fact, and of record, that you do claim, and more or less boastfully, that you are the author of your good fortune, and personally responsible for the many, or few, good things in your life.

Your Creator will not stand for all the bad in your life and allow you to take the credit for all the good.

* * * * *

You may have discovered that to do the right thing at the right time requires a whole lot of the right sort of nerve.

And yet you will not hesitate to neglect, or refuse, to do the right thing, which is the same as doing the wrong thing, even when the expenditure of nerve force is the same.

For instance. There are men who will not be seen carrying the marketing home, thus saving wife, or mother, or sister, from going out in the cold, mud or rain, but will proudly carry a phonograph outfit, tote a baseball suitcase, or allow themselves to be led along the streets by a bull dog.

There have been men who have smoked cigars, each of which cost as much as a pint of cream or two quarts of milk, and smoked them in the face of the fact that there was neither cream for the coffee at home nor milk for the children to drink.

This is bad enough, but hardly half bad when compared with those who spend money in saloons that would have provided food and clothing and other creature comforts for their children; or maybe, for their wives, or mothers, or some worthy ones dependent upon them for present support.

It does not follow that you are one of these fellows, but you may know some, or at least may have heard of them.

Or you may know a high-flyer son of a respectable tradesman who owns an automobile on the installment plan with forfeiture attachment, who is striving hard to dust the town an inch thick.

Do you think him worthy of knowing?

The novelty of the thing may have struck you at first, but novelty is not for long—it soon gives out so completely that no scrap or junk remains.

And you may know some chappie who is charmed to carry a bunch of golf sticks for an airy, fairy sort of girl, who would feel awfully disgraced to be seen carrying a bundle home for sister or mother, who carry his laundry out and in, and even carry his golf shoes, or his walking shoes, or his dancing shoes, or his riding boots to the cobbler's when they need mending.

And there are others, many others, not far from any given point on the civilized portion of the face of the globe, who are not good things, not by a whole lot.

And then there are good things all around, here and there and everywhere.

Do you know them when you see them, or can you spot the other sort easier?

* * * * *

Since you think you know a good thing when you see it you may name a few of them to yourself. Should you mention them to your friend they may be inconsiderate enough to recall some that were not so good. Of course you will be just and fair in the matter, for one who is not honest with himself can hardly be honest toward others.

Or, if you prefer, you may recall the winners you have picked, or the successful enterprises you have backed. No doubt you have taken a hand in something which you believed would be profitable and creditable, too.

To know how many of these ventures have panned out all right or proved to be good things will be of great advantage to you in the selection of good things hereafter.

And it is not an unprofitable exercise to figure out the causes which led to your failures, for there were good and sufficient causes for everyone of them.

Nor it is in the least unwise or improper for you to recall the expenditures of money, whether you earned it or not, and to note those which you deem wise; also those which your better judgment classes as unwise or really bad.

What good thing have you in mind?

* * * * *

After a review of this kind you can pretty nearly tell what you can do best, and it is a good thing to know this, for it will enable you to follow up your successes right along.

When that which you had spotted as a good thing turns out to be all wrong you will never forget it, nor will you make the same mistake again. You may repeat the folly, but that will be no mistake, for you will know what the result will be.

Possibly you may think that money is about the only really good thing there is.

If so, you haven't been a very careful observer, for money is the direct, or indirect, cause of nearly all the misery in the world, while the love of it is the very root of all evil, all of which is very easy to figure out to the satisfaction of anyone who is earnestly and honestly seeking for good things.

Money is a very convenient commodity, or rather it is more convenient to handle and to use than the commodity it represents. Aside from this money has no value.

But you don't want to believe this; not even when you know it to be true, and that money, or riches, causes more suffering than honest toil and decent poverty.

You may think you know a good thing when you see it, but do you?

Cherokees Write Novels.

Of late years the number of writers among the Cherokees has greatly increased. There are historians in the tribe whose works are used as text books in the Indian schools, and who are cited as authorities not to be disputed. There are also Indians who have written codes of law which before being put in permanent form had been handed down from generation to generation. The Indians today obey these laws with a greater reverence than they do the laws of the United States. There are Indian novelists—novelists who devote their time to entertaining the Indian mind with romances with entangled plots and blood-curdling climaxes. These books are popular among the Indians. Edition after edition of some works is published and they are read by buck and squaw alike.—Kansas City Journal.

Political Drift

Those of us who felt that the time had come for an exodus of Christian voters from the strawless brick kilns of the old party Pharaoh, were sick at heart at the Kansas City-Indianapolis convention folly which set our own people by the ears and lost to many of our workers the confidence of one another. And those of us who thought we saw a Providential leader in the portentous person, name and fame of the great, silent soldier Prohibitionist, Gen. Miles, could almost feel hope dying when we saw our party door slammed in his face by an unreasoned and unreasoning refusal to take up the most tactical position, in the rear of the other conventions, and by a torrent of alleged interviews, tactless, vulgar, exasperating, which necessarily nettled and disgusted the proud and sensitive old soldier. For us to demand of him that he should "join" our party and publicly declare that he was going to support our ticket at all events, and thus supinely beg us for a nomination, was to ask him to make himself ridiculous, and to argue ourselves too puerile to be worthy of his company. —The New Voice (Prohib.).

The split in the Illinois Democratic convention and the arrogance, intolerance and injustice that marked the management of its proceedings by the Hopkins faction, leave little ground for any hope the Democrats may have had for the success of their party in that state this fall. It is true the Republicans had a long-drawn-out deadlock in the Illinois state convention, but it was marked by no such display of temper as that shown by Mayor Harrison in leaving for home without going near the convention hall. We have no intention of going into any analysis of the methods of either Democratic leader, however. The public-at-large care very little about the reasons. The fact of dissension and divided counsels holds the chief interest. There was at no time any serious doubt about the presidential vote of Illinois this year. What did exist has disappeared.—Ohio State Journal (Rep.).

Judge Parker now has the Democratic field against him in the presidential contest. And in that field Grover Cleveland is said to be a central figure around whom the opposition will finally rally, if there be no other way in which David B. Hill can be eliminated as a Democratic leader and candidate maker. Gorman of Maryland and Guffey of Pennsylvania do not like Cleveland, and will not go to him except as a means to defeat the candidate of Hill. The Man of Destiny is likely to appear at St. Louis as powerful as ever in Democratic conventions. He has been more abused than any other Democrat, and yet the men who abuse him most look upon him as the only man who can unite the Democratic party and give it a hope for victory in November.—Chicago Inter-Ocean (Ind.-Rep.).

Announcement is made in Philadelphia that the Pennsylvania delegation of 68 Democrats will vote for ex-Gov. Robert E. Pattison on the first ballot. That would be a compliment to the veteran ex-governor and at the same time afford Col. Guffey and his lieutenants opportunity to learn something about the lay of the land. The Pennsylvania Democrats do not expect a nomination on the first ballot. There is lots of friendly talk in the Pennsylvania delegation for Representative John Sharp Williams of Mississippi, but it is about his nomination for vice president. Col. Guffey has stated that he probably will not express any preference for a presidential candidate until after the Keystone delegation has held a caucus at St. Louis. —Washington Post (Ind.-Dem.).

The seizure of Perdicaris by a disgruntled bandit chieftain as a means of compelling a settlement of outstanding claims and grudges against the sultan of Morocco is hardly a more violent proceeding than the proposed rape of "Uncle Joe" Cannon, taking him from a place he adorns and sequestering him for a term of years in a place he despises. Perdicaris may thank his stars that through the compulsive pressure of cabinets and big guns he will soon be able to return to the arms of his bereaved family. "Uncle Joe" has no such recourse. To hand of helping has been lifted to keep him out of the "d—d senate chamber."—Philadelphia Record (Dem.).

The great mass of average business men may doubt whether Mr. Roosevelt will succeed in effecting the industrial salvation they desire. Many think he is going too slow. Some think he is going too fast. Yet with all these differences of opinion they do not distrust him as they would any Democrat, no matter how conservative he might be vouched to be. As long as the general majority of Americans with real stakes in the country distrust the Democratic party they will distrust any Democrat as president and regard his election as the herald of hard times. These are facts that should give the men of great affairs in this nation pause. Their influence and power are great. They may be able to open the gates of political change. But they cannot control the flood with which they hope to sweep Mr. Roosevelt out of the White House and to sweep a Democrat in. Let them beware of opening the gates to such a flood. For the deluge would not be discriminating. It would engulf them with the rest of us.—Chicago Inter-Ocean (Ind.-Rep.).

If anybody is able to show just why or how the coming presidential campaign is to have a harmful effect on the business enterprises of the country he has not yet made his appearance. The money problem does not appear as a factor in the campaign at all. It is no longer being actively discussed even outside the parties. The tariff issue will, it is true, have more life in it, but there is little prospect that any radical proposition will be made. Nevertheless, it is an unquestionable fact that business in all parts of the country will suffer because of the campaign. Indeed, business has already suffered. Traveling men for wholesale houses tell sad stories of the way their customers are delaying purchases "because of the elections," even though these customers cannot give a single specific reason which leads them to believe that they will suffer from poor trade. The coming campaign itself will not injure business at all. Whatever injury there is will be due solely to the superstition of business men that presidential campaigns and poor trade necessarily go together. The merchants and manufacturers of the United States ought to send this superstition to the limbo of all irrational beliefs. They can do it by a campaign of education, and the present summer is an excellent time to begin such a campaign.—Chicago Record-Herald.

A Baltimore Parable.

Once upon a Time there was a Town named Wunderwhare.

It was a goodly Town, but not swift.

It had taken many Years in which to grow and become a great City.

But when a Man dropped a half-burned Match down a Hole in a Pavement and set some Trash on Fire, the Town that had grown slowly burned as rapidly as any Western boom Town.

The People who were left in the Town of Wunderwhare saw, next Day, a large Quantity of Ashes where their Town's main Business Thoroughfares had been.

Yet they were plucky, and said, "We will not accept Help from anywhere."

Then the legislative Body of the Town of Wunderwhare got busy with Plans to rebuild the Burned Portion.

One had one Plan, backed up by his Constituents, and Another had another Plan backed up by his Constituents.

And so they had it Tooth and Nail.

In the mean Time (the meanest Time the Town of Wunderwhare had ever known) the Ashes flew in Clouds over the Place where the Flames had been.

But when a Third of a Year had gone by there were no Ashes flying over the Burned Portion.

Yet that, dear Reader, was because there had been Rain and no Wind was blowing.

Not because there were no Ashes there to blow or any Houses built to take the Place of the Debris.

Moral—It will not do to carry some Stories too far, lest a local Application be made of Them by suspicious Persons.—Baltimore American.

Day of Omens Is Gone.

The fact that four members of a Long Island family were stricken with paralysis within 48 hours is certainly remarkable. In other times such a coincidence would have been deemed of extraordinary significance. Many of the signs and omens told of in old Roman history as having excited universal public apprehension were not so strange.—Buffalo Courier.

The Death Roll

Former Congressman James H. Hopkins.

Former Congressman James H. Hopkins, news of whose death at Sherbrook, Quebec, has reached Pittsburgh, was born in 1831 in the old Hopkins homestead, which stood on the site of the present dormitory of Washington and Jefferson college in Washington, Pa. He was graduated from Washington and Jefferson college with honors in 1850. He studied law in the office of the Hon. Wilson McCandless in Pittsburgh, and was admitted to the bar of Allegheny county in 1852, while still in his minority. Early in life he began to take a leading part in Democratic politics in Allegheny county and in 1864 was a candidate for congress against Gen. Moorhead, and was defeated. He was again a candidate in 1871 against Gen. Negley, by whom he was defeated. He met another defeat in 1872, when he was a candidate for congressman-at-large in the state. In 1874 he was once more a candidate against Gen. Negley, and was elected. He served in the forty-fourth and forty-eighth congresses. In 1882 he was a candidate for the gubernatorial nomination in the Democratic convention and was defeated by Pattison by six votes. For years prior to his death he lived in Washington, D. C. He retired from the practice of law in 1872. He was president of the old Penn bank at Liberty and Wood streets, Pittsburgh, and was also president of the Union Insurance Company and the Real Estate Savings bank, both of Pittsburgh. He was at one time vice president of the Pittsburgh chamber of commerce. In spite of his active life in politics, finance and law, he found time to indulge a taste for literature and was the author of a widely read series of "Letters from Europe" and a "History of Political Parties in the United States." His parents, Col. William and Rachel Herron Hopkins, are both dead, the former dying while returning from the constitutional convention at Philadelphia in 1872. Col. William Hopkins framed the preamble to the Constitution at that convention and was speaker of the Pennsylvania legislature at the close of the buckshot war in 1858, which marked the end of the anti-Masonic movement. In 1871 James H. Hopkins married Miss A. Margaret Schissler at Frederick City, Md., and three children were born.

FILIPINOS WILL BE BUSY GUESTS

Sight-Seeing Program for Two Full Days Is Now Completed.

FINAL ANSWER BY KNOX TODAY

The finishing touches to the program of sight-seeing for the Filipinos who will visit Pittsburgh next Monday and Tuesday were made last night by the special committee of councils. The itinerary for the two days' excursions of the commission to the various local industries, by rail and boat, was reported by the subcommittee and adopted. The first day's excursion will be exclusively by train over the Pennsylvania.

The party will leave the East Liberty station at 10 o'clock in the morning and will arrive at East Pittsburgh at 10:20, where a stop of one hour and 20 minutes will be made to inspect the Westinghouse plants. Then the party will go on to Bessemer to spend 50 minutes there in the Bessemer steel rail mill, leaving Bessemer at 12 o'clock and arriving at Charleroi at 2 p. m., where a 40 minutes' stop will be made at the plate glass factory. The delegation will then come back to Homestead, arriving there at 3:40, and will devote an hour and 20 minutes looking through the big Carnegie steel works. This will complete the first day's sightseeing, the party returning to the city at 5:20 o'clock to prepare for the banquet at the Hotel Schenley in the evening.

The second day's excursion will be almost wholly by boat. The party will embark on the steamer Mayflower, at the foot of Wood street at 9 a. m. and the run will be made by river to Ambridge, where the American Bridge Company's works will be seen. The boat is scheduled to reach Ambridge at 9:40. After spending 70 minutes at Ambridge the boat will return to the Davis island dam, where the Filipinos will have a chance to study the government's system of river locks.

Afterward the boat will continue up stream to the Port Perry lock, where the party will take a special train over the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie road to Demmler and Glassport, leaving Port Perry at 2 o'clock and returning at 4 o'clock. At Demmler the Filipinos will gain an insight into the manufacture of the steel projectiles for use in the navy. The return to Pittsburgh will be about 5 o'clock and late that night the members of the Philippine commission will take their departure for Cleveland. They will arrive in Pittsburgh at 7:30 Monday morning from Buffalo and a delegation of councilmen will go to Buffalo to meet them.

The committee accepted the offer of Capt. John F. Kline, who tendered the use of his steamer Mayflower and orchestra for the trip up the Monongahela. The invitations to the boat excursion are limited to 300.

Letters from a number of firms whose plants are to be visited were read, offering to extend all courtesies. There are a number of other firms who have not sent similar letters and the clerk of the committee was directed to again call their attention to the matter.

The banquet committee had a meeting after the general committee and prepared a list of the guests for the banquet. The banquet invitations are limited to 375. C. H. West, chairman, reported yesterday that Senator P. C. Knox had sent word that his duties might prevent him from attending the banquet and delivering a speech, but Senator Knox promised to give a definite answer today.

FILIPINOS TIRED OUT.

Too Thoroughly Entertained by Their Benevolent Uncle Sam, and Would Be Less Strenuous.

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 20.—(Special.)—Under the high power hospitality of Washington, Philadelphia, New York and Bridgeport, the Filipino commissioners to the Louisiana Purchase exposition are grim with work. They are touring the country under the auspices of the war department, congress having appropriated $75,000 to bring them across the Pacific to see what a great nation they belonged to.

In Washington there were two banquets, a luncheon and reception at the White House, an all-day trip down the Potomac river to Mount Vernon, a reception at Corcoran Art gallery and an automobile trip to all points of interest. The Philadelphia reception duplicated a portion of the Washington program, then New York and two more banquets and other things besides.

Inasmuch as Boston, Buffalo, Niagara Falls, Pittsburgh, Cleveland, Detroit and Chicago are to follow, a request will be sent to these cities to make the entertainment less arduous.

POINTS TO A BIG SUCCESS.

Elks Benefit Performance for Gen. Slocum Sufferers Attracting Attention.

The benefit for the Gen. Slocum disaster sufferers to be given by Pittsburgh lodge, No. 11, B. P. O. Elks, at the Nixon Friday evening gives every promise of being a financial and artistic success. The excellent program presented by the Elks at their minstrel performance last Thursday will be presented and a number of new acts added. Director Dunlevy has received a number of offers from professional and amateur performers.

The Nixon has a seating capacity of 2,000 and it is anticipated that every seat will be sold. Thomas F. Kirk, Jr., resident manager of the Nixon, is devoting his whole time and energy to make the benefit a success. An auction sale of boxes is being planned, several prominent business men having signified their willingness to contribute in this manner. Mayor Hays will today appoint a committee to take charge of the fund raised by means of the performance and forward it to the proper authorities in New York.

WILL ADJUST SCALE.

National Molders' Officers to Meet Manufacturers Next Tuesday.

The dispute between the local members of the Molders' International union and the Manufacturers' association, is to be adjusted June 28. The national officers of the union will hold a conference with committee of the manufacturers and the agreement reached will be binding on both sides for another year.

The local officials of the union held a conference last week with the manufacturers and failed to agree upon wages. The manufacturers demanded a reduction of 10 per cent from the present scale, which the workmen's committee refused to accept. It was then agreed that the national officials in conjuction with the local officials, meet the manufacturers and arrange a settlement.

The machinists' scale exoires next month and so far neither side has asked for a conference. Considering the present situation of the trade the organization will continue working at the present prices and conditions unless a change is requested from the Manufacturers' association.

To Vote on Bond Issues.

The citizens of Homestead today will vote on two bond issues, one for the erection of a new municipal building and one for the installation of a new sand filtration plant for the borough water works. The issue for the former project is $30,000 and for the latter $25,000.

Blooming Mill Resumes.

SHARON, PA., June 20.—(Special.)—The blooming mill of the Carnegie Steel Company resumed operations today after a month's idleness. It is stated that No. 1 blast furnace at South Sharon is to be blown out for repairs and stack No. 2 started.

Glass Plants Will Not Close.

The Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company will not close down its plants the last of this month, as has been reported. All those now running will be continued in operation during the summer if the men will work. This indicates an improvement in the industry.

CONTINUOUS FLAG RUSH ON AT THE AVALON HIGH SCHOOL

Seniors and Juniors Have Been in Scrimmages Since Older Class Sent Its Banner Up Pole Saturday Night—Climax Expected Today.

This is commencement day at the Avalon High school, but the formal exercises attending that occasion are attracting less attention than the exceedingly informal ones concerning the rival flags of the junior and senior classes. Just which class shall have the honor of floating its banner from the tall mast in front of the borough school has been a matter of dispute since Saturday. Numerous "rushes" have taken place and the climax is expected today.

The seniors started the trouble Saturday night, when, under cover of darkness, they raised their emblem aloft. Sunday's quiet could not be disturbed, even by a junior class, and the flag waved in the gentle breeze the more provokingly.

Early yesterday morning, however, it was "up and at 'em" for the juniors. The seniors' flag tumbled and in its place was sent up a junior banner. With another flag the seniors came to the rescue of their humbled glory and after a few skirmishes broke through the junior line and were in possession.

The pole is planted on a terrace about five feet above the level and protected by a stone retaining wall. Many of the participants in the scrimmage were tumbled over the wall, fists were used where needed and black eyes and bleeding noses testified to their efficacy. Officer Robert C. Cricks showed up several times, however, and prevented the conflict from assuming too serious a phase.

Not only the boys but the girls joined in the contest. The girls helped out their classes by pulling opponents away and hindering them otherwise.

All last night a cordon of seniors stood guard around the pole and they announce their intention to keep the flag flying all of today.

ANARCHISTS ARE CAPTURED HERE

SENT MONEY TO ROME

A quartet of Italians whom the police assert are authorized collectors for some anarchistic society, were captured here yesterday and are now being held, pending an investigation, which is likely to assume international proportions before it is finished. The arrests are due to the fact that Detective Charles L. Aymer can speak the Italian language fluently.

The prisoners are Arthur Miller, Alfred Ceracio, Panipaina Sisinnio and James Antonni, and upon them was found anarchistic correspondence, the importance of which cannot be ascertained until the authorities of Paterson, N. J., and the secret police of Rome reply to the communications sent them by Superintendent of Detectives McQuaide.

Worked the Confederate Bill Game.

The arrests came about in a peculiar way. For the past three weeks complaints have been received by the local police to the effect that innumerable foreigners have been victimized out of large amounts of money upon their arrival in this city. In every instance the method was the same.

The foreigners, mostly Italians and Hungarians, were met at railroad stations by a man who would ask them to change a $100 bill. This man always spoke their language and explained that he could not have the bill changed, as he had only come to the country a few days before and had no friends possessed of a sufficient amount of money to make the change. In many instances his request was granted and the victims would later discover that the money was of the old confederate issue and absolutely worthless.

Hidden Behind Baggage.

The complaints became so frequent that Superintendent McQuiade finally decided that an organized gang was responsible for the swindles. He assigned Detectives Aymer and Edward McGough to the case. These officers have been working on the matter for several days, but were unable to effect a capture.

Yesterday morning they went to the Baltimore & Ohio depot and concealed themselves behind a pile of baggage. Presently an immigrant train pulled into the station and a score of foreigners alighted. They saw Miller and Ceracio, both Italians, approach several men, but no money was exchanged. Detective Aymer at once questioned the immigrants who had been approached and learned that the pair had asked for change for a $100 bill. The pair under suspicion were at once arrested.

The officers returned to the depot later and were rewarded by seeing Sisinnio and Antonni accost an Italian. After considerable parley Sisinnio produced a $100 confederate bill and asked the Italian to change it. He could not do so. Sisinnio put the bill back in a secret pocket in his clothes. Aymer questioned the Italian and it was only owing to his ability to converse in the latter's language that he secured the vered information and learned what Sisinnio had attempted to do. The detectives then arrested Sisinnio and Antonni.

Wanted His Release.

Detective Aymer about eight years ago conducted a saloon in Penn avenue which was frequented by Italians, and while there he entertained Morelli, the leader of all the anarchists in the world, for whom the United States government has since offered a reward of many thousands of dollars. At that time Morelli had as his secretary Sisinnio. Aymer did not recognize in the prisoner the former secretary of the anarchists, but Sisinnio called his attention to the old acquaintanceship and asked that he be released.

This Aymer refused to do, and although Sisinnio threatened him with the vengeance of the society he lodged the latter in Central station. When searched there, it was found that Sisinnio had in his possession papers showing that he had collected considerable money for the anarchists, much of which had been sent to Paterson and the balance to postoffice box 250, Rome, Italy. Further than this Superintendent McQuaide refused to make public the contents of the papers, but admitted that he was communicating with the Italian authorities.

COLORED RACE IS FALSELY JUDGED

Bishop W. B. Derrick Argues Against Charges Accepted as True by American Public.

NEGRO CHARACTER DEFENDED

Bishop W. B. Derrick of the Third Episcopal District of the African Methodist Episcopal church spoke last night in Brown chapel, Hemlock and Boyle streets, Allegheny. He took for his subject: "Men of Color Falsely Indicted Before the Bar of Public Opinion." In his address Bishop Derrick argued against the charges made against the colored race by the public and the press of the country. In introducing his sunject he narrated much of the early history of the United States prior to the extensive introduction of slavery into this country. The cruel existence to which the colored race was subjected by slave-owners and slave-traders was spoken of as having much to do with the subsequent development of character in the negro.

In the revolution Bishop Derrick said colored troops fought gallantly under Washington, and also with Perry at Lake Erie. The fame of the colored troops in the civil war and in more recent wars, he said, was something that was known to all intelligent people and needed no repetition. Despite all the colored man has done for this country, Bishop Derrick said, he received little recognition as a man, and much abuse as a worthless person.

The assertion so often made, he said, that the colored man was indolent, was false and without foundation in fact. The colored race as a people were as industrious and law-abiding as the average citizen of the United States. The ignorance of the black man was something that was largely due to the white man by the treatment accorded the former both before and since the rebellion. The opportunities given the colored man for advancement, he said, had been grasped and developed with a spirit that was creditable and that was remarkable in the face of the race prejudice that is manifested in all parts of the country.

That the negro is a spendthrift was also denied. Although the colored race produces its worthless characters and criminals as is true of the white race, but that the former more readily take to wicked ways was denied. The white race, Bishop Derrick declares, forgets to consider in what measure it is to blame for the present condition of the blacks, and for this reason gives voice to false charges that are an injustice to colored men.

The address was followed by a social in the Sunday school rooms, at which refreshments were served. The proceeds were given to the building fund.

Store and Dwellings Damaged.

Three dwellings in Braddock avenue, Braddock, were damaged by fire which started in a smoke house in the rear of the store of Walter C. Colmery, 318 and 320 Braddock avenue, yesterday afternoon. Mr. Colmery discovered the blaze, which also badly damaged the rear of his store. About $150 worth of flour was destroyed and the damage to the buildings is placed at $1,200.

M'CLELLAN-MILES SEEMS TO SUIT

Local Democratic National Delegates Quietly Indicate Their Presidential Choice.

GOTHAM'S MAYOR A FAVORITE

As the time for holding the Democratic national convention approaches the local delegates to the great gathering of the unterrified are not averse to mentioning their favorite candidates for the nomination, although they are in such wholesome awe of Col. James M. Guffey that they will not permit their names to be mentioned. "McClellan and Miles" is the ticket favored by the majority of the district delegates.

Whether the delegates opine that because Col. Guffey has had several conferences with Charles F. Murphy, the leader of Tammany, therefore he is for George B. McClellan, the Tammany mayor of New York; or whether they have really fathomed the colonel's wishes cannot, of course, be determined, but it is the fact that within the last two days they have begun to talk of McClellan as a likely Democratic candidate for president. That he is a Tammany man is, of course, not a flaw, in their opinion, and they characterize as a dead issue the charge that in approving a bill before the New York legislature giving to the gas companies of New York franchises that were worth millions of dollars, McClellan betrayed the interests of the people. That bill passed the New York legislature, but Gov. Odell vetoed it, and, therefore, the Pittsburgh McClellan shouters say, the issue is dead, and any effort to taint McClellan with being subservient to "corporate influence" will fall flat.

Some of the Pittsburgh delegates think well of Gen. Nelson A. Miles as the Democratic candidate for vice president. They are not clear as to the locality whence Miles may be said to hail. They know he was born in New England, but whether that part of the country or Washington is his home they do not know. Their theory is, however, that the question of geographical location ought not to be allowed to prevent the selection of Miles as McClellan's running mate, and that if the Democracy is able to secure the former lieutenant general of the army as a candidate for second place, the west ought to be satisfied and not insist upon having a representative on the national ticket.

Richard R. Quay left for Chicago last night as a substitute delegate for his father, the late Senator Quay. The credentials were received yesterday morning by Mr. Quay. They bore this indorsement:

As a tribute to the memory of Senator Matthew Stanley Quay and as a token of the love and regard of the people of the Twenty-fourth congressional district, these credentials are transferred to the Hon. Richard R. Quay.

Joseph J. Zimmerman, alternate, of Beaver county.

John B. Donaldson of Washington county.

The names of the three return judges were also signed to this indorsement. There was originally some question whether Zimmerman or Donaldson would go as alternate, and Zimmerman was decided to be the choice and then this transfer was made.

The leaders of the Citizens party will hold no conference this week. Some of the minor counsellors in the party have gone to Chicago to look on at the Republican convention and until they return no move toward "capturing the Republican organization" will be made.

COUNTESS CHOTEK WILL NOT BE HUNGARIAN QUEEN

Parliament Refuses Her Claims as Consort of Archduke Francis Ferdinand.

By MALCOLM CLARK.

[Special Cable to The Gazette.]

BERLIN, June 20.—It is stated from Budapest that the parliament has decided to turn down the claims made in behalf of the consort of Archduke Francis Ferdinand. These claims were brought forward last week in the parliament by the delegate, Polonyi, who declared that Countess Chotek, with whom Archduke Francis Ferdinand has lived in morganatic marriage, ought by right to become queen of Hungary, while her elder son should in time become king.

The government and the majority of members of the Hungarian parliament, however, oppose this, saying "that the elder son of Archduke Francis Ferdinand, Prince Maximilian, who was born on September 29, 1902, has no claim on the crown of Hungary, as according to the pragmatic sanction only an Austrian archduke may become king of Hungary."

Ministers Played Baseball.

The members of the Baptist Ministerial association, together with their wives, were the guests of Francis J. Torrence yesterday afternoon on an outing on the steamer bering his name. The party, which consisted of about 100, were served with a dinner and left the boat several miles up the river for a few hours recreation, during which the Allegheny ministers played a game of ball against the Pittsburgh clergy. After 186 errors had been scored, the party returned. The Rev. Dr. H. C. Mabin of Boston was a guest of honor.

HOW TO FIND OUT.

Fill a bottle or common glass with your water and let it stand 24 hours; a sediment or settling indicates an unhealthy condition of the kidneys; if it stains the linen it is evidence of kidney trouble; too frequent desire to pass it, or pain in the back is also convincing proof that the kidneys and bladder are out of order.

What to Do.

There is comfort in the knowledge so often expressed that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy, fulfills every wish in curing rheumatism, pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passage. It corrects inability to hold water and scalding pain in passing it, or bad effects following use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often during the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases. If you need a medicine you should have the best. Sold by druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar sizes.

You may have a sample bottle of Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy and a book that tells all about it, both sent absolutely free by mail. Address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. When writing be sure to mention that you read this generous offer in The Pittsburgh Daily Gazette. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the adress, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

FARMER KILLED BY LIGHTNING

Wealthy Old Man Bows to Will of Maker Just Before Death.

OTHER NEWS OF MORGUE

"It is God's will."

These were the last words spoken by George I. Sickles, aged 72, a wealthy farmer of Franklin township, yesterday afternoon. A moment later a bolt of lightning struck the barn in which he and his son, Elias Clyde Sickles, aged 30, were standing, killing the old man instantly and hurling the son through the doors and to the ground, where he lay unconscious until help arrived.

The Sickleses, father and son, were in a field hoeing potatoes when the thunderstorm, which passed over this section yesterday afternoon, drove them to shelter in the nearby barn. The old man sat down on a stool near the mow and was wiping the perspiration from his forehead when the son turned to him and remarked that the heavy rain was beating down the potato plants. In reply the old man raised his head and uttered the sentence quoted.

Able to Tell a Story.

Before the son could reply a bolt of lightning—the first during the storm—struck the roof of the barn and ripping through the rafters struck the elder Sickles on the head, killing him instantly. The bolt seemed to strike and hit young Sickles on the left shoulder, burning him to the feet and throwing him out of the door.

A physician was summoned and last night young Sickles had fully recovered from the shock and was able to tell Deputy Coroner Hazlett the details of the tragedy.

The Sickles farm is near Ingomar about 17 miles out the Perrysville and Three Degree roads from Allegheny, and the dead man was one of the wealthiest residents of the district.

While crossing the street car tracks in Penn avenue, at Nineteenth street, yesterday morning, Frederick G. Wambaugh, aged 34, of 1122 Rose avenue, Wilkinsburg, tripped and fell in front of car 3132 of the Frankstown avenue line. The wheels passed over his body killing him instantly. The boy had been riding on a wagon with J. D. Coulter, a huckster of Glen Place, Wilkinsburg. Robert Hill, motorman of the car, was arrested and gave bond for his appearance before the coroner.

Chest Was Crushed In.

Benedicto Masso, aged 24, of 619 River avenue, was killed in a peculiar accident yesterday morning. With other employes of Booth & Flinn he was working in a deep ditch at Blackberry alley and Forty-eighth street. The wooden supports gave way and fell in such a manner as to crush his chest, while his head and shoulders were not hurded. Before the other workmen could rescue him he was dead.

It developed yesterday that Gaetano Zincone, aged 28, the Italian whose body was found in the Monongahela river Sunday, was not murdered, but had committed suicide. In his socts was a note which he had written deploring his bad luck and inability to send money to his wife in Italy.

Stephen Sedlock, aged 20, of No. 114 North Diamond street, Allegheny, died yesterday at Allegheny General hospital from internal injuries received by being kicked by a horse at Monongahela City last Saturday.

Struck by Shifting Engine.

Mary Perry, aged 20, colored, of Briggstown, died suddenly yesterday morning at the home of Mrs. J. A. Ritchey, Shousetown, where she had been employed as a domestic. Death was due to an operation which she had performed upon herself.

Michael Zizi, aged 55, of No. 18 Island avenue, Allegheny, was instantly killed by a shifting engine on the Ft. Wayne railroad at Woods Run station yesterday morning. He was employed by a contracting firm that is altering the tracks at that point.

Benedict Yingen, aged 28, brakeman on the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie railroad, was squeezed to death between freight cars at Rankin at 9:30 o'clock last night. He boarded at Braddock and was single. His mother and two sisters live at Buffalo, N. Y.

The body of an unknown woman was found at the foot of McClure street, Homestead, in the Monongahela river, Saturday. She is now thought to be a Hungarian named Koshock, who disappeared six months ago.

FOREIGNER ARRESTED AT CARNEGIE LIBRARY FOR CLIPPING MAGAZINES

Because he clipped articles out of magazines at the Pittsburgh Carnegie library, Ladislaw Bancasky, a Hungarian draughtsman, was arrested and locked up at the Oakland police station last evening. He was seeking information in line with his work and the subject of all the clippings were mechanical. He said he supposed the library papers were public property and that there was nothing wrong about cutting them.

Bancasky was noticed by the assistant librarians, who reported him to the Carnegie institute officers. They notified the station house. The man was arrested by Officer Thomas McCaffrey and charged with being a suspicious person. Bancasky said he had lived here a year and a half and on the South Side. He refused to say for what company he worked and also refused to give his residence at first, but later told Sergt. Bartley that he roomed in Howe street. He said he learned the English language before coming to the United States, when asked how it was that he spoke so distinctly, though having been in the country but a short time.

The arrest is the first of the kind that has taken place at the library, the rules being very strict on the subject and generally understood.

KUBELIK TOASTS TWIN'S HEALTH IN CHAMPAGNE

Receives Word That Countess Czaky, His Wife, Is Mother of Daughters.

[SPECIAL CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

(Copyright, 1904, by New York Herald Co.)

LONDON, June 20.—A pleasant surprise was in store for Herr Kubelik, the violinist, on his return to London today from a week's end in the country. A telegram awaited him, conveying the information that on the previous evening, at his castle at Kolin, Bohemia, his wife, the Countess Czaky, had given birth to twin girls. Kubelik was quite elated by the news, and, after dispatching a telegram home, proceeded to toast the health of his daughters in champagne.

The Countess Von Czaky-Fzell was a lovely young widow, belonging to the Hungarian nobility, and it seems that everything connected with her second marriage was romantic, from her first meeting with Kubelik onward. The countess first met the violinist at a concert in Hungary, and it was a case of love at first sight, Kubelik being at the time only 19, and the youthful widow about a year older. All objections were gradually smoothed away and last August, on their marriage, the happy pair received the congratulations of all the musical world.

PURCHASE NOT MADE.

Argentina Refuses to Sell Warships Direct to Russia—Diplomats Still Busy.

ST. PETERSBURG, June 20.—It is now definitely established that negotiations for the purchase by Russia of six Argentine cruisers had almost reached a successful conclusion when Argentina raised the question as to under what flag they would be transferred, she being unwilling to sell direct to a belligerent.

The medium through which the negotiations were conducted suggested that they be transferred to Venezuela, Costa Rica or Bulgaria, which would turn them over to Russia. President Roca rejected the proposal, insisting that a bona fide maritime power should be the purchaser. Then Turkey began negotiations through the Argentine legation at Paris. The result of these negotiations is not known.

DIRECTORS HAVE RACE FOR MONEY

Bigelow and Moore Both After Fire and Police Appropriations.

TRANSFER FOR BOND ELECTION

Director Bigelow has decided to go outside of his department to get funds to hold the bond election on July 12, and on Thursday night, in common council, he will make a requisition on the appropriations of the public safety department. A resolution will be introduced to transfer $15,000 for this purpose from the fire and police bureaus. This will upset the plans of Director Moore of the public safety department, who wants this money transferred to the health bureau.

When Moore hears of Bigelow's plan to go after the fire and police appropriations he will probably put a resolution in councils himself, to have this money turned over to the health bureau and this will make a pretty contest in councils between the directors.

Blocked by Controller Larkin in his plan to have another emergency bond issued for the health bureau, Director Moore decided to transfer all the surplus money in the fire and health bureaus. Bigelow, however, has been hunting several weeks for money to pay the expenses of the bond election and when he heard that Moore had some extra money stored in the fire and police bureaus he determined to get it.

Councilmen in the interest of the firemen, whose vacation resolution was vetoed by the mayor, called upon Bigelow yesterday, but he refused to help them because of the fact that he intended to transfer some of the money from the fire appropriation to hold the bond election.

There is said to be a surplus of $25,000 in each of the fire and police bureaus, this being the amount which councils added to the appropriations of these bureaus after the appropriations had been framed by the orphans finance committee.

SABBATH ASSOCIATION FORMED AND WILL ACT

To Prosecute Any Violation of Sunday Law—Only Necessities to Be Sold.

The Allegheny County Sabbath association, an organization to be affiliated with the Pennsylvania State Sabbath association, formed to enforce Sunday laws and demand a strict observance of that day, was formed in the Central Young Men's Christian association building yesterday afternoon. About 100 clergymen and an equal number of laymen were present. The Rev. Dr. T. J. Leak was chairman and the Rev. E. C. Lane secretary. The first question under discussion was the purpose of the organization, some believing that the traction parks exclusively were to receive attention. Arguments followed, terminating in the conclusion that all violations of the Sunday law, which provides only for the sale of necessities, would be prosecuted, including the sale of soda water, cigars, tobacco and candies.

After a constitution had been adopted the following officers were nominated and elected: President, the Rev. Dr. S. A. Hunter; vice presidents, the Rev. Dr. J. H. Prugh, the Rev. Dr. E. L. Eaton and the Rev. C. L. Thurgood; secretary, the Rev. E. C Lane; treasurer, Samuel Hamilton; executive committee, A. M. Scott, H. E. Carmack, W. H. Graham, J. Walter Hay, Nathan Jones, Harvey Henderson, W. E. Lincoln and the Rev. Dr. Warren G. Partridge, the Rev. C. A. Bragdon, the Rev. Dr. T. J Leak, the Rev. R. C. Wiley, the Rev. Dr. John Weidley, the Rev. W. F Slade, the Rev. J. H. Harrison and the Rev. J. T. McCrory.

The Rev. Dr Wallace Tharp took exception to the word Sabbath in the title of the organization, holding that Sabbath was Saturday and not Sunday. He suggested Lord's day or Sunday. Arguments followed but the suggestion was not acted on.

After the session closed a short meeting of the executive committee was held in which they decided to meet in the Central Young Men's Christian association building on Thursday afternoon to organize and select an agent to act for the association at all times and also to select an attorney.

EXECUTION OF WOMAN IS DELAYED BY COURT

TRENTON, N. J., June 20.—(Special.)—Lawyers for Mrs. Anna Valentina today secured from Justice Pitney a writ of errors which will take the woman's case to the court of errors and appeals.

This writ acts as a stay to all pending proceedings and it will probably not be argued until November and delays her execution that long at least.

CONNELLSVILLE, PA., June 20.—(Special.)—August Kerner, a dry goods merchant, made an assignment today; liabilities $4,000, assets $8,000.

Are You Particular About Appearances?

It Shows Commendable Taste and Wise Economy As Well To Keep Clean.

It is difficult to keep one's clothing clean in Pittsburgh, but it is easy to get it cleaned at Linnekin's. And it's inexpensive, too. The smoke and dust of the city make it impossible to keep your clothing looking the same as it was when new without resorting to the cleaners.

The new process of the Linnekin Company is the only one in existence that cleans clothing perfectly. Whether it is a suit of clothes or the finest evening gown, this new process does its work without the slightest injury to the fabric. The Linnekin plant, having been recently enlarged, now turns out work promptly and perfectly at all times.

For the Porch

Most important feature of the modern house is the Porch these hot days—

Properly furnished there is a world of solid comfort in it—and proper furnishment costs so little that there isn't much excuse for not having it.

Wicker furniture—Chairs, Couches, Tables, Porch Swings, etc.—Very artistic and not expensive—

Rugs—Moodji, Algerian, Cashmere, Grass Mattings, etc.—

Vudor Blinds, especially nice where privacy as well as protection from the sun is desired—

All these things are just as appropriate for Summer homes as for the city porch. There is a large variety of style and coloring to choose from.

ONE LOT SALE THAT IS A SUCCESS

Notwithstanding the fact that the sales of new plans of lots have been put on the market this season were practically failures, and that hard times and bad weather have materially affected real estate deals in general, the Paul Land Company, confident of the extraordinary advantages their plan of lots in West Liberty possesses over anything else that has been offered, decided to open the plot to purchasers Saturday last, and it is gratifying to state that the results so far exceeded the expectations of the company that the sale not only was a success, but a big success, upwards of 300 lots being sold already—out of the 900 offered. The advantages of this property, however, precludes the possibility of the lots not selling. Its closeness to the center of the city, the high, level character of the lots, the advantages of graded, paved and sewered streets, the abundance of natural gas for every lot, the fact that the fine new West Liberty public school is built right in the center of the plan, that it is perfectly free of soot, smoke and dirt, that it will have, and now has, the best traction trolley service of any West Liberty district, being right on the Mt. Washington tunnel line—all these points, of course, tended to influence buyers. Still, without these, the fact that beautiful lots are selling at just one-half of what would be a low figure, and the easy terms, with no interest, no taxes and a guaranteed title, would sell them at any time.

Choice home sites are offered at $25, $50, $75 and $100, and still better ones up to $400; some larger lots for more. The size of the lots is 30x100 feet, and they are sold on a payment of $10 and the balance at 2 per cent a month.

Sales will be continued daily and you should see this particular plan—but don't be misled—other plans are offered out this way—but you will miss the best if you miss this—To go to PAUL PLACE take any car on Smithfield street marked "Mt. Lebanon" or "Castle Shannon" and get off at Oakwood avenue—not before—and you are right on the ground. No transfers; just stay on the car till you reach Oakwood avenue. You will see the sign "Paul Place Plan of Lots." Your car fares will be refunded you on the ground.

ways and means committee of the national house of representatives was entitled to the honor.

John Dalzell Substituted.

Mr. Oliver then moved the substitution of the name of Congressman John Dalzell of Allegheny county. In so doing he said he believed that he was paying a deserved compliment.

Col. Carter said that it was with no little pleasure that he accepted the substitution. Mr. Dalzell was elected. Congressman H. H. Bingham of Philadelphia, was named on the committee on rules. F. L. Robbins of Allegheny was chosen on the committee to notify the president of his nomination.

Col. Wilbur Reeder of Center county offered a resolution naming W. W. Griest of Lancaster on the committee to notify the nominee for vice president. When Secretary Andrews had read the motion, he caused much merriment by saying: "That's been changed." Col. Reeder said: "I accept the amendment which will be made by the secretary of this caucus." Col. Andrews looked through his papers for a couple of minutes and then substituted Mayor W. L. Connell of Scranton.

Congressman Bingham offered a resolution instructing the chairman of the delegation to cast the vote of the state as a unit for Theodore Roosevelt for president. When this had been disposed of he made a short speech eulogizing Speaker Cannon and Congressman Hitt of Illinois as candidates for vice president. He said that Mr. Cannon had requested that Pennsylvania do him the honor of allowing him to remain in his present position, as he believed that he could render the party better service there than he could in the office of vice president.

Instructed for Fairbanks.

The congressman spoke of the assassination of Lincoln, Garfield and McKinley and said that youth and vigor as well as ability were essentials in the qualifications of candidates for the vice presidency. He named Senator Fairbanks as the choice of Pennsylvania and a resolution was adopted instructing the chairman to cast the vote of the state for the man from Indiana.

Congressman Dalzell in seconding the resolution thanked Mr. Oliver for his generous act. He said that he had a desire to serve on the committee, but had no inclination to oppose his friend from Pittsburgh. He said that as a member of the committee he would insist upon a plank being put in the platform favoring a continuance of the principles of protection which have brought so much prosperity to Pennsylvania.

Mr. Dalzell paid tribute to Cannon, Hitt and Fairbanks. He said the senator from Indiana was well equipped in every way to go on the ticket, and with Roosevelt would lead the party to victory this fall.

Gov. Pennypacker was loudly applauded when he rose to read the Quay resolution. When he had completed the reading Mr. Oliver moved that the adoption be by a rising vote. Every man in the house stood up.

Gov. Pennypacker was asked tonight if this was not the first national convention he had seen. He gave a characteristic reply:

"I have not seen any national convention yet; this one will not be convened until tomorrow."

Senator Penrose discovered tonight that he had been in error in deciding that the alternates in the Twenty-fourth district could each have a half vote. Senator Quay was elected a delegate from the district and the alternates were J. J. Zimmerman of Beaver and Dr. J. B. Donaldson of Washington. Penrose thought that each man could be given a half vote, but later learned that the national committee rules provide that the alternate named first on the roll shall serve. It so happened that Mr. Zimmerman's name came first.

Governors First Convention.

Gov. Pennypacker and his private secretary, Bromley Wharton, arrived this morning. They traveled with a party composed of State Treasurer Mathues, ex-Secretary of the Commonwealth Griest and some Lancaster and Delaware county Republicans. This is the first convention the governor has attended and he is enjoying himself, but says he will hurry home immediately after the adjournment as he has important state business awaiting his attention.

The governor spent considerable time in the Pompeiian room at the Auditorium this morning studying the beauties of that luxurious apartment. This afternoon he and his secretary drove out to the park. In the morning the governor will be shown through the tunnels by Senator Flinn, Senator Patton and Speaker Walton.

The Pittsburgh delegation spent the day visiting the various points of interest in the city. Some of them tried to pick winners at the Washington park races. Senator Flinn devoted himself to the tunnel project.

Mayor Weaver and District Attorney John C. Bell spent the afternoon on the golf links. The William Leeds Republican association devoted the day to other enjoyments. Chicago is noted for having the largest female tonsorial parlors in the United States. The members of the Leeds club discovered this early in the day and gave up most of their time to securing hair cuts, shaves and the facial massage.

Frank Fuller, secretary of the commonwealth, arrived this morning, accompanied by a party of Fayette county friends. On the same train were John M. Jamison, Capt. Harry Denny and County Chairman E. B. McCormick of Westmoreland county. Mr. Jamison is a delegate and Capt. Denny is an alternate.

Former Pennsylvanians Discovered.

Ex-Senator John J. Coyle, who represented one of the Schuylkill county districts in the senate several years ago, is now a government agent in Alaska. He is attending the convention and will sit as a delegate, having secured a substitution from one of the regular territorial delegates. He says that had he been elected as a delegate he would have lost his citizenship in Pennsylvania, as he claims Philadelphia as his home. He has had a Quaker City negro chosen as an assistant sergeant-at-arms of the convention. The negro is credited to Alaska. Coyle says that the political game is easy in Alaska. He lives there two months in the year.

Many old Pennsylvanians are here as delegates from other states. One of prominence is Judge J. W. McKinley, chairman of the California delegation. He is a son of ex-Senator Samuel McKinley of Lawrence county. Judge McKinley and Judge W. D. Wallace were admitted to the Lawrence bar at the same time. The two judges met at the auditorium today. Another Lawrence county man to come here as a delegate from another state is Philo S. Clark of Portsmouth, O. He is a brother of Capt. J. M. Clark.

A Chicago reporter this evening sought Insurance Commissioner Durham of Pennsylvania and the undisputed leader of Philadelphia. He wanted news about the vice presidency. "I don't know who will be vice president," said he. "See Penrose, he ought to tell you. But if you want to ask me who is to be the next mayor of Philadelphia, I could tell you that."

And the reporter neglected to ask.

BIG NEW YORK CROWD THREATENS LYNCHING

NEW YORK, June 20.—(Special.)—With 500 infuriated men surging around, threatening to lynch him to a lamppost, against which he stood at bay, Harry Binns was rescued this afternoon by the police reserves. He was accused of having insulted Elizabeth Smith, a 10-year-old girl. When the police finally clubbed their way to his side, Binns was bleeding from half a dozen bruises.

Child Crushed by Car.

As a result of her eagerness to place a small dynamite cap on the track in front of an approaching street car last evening, Jemima Chafe, 9 years old, who lived with her parents at 1520 Fifth avenue, McKeesport, was struck by the car. She is in the McKeesport hospital suffering from injuries that will probably cause her death.

"Badger Queen" Shot to Death.

NEW YORK, June 20.—Ida Howard, alias "Goldie" Moran, a negress who was known as the "Colored Badger Queen," was shot and killed today by her common law husband, Charles J. Arthur, 25 years old, a white man.

Don't think about the cost of a paint—think what'll do it. Use LAWRENCE.

The New York senator took the invitation with good humor but he politely declined it, and assuring the breezy little man of his distinguished regard, they parted.

Representative Jim Sherman of New York is one of the men who helped revive the Cannon vice presidential boom. He is also one of the most likely candidates for speaker if Uncle Joe should be placed on the ticket, although he has stated as an earnest of his good faith, that if Cannon is nominated for second place, he (Sherman) will not be a candidate for the speakership.

Last Tussle With Cannon.

He and the speaker are close personal friends, and the latter does not attribute to him any improper motives in the matter. This morning Mr. Sherman emerged from a conference with the speaker wearing a doleful look on his countenance, resembling that of a schoolboy who has just come from a personal interview with the teacher.

"What's the matter, Jim? Did Uncle Joe say things to you about that boom you helped along?" asked a friend.

"Did he?" replied Sherman. "Well, I rather guess he did. I'll have to stand up to my meals for a week. Phew! I think there is nothing in this Cannon boom after all. So far as I am personally concerned it is all off."

Of all the state headquarters, those of California are the most popular. It seems that every man in Chicago who has a friend, real or imaginary, in California, calls at the state's headquarters to inquire if he is on the delegation. Incidentally he inquires how last year's wine crop was, then consents to take a sip of the splendid native wine that the delegation has brought along.

"Is my friend Bill Jones on the California delegation this time?" asked a visitor this morning. "No? I'm sorry to hear that. Expected to see him here sure. Saw him at the Philadelphia convention four years ago and he gave me some of the finest wine that ever trickled down this appreciative throat. Great wine you make out in your country. Thanks, I don't mind. Just a sip. There, that's plenty. Well, just another small one."

There were plenty of inquirers for Jones, Smith and Johnson and Black and others, none of whom happened to be a member of this delegation.

Work for Hero Commission.

Senator Spooner of Wisconsin came near posing as a hero at the Auditorium last night. Somebody threw a lighted match down the elevator shaft and in a moment quite a blaze sprung up. Senator Spooner discovered it and promptly gave the alarm. The fire was put out with very little trouble and some excitement, but all evening the Wisconsin senator was the recipient of congratulations on his prompt action and he received them with good humor. The "little giant" of the senate is a conspicuous figure in the crowds. He has so much trouble of his own to attend to that he is not taking an important part in the general affairs of the meeting, but he is in close touch with all that is going on and his influence will be felt in the proceedings of the convention.

"Well, senator, I see you won your fight before the committee," remarked a friend after the LaFollette faction had been vanquished.

"Yes," replied Senator Spooner, "the truth is mighty and will prevail. And besides we had the votes, which is always a good thing to have on the side of right."

Senator Scott of West Virginia is the busiest man in Chicago. Owing to the illness of Vice Chairman Payne, the duties of chairman have devolved upon Senator Scott and he has had a host of affairs to look after.

Scott Hasn't Time to Eat.

"Have you had your lunch yet?" asked a friend of the West Virginia senator, about 3 o'clock in the afternoon.

"Lunch?" replied Mr. Scott. "I haven't had my breakfast yet. I believe I had some dinner last evening, but I don't remember for certain. When this convention is over I am going to take time to eat a good square meal, which I have not done since last Friday."

The lobbies of the big hotels are full of camera men and sketch artists, busily portraying the likenesses of the men of note who fall under their eyes. Some of the big men are averse to having their pictures taken in this manner; others assume a modesty that is hard to believe is real, while others are very accommodating and pose for the artists. Senator Cullom of Illinois was standing in the Auditorium Annex talking with some friends when he noticed a man a few feet away industriously sketching him.

"Wait a minute," said the senator to the artist. "I think I will look better with my hat on," and he placed his "tile" on top of his sparse growth of hair and stood still while the artist finished his work. When the sketch was completed it was shown to the senator, who complimented it highly and wrote his signature beneath the drawing.

Representative John Dalzell of Pennsylvania was sitting on a divan in the lobby of the Annex earnestly discussing some matter of state with a friend, when he glanced up an saw sitting on the divan just opposite him four artists with pencils busily sketching him. Mr. Dalzell's public life has made him rather callous to these matters and he went ahead with the conversation, while the picture men completed their sketches. The weather has been bright and clear so that snap-shotting was easy and a crowd of camera men have been lined up just outside the main entrance to the Annex. Whenever a public man of importance steps out of the hotel, the snap of the camera is heard.

PE-RU-NA CURES CATARRH OF KIDNEYS EVERY TIME.

Mr. George King.

MR. GEORGE KING, Deputy Sheriff of Rensselaer Co., N. Y., for years was a well known merchant of Troy. In a letter from No. 45 King St., Troy, N. Y., he writes:

"Peruna cured me from what the doctors were afraid would turn into Bright's Disease, after I had suffered with catarrh of the bladder and kidney trouble.

"Peruna is a blessing to a sick man. Eight bottles made me a well man and were worth more than a thousand dollars to me. I cannot speak too highly of it. It is now four years since I was troubled, and I have enjoyed perfect health since."—George King.

Mr. Joseph Mackin, 112 Lockwood St., Providence, R. I., writes: "As I saw so much about your remedy in the papers, and I had doctored a year without getting any better, I thought I would give Peruna a trial. I bought a bottle of it seven months ago and to my surprise I felt much better. The doctors called my ailment catarrhal trouble and kidney trouble. I took seven bottles of your remedy and it cured me."

At the appearance of the first symptom of kidney trouble, Peruna should be taken. This remedy strikes at once the very root of the disease. It at once relieves the catarrhal kidneys of the stagnant blood, preventing the escape of serum from the blood. Peruna stimulates the kidneys to excrete from the blood the accumulating poison, and thus prevents the convulsions which are sure to follow if the poisons are allowed to remain. It gives great vigor to the heart's action and digestive system, both of which are apt to fail rapidly in this disease.

Peruna cures catarrh of the kidneys simply because it cures catarrh wherever located.

If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case, and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.

Address Dr. Hartman, president of the Hartman Sanitarium, Columbus, O.

Attempt of President Burns to Bring Governor to Court Repudiated.

TWO VIEWS OF MARTIAL LAW

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

COLORADO SPRINGS, COL., June 20.—At a special meeting of the board of directors of the Portland Gold Mining Company today the action of President J. F. Burns in asking the federal court of St. Louis for an injunction prohibiting the state authorities from interfering with the operation of the mine was repudiated and the suit was declared off.

The board also adopted a resolution requesting Superintendent Curry of the Portland mine to resume operations as soon as possible without employing men affiliated with the Western Federation of Miners.

The declaration against the Western Federation is regarded as a sore blow to the organization, as the Portland mine was virtually its only foothold in the Cripple Creek district at the time of the action. It is believed that the mine will resume operations this week.

CRIPPLE CREEK, COL., June 20.—In response to a telegram from an eastern newspaper asking for a statement from him as to whether he said that Gov. Peabody would soon have to declare the whole of Colorado in a state of rebellion and put the state under martial law, Adjt.-Gen. Bell has replied as follows:

"There is no need of declaring Colorado under martial law. The whole state practically has been cleaned up by my deportation system. There are but few anarchists and socialists left who can cause trouble.

"However, should it become a military necessity the whole state of Colorado will be placed under martial law and all insurrections be dealt with accordingly."

Replying to an inquiry from an eastern newspaper as to the justification for the reported assertion of Gen. Bell that the state of Colorado will be placed under martial law if such a move became necessary, Secretary Haywood of the Western Federation of Miners sent the following message:

"No, there is nothing in the situation to justify the prediction of Gen. Sherman Bell, unless perchance the people become aroused over the awful torture inflicted upon innocent victims confined in the bull pens, and the relentless, cruel war being waged against women and children.

"Miners have been taken from the bull pens, hung by the neck until nearly dead, suspended by the thumbs and tortured with thumbscrews. These punishments have been inflicted by an investigating committee for the purpose of extorting confessions from innocent men.

"The spirit of resentment is strong in the breasts of the people, but not rebellion. That is a horrible phantasm, wrought from the weird brain of a military fanatic, who would rather hear the clanking of sabre chains than angel's music.

"The question of martial law does not depend upon the justification, as Gen. Bell blasphemously remarked, 'only I and the Lord knows what the next move will be, and the Lord is not very sure about it.'"

ORDERS FOR 1905.

Illinois Steel Company Has More Business Booked Than Can Be Filled This Year.

NEW YORK, June 20.—(Special.)—According to a report published by the Wall Street Journal today, the Illinois Steel Company of the United States Steel Corporation is booking orders for steel rails to be delivered in 1905. This is supplemented by the report, from good sources, that the company has more orders booked for this year's delivery than can be rolled.

It is estimated that surplus orders to be carried over into next year will exceed 75,000 tons. While in itself this is not important, it is decidedly a factor in showing improvement specifically in the trade item, which has suffered the severest shrinkage.

ALEXANDER DODDS.

TWO WARM-DAY SHOWS

Avenue—Refined Vaudeville.

The average legitimate actor strikes a snag when he essays vaudeville, and Edwin Stevens at the Avenue this week is one of the rare exceptions that prove the rule. Mr. Stevens is well known as a leading man on the big circuit, but his friends shook their heads ominously when he started forth with monologue. Everybody was surprised. His act easily leads the bill of good vaudeville offerings in the Avenue's program. There's nothing stiff about Stevens. He tells his stories and odes his dialect imitations like a man who has been doing the stunt all his life. "A Night Out" is the title of Stevens' sketch. The idea has been worn threadbare, but with clever treatment it is well worth repeating. The Rossow Midgets are familiar to the patrons of the laughing stave and present some new things. Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Drew give their pretty sketch, "When Two Hearts are Won" and the Sieger Sisters, famous for their part in "King Dodo," are seen in a fine cornet duet. The Zeh and Zarrow troupe of trick bicyclists do some amazing feats on the wheel. Other attractive features of the bill include Louise Brehany, a captivating vocalist; the Sisters Leckey, in a singing specialty; Drawee, the juggler; Marlow, Plunkett and company in a novel travesty, and the Three Jacksons, comedy acrobats.

Bijou—"The Road to Ruin."

"The Road to Ruin" is no straight and narrow path. In sensational melodrama it frequently diverges to allow the hated villain to get in his work. It leads over the housetops and down into the subway, through the back alleys, down the fashionable thoroughfare and into jail, where it terminates in the last act. Two big audiences at the Bijou yesterday traced the startling windings thus and were rewarded at the end by witnessing a few rounds of clever boxing. "The Road to Ruin" is a Theodore Kremer production, no better and no worse than others of his plays. The same might be said of the company which presents the piece. The star feature of the program is the boxing bout in which Joe Gans, the lightweight champion, meets all comers. In this the spectators get their money's worth. Mike Tunney tried it out with the man with the show and the rounds were fierce and swift. The local sports in the audience liked the speed of the professional, but the applause was mostly with the amateur who faced the doughty champion.

TRACTION PARK VAUDEVILLE.

Both at Kennywood and Southern Resorts Elaborate Shows Were Given.

The vaudeville bills at both Kennywood and Southern parks, opened last night for the week, before appreciative audiences. At Kennywood the Aerial Laconas ride bicycles on wires stretched between the domes of the steeplechase and Casino buildings, one of them on a trapeze suspended from the wheel. Lavardo does another exciting turn on the slack wire, while the Martinetti brothers do an acrobatic act. There was a strong vaudeville bill in the theater building, including the Electric Comedy Four, Brooke Filtryr, vocalist, M. Forber, juggler and Frank and Ida Adams in a musical sketch.

At Southern park the Dixie Troubadours, a colored organization of singers and dancers, have a very funny musical comedette as a first part of their show, entitled "Emancipation." In the olio are Carter and Bluford, Alice Brown, slack wire performer and hoop roller; Thomas Craig, soloist; Davis and Walker, in a sketch, and the whole thing winds up with "The Coonville Band."

PANAMA TO HAVE GOLD STANDARD

Secretary Taft and Canal Commissioners Conclude Plan for New Currency System.

UP TO LITTLE REPUBLIC

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, June 20.—Secretary Taft and the commissioners for Panama today concluded arrangements for a currency system for Panama, which is to be submitted to the Panama legislature for ratification. The plan, as already outlined in these dispatches, provides generally for a sufficiently reserved bimetallic system.

The following official statement was given at the war department today:

An agreement was reached today at the war department between Secretary Taft and the Panama commissioners by which the gold currency of the United States shall be the legal tender in the republic of Panama, and the money of Panama shall be legal tender in the canal zone. This agreement will be transmitted by the Panama commissioners to their government, and if adopted by the constitutional convention will settle the question of the currency to be used in the construction of the canal. The substance of the agreement is that a gold dollar of the same value as that of the United States shall be of the same standard of value in Panama, and that the gold currency of the United States shall be legal tender there, with the provision for the issue of fractional silver currency of the republic of Panama.

It is provided that such silver currency shall be coined to an amount in nominal value of $1,500,000 in gold; the silver to be obtained by the recoinage of Colombia coins now in circulation on the isthmus, and that, at the option of the canal commission, if the construction of the canal shall show coinage to be necessary, there shall be an additional coinage of fractional silver to the amount of $1,500,000.

The parity of all silver coined shall be maintained by the deposit in some bank in the United States of 15 per cent of the nominal value of such fractional currency, and the net seigniorage on the amount coined at the request of the canal commission, in order to prevent the manipulation of exchange at the expense of the public and canal works, the republic and the commission agree to co-operate by the sale of drafts at reasonable rates to keep down the exchange on New York, and thus prevent a disturbance of the parity.

READS BIBLE TOO NOISILY.

New York Man Is Sent to Jail for Three Days by Magistrate.

NEW YORK, June 20.—(Special.)—John Boyce of No. 303 Kent avenue, Williamsburg, got three days in jail today for reading his bible so loud that the peace of the neighborhood was disturbed.

Boyce returned to his home last night feeling just right. He asked his wife if she had been at church, and seemed grieved that such had not been the case.

"We'll have a little church of our own," said Boyce. Then he opened the family bible and read so fast and so thunderingly that the neighbors took a hand. Boyce laughed at their threats and began to throw things around the room, even the bible. Mrs. Boyce was hit in the head with something sharp and sustained a scalp wound.

WARE NAILS CANARD.

Pensions of Veterans in Doubtful States Are Not Being Given Extra Attention.

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 20.—(Special.)—Commissioner Ware has notified members of congress that a story that he is using the pension bureau to advance the political interests of Mr. Roosevelt is untrue. The commissioner has mailed to every member of the house and senate this letter:

"A newspaper in Washington asserts that pensions are being issued under Order 78 to veterans in the 'doubtful' states for the purpose of influencing elections and that claimants from other states are being delayed thereby. This statement is wholly untrue and will not be taken notice of, except that I wish you to know that your constituents are receiving the very same attentions that others are receiving."

BOOK ON ELECTRICITY.

Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Plants Illustrated and Described.

The Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company has just issued an illustrated book, showing the works of the company and forms of machinery manufactured. The book is one of much beauty.

One of the features is a short history of the company, which was organized in 1886 with a force of 200 workmen. Now 9,000 men are employed in the main plant at East Pittsburgh, with 3,000 additional in branch factories at Newark, Cleveland, New York, Pittsburgh and Bridgeport. As the business grew another tract of land, 45 acres, was secured. On this property, in 1895, the company built the first shops of the present extensive plant. The East Pittsburgh plant now has a floor space of 2,000,000 square feet, or 47 acres. In addition to the American works, the company has a plant in Manchester, England, as large as that at East Pittsburgh, one at Havre, France, and one at Hamilton, Canada.

MINISTERIAL MEETINGS.

Attendance Light Yesterday—Last Sessions of the Season Next Week.

Attendance was very small yesterday at the various ministerial association meetings. Next week the last meeting of the season will be held. The Methodist Episcopal clergymen met in the Smithfield street church and were addressed by Mrs. Annie E. Smiley of Springfield, Mass., on Epworth League work. Bishop McCabe, who was to have spoken, went to Chicago.

The Rev. Dr. W. H. McMillan read a paper on "Compensations of the Ministerial Calling" before the United Presbyterian ministers. The Rev. W. S. Fulton spoke on the life of Dean Farrar to the Presbyterian Ministerial association. No meetings were held by the Baptist or Methodist Protestant clergy. The Rev. Dr. Alonzo J. Turkle spoke on "Savonarola" before the Lutheran association in Allegheny.

The Rev. W. J. Couston of Greensburg has accepted a call to the Hazelwood Baptist church.

Fast Time by Kaiser Wilhelm II.

PLYMOUTH, ENGLAND, June 20.—The average speed of the North German Lloyd line steamer, Kaiser Wilhelm II., which arrived here at 1:57 this morning, for the 3,112 miles from Sandy Hook lightship to Eddystone lighthouse, was 23.58 knots per hour, as compared with 23.51 knots of the Deutschland of the Hamburg-American line. While the Deutschland's total time over the long distance route is still 53 minutes shorter than the time just occupied by the Kaiser Wilhelm II., she actually did not travel so fast, because she ran only 3,082 miles, 30 less than the Kaiser Wilhelm II. The best day's run of the Kaiser Wilhelm II. was 504 miles.

New Tenth Street Bridge Opened.

The new Tenth street bridge was opened yesterday morning at 8 o'clock to general traffic. The bridge had been open to foot travel for a couple of weeks but the construction of new approaches postponed use by vehicles. It will give a short cut to the upper part of the South Side and will eventually relieve the street car traffic over the Smithfield street bridge.

CHURCH FREE OF DEBT.

M. E. Congregation of New Bethlehem, Pa., Celebrates Fiftieth Anniversary.

NEW BETHLEHEM, PA., June 20.—(Special.)—The First Methodist Episcopal church observed its jubilee with a week's service, closing last Sunday. It was the fiftieth anniversary of the dedication of the church. The present beautiful house was built eight years ago, but the congregation had never been able to lift the indebtedness until last Sunday, when every dollar of indebtedness was raised, and the people, with much rejoicing, sang the doxology double at the close of the service.

Dr. Robert Forbes was present and preached Sunday. Former pastors preached during the week. Rev. E. N. Askey is the popular pastor who is serving his seventh year. It is generally conceded that there has been no greater achievement in Erie conference for years than what has been done at New Bethlehem.

RAILROAD CASE SETTLED.

Dispute Ends Over Pennsylvania Right of Way Through Irwin, Pa.

IRWIN, PA., June 20.—(Special.)—The last case against the Pennsylvania Railroad Company for right-of-way for their change to a four-track road through Irwin and vicinity, was disposed of here today after five years' litigation. About four acres of land were needed on the J. L. McKeever farm east of town. A price could not be agreed upon and the railroad appropriated the ground and constructed their line. Subsequently $5,000 was offered, but Mr. McKeever asked $7,800 for part of the property, apart from the damages to the farm. Viewers were finally appointed by the court and they met today and awarded McKeever $5,500.

This brings the outlay for the two miles right-of-way through here up to $510,000. The McKeever and Penn Plate Glass works were the only cases in litigation, the latter company being awarded about $100,000.

Findlay Man Determined to Die.

FINDLAY, O., June 20.—(Special.)—Despondency, superinduced by rheumatism, is responsible for sensational attempts to commit suicide this afternoon by George Thompson. He first made an incision with a small penknife over the heart, but did no harm. Thompson's cries of pain attracted the neighbors and they put him to bed, calling a doctor. When they had left him he arose and went to the grindstone, where he deliberately sharpened a butcher knife, and just as his friends came in sight, he plunged it into his lungs twice. There is no chance for his recovery, as internal hemorrhages have set in. Thompson had almost lost the use of his legs. He is unmarried.

SHENANGO AND MAHONING LINES MAY BE TIED UP

Strike of Firemen and Engineers at Youngstown Power House Likely to Spread.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

YOUNGSTOWN, O., June 20.—The strike of the firemen and engineers at the power house of the Youngstown and Sharon Power and Light Company is likely to become serious. W. D. McMahon, president of the Street Car Men's union, is expected to call a strike of the union motormen and conductors on the Youngstown & Sharon, the Sharon & New Castle, the Sharon & Wheatland and Valley Street Railway lines between Youngstown, Hubbard, Sharon, Sharpsville, Wheatland and New Castle.

Besides it is the intention of the striking men at the power house to cut off Youngstown from electric light and gas; the Park & Falls Street Railway Company from power to operate, and Sharon and Sharpsville from water and power. Non-union engineers arrived this morning and relieved the clerks and superintendents from their work at stoking and work at the engines in the power house. It is claimed that there are sufficient men to run the plant now and in the future and that all places have been filled. All the concerns operated by the company were running today and continued through the night. What McMahon will do when he arrives here tomorrow is conjecture.

BOBRIKOFF'S ASSASSIN LEFT LETTER TO CZAR

Said It Was Necessary to Remove Him, as He Deceived the Emperor.

[Associated Press Cable to The Gazette.]

STOCKHOLM, June 20.—The Aftonbladet publishes a copy of a letter to the emperor of Russia purporting to have been written by Eugene Schaumann, the assassin of Gen. Bobrikoff, governor general of Finland, the original of which was found upon his body after his deed had been committed. The letter follows:

Sire—Through the senate, which is obedient to Bobrikoff, the latter has succeeded in creating lawlessness in Finland. Through lies and false representations Bobrikoff and Plehve (minister of the interior) have induced your majesty to issue ordinances incompatible with Finnish laws, which you promised at your succession to guard firm and unshaken. The best officials of the state have been removed without trial in favor of time-hunters and others ineligible to state offices under Finnish laws, and your most intelligent and true subjects have been banished.

Plehve, whose duty it is to report to your majesty all matters concerning the grand duchy of Finland, is not a Finlander, has no knowledge of Finland's laws and customs, and has common interests with Bobrikoff. Therefore, your majesty does not get true knowledge of the real situation. As it is not probable the real situation will be known to you in the near future unless Bobrikoff be removed, there is only one way to take in self-defense, and that is to rendet him innocuous. The remedy is violent, but it is the only one.

Your majesty, I have done my deed alone after mature deliberation, and in the moment of death I swear there was no conspiracy. Knowing your good heart and good intentions I implore solely that you seek information regarding the whole empire, respecting Finland, Poland and the Baltic provinces.

Signed with the deepest veneration.

Your majesty's humblest and truest subject.

EUGENE SCHAUMANN.

The copy was mailed to a person who was not in Finland, Schaumann writing him that he was sure the original would not reach the emperor.

HELSINGFORS, June 20.—The remains of the late Gov.-Gen. Bobrikoff, who was assassinated June 16, were conveyed today to the cathedral and thence were placed on board a special train for St. Petersburg.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

ST. LOUIS, June 20.—The Pirates were whitewashed today in their game with the Cardinals. Leach opened the game for the Pirates by popping to Smoot. Beaumont followed suit. Capt. Clarke went out on an easy grounder, Shay to Beckley.

Wagner opened the second for the Pirates by popping to Farrell. Bransfield doubled, but was an easy out on Sebring's choice, Nichols, Shay and Burke making the play. Ritchey flew to Barclay. Smith fanned as a starter in the third for the Pirates, and Flaherty and Leach followed the bad example set by Flaherty, poking a nice rap down toward the left field foul line. Flaherty was forced out at third on Beaumont's tap to Nichols. Clarke flew to Barclay.

The Pirates had their only look-in to score in the fourth inning. Wagner opened with a foul to Burke. Bransfield singled and was safe on Shay's error of Sebring's grounder. Shannon made a phenomenal catch of Ritchey's high foul down toward the right field bleachers, Smith's long fly was captured by Barclay.

Flaherty fanned in the fifth. Leach flew to Beckley and Beaumont's effort resulted in a weak fly to Barclay. Farrell and Clarke tried hard for a hit in the sixth, but his effort resulted in a pop to Farrell. Hans Wagner was also easy for Nichols, the German going out on a fly to Shay. Bransfield flew out to Smoot.

Sebring started the seventh for the Pirates by going out on an easy tap, Nichols to Beckley. Ritchey took four wide ones and went to first. One member of the Smith family fanned and Pat Flaherty popped a weak foul to McLean.

Leach, up first in the eighth for the Pirates, went out, Shay to Beckley. Beaumont flew to Smoot. Clarke went out, Burke to Farrell on a single. Wagner chased Smoot to the club house after his long fly, the Apostle getting even with Hans by making a sensational catch.

As a last effort Bransfield offered an easy chance in Shannon, but Frank went out, Shay to Beckley, and Ritchey was out, Burke to Beckley.

Secretary Locke assured the newspaper men here today that there was no truth in the story of trouble with Jack Williams (Princeton) and Locke said: "Why, that story is the worst canard I ever heard. Clarke and Bransfield are chums. There is no truth in the report that these players are fighting. All is harmonious in the ranks of the Pirates, and we will be up at the top when the season closes."

Mike Lynch, the Brown college sensation, is booked to pitch for the Pirates tomorrow, while Wagner is due to pitch Wednesday for St. Louis, and a pitchers' battle should ensue. The score:

An Even Break at Boston.

BOSTON, June 20.—Philadelphia won the first of two games played here today, 6 to 3. Boston took the second, 9 to 0. The games abounded in brilliant fielding plays. The Philadelphia outfielders and the Boston infielders divided these honors. In the first game, in which none of Boston's long hits were made with men on bases, Doolin was put out of the game for objecting to decisions and Carney was retired in the fourth inning. Long hits by Cooley scored six of Boston's runs in the second game also, distinguished by phenomenal catches by Doolin and Lush. Scores:

PRINCETON WON MEET.

Defeated Chicago University. The Events Were All Very Cleverly Contested.

CHICAGO, June 20.—Princeton university today defeated the University of Chicago in the first outdoor track and field dual meet ever held between representatives of the two universities. Out of the 10 events, Princeton only first place figuring in the count Princeton secured seven and a half points while Chicago finished with six and a half.

The result of the meet hung in the balance until the finish of the half mile run, the last event of the day, when Williams (Princeton) and and his team mate, Dist, crossed the tape fully 30 yards ahead of Cahill (Chicago). In the hundred yards dash there were only two starters, Fox (Princeton), being pitted against Rice (Chicago). The eastern man was outclassed by his western rival, and at the finish was fully six yards in the rear of the conference champion. The time for the dash was 10 1-5 seconds. An had been predicted Cahlin (Chicago) won both of the hurdle races. In the 440 yards run Taylor (Chicago) led up to the last 40 yards, when Atlee (Princeton) forged ahead winning by a few feet.

The two-mile run was a walk away for the easterners, Elsele finishing a full eighth of a mile in advance of Matthews of Chicago. Denison, Princeton, won handily the pole vault. In the pole vault, Moore (Princeton) and Clark (Chicago) were tied for first place, each crossing the bar at 11 feet. The point was divided between the two contestants.

HAMILTON WAS BEST.

Had Lutz All But Out and Floored Him Twice During Bout.

SHARON, June 20.—(Special.)—Jack Hamilton of Troy, N. Y., had the best of the 10-round fight with Lawrence Lutz of Beaver Falls tonight before the Nonpareil Athletic club of South Sharon. Hamilton did most of the leading and Lutz clinched repeatedly to save himself. In the second round Hamilton floored Lutz by a right swing to the jaw. He came up slowly and Hamilton went after him but the bell saved Lutz from further damage. The third, fourth and fifth rounds were about even. The sixth and seventh were Hamilton's.

In the eighth Hamilton again floored Lutz, but the latter drove a terrific left-hand punch to Hamilton's face which staggered him. The and the ninth rounds were Lutz's. In the last round Hamilton landed right and left on Lutz's face and body, but was unable to get a knockout. The gong sounded with both men fighting hard.

Jack Connors of New Castle barely escaped a knockout at the hands of Harry Connors of New Brighton in the preliminary. The bout was to have been six rounds, but the New Castle lad was so groggy that the fight was stopped in the fifth.

WALL FOR CAPITOL.

State Lets Contract Amounting to Half a Million for Retaining Fence.

HARRISBURG, PA., June 20.—(Special.)—Contract for a $500,000 wall around the Capitol park has been awarded to George F. Payne & Co. of Philadelphia, contractors for the new capitol, by the board of public buildings and grounds. The wall will be of brick, faced with Vermont granite and adorned with statuary. In some places, as it is to be flush in height with the top of the bank, it will be 13 feet high.

There will be the same number of entrances to the park as at present, but all flanked by ornamental groups. On either side of the main capitol building, between the wings, will be sunken gardens, and at the extreme east and west ends of the building in the park there will be large gardens.

The new wall, clock tower and extension of the park to the top of the wall, when laid, will cost upward of $1,000,000.

TAYLOR ARRAIGNED.

Heavy Bail Demanded from Man Who Is Said to Be a Swindler.

George W. Taylor, the young man who is said to have attempted to victimize a number of people by passing worthless checks, was arraigned before Magistrate Stewart at Central police court yesterday, charged with giving one of the checks to Elmer Espy, a cab driver. When asked to plead he said: 'I have nothing to say."

F. A. Probst, proprietor of the Hotel Lincoln, had made charges against Taylor, alleging that while employed as cashier at the hotel he stole $85 and the prisoner was asked to answer that charge, but again replied that he had nothing to say. Taylor was held for court under a total bail of $1,500. The police are inclined to believe that he is demented.

PULLIAM WILL GREET HERRMANN

Leader of League Will Win a Fine Suit of Clothes by Being in Chicago Today.

THE DOUGHERTY DEAL

President Harry Pulliam of the National league spent yesterday in the city, and left last night for Chicago, where he will take part in a special baseball blowout which has been termed "Garry Herrmann day," to be held at the park of the Chicago American league team and which was arranged last April by Ban Johnson and Charley Comiskey as a special act of acknowledgment to the owner of the Cincinnati team and president of the national commission. Herrmann is in Chicago attending the Republican national convention.

When Harry walks into the American League park this afternoon he will give Garry the glad hand and at the same time remind the Cincinnatian that a costly suit of clothes is coming to him. Pulliam was in Chicago attending a meeting of the national commission when "Garry Herrmann day" was arranged and at that time he bet Mr. Herrmann a suit of clothes that he would be on hand for the celebration. The bet was accepted and Garry has been counting on Harry having a bad memory for dates, but this is once that Harry will fool him.

During his stay here yesterday Pulliam talked on baseball in general and the latest act of the American league in transferring Dougherty from Boston to the New York club in particular. He regarded this move as one of the most unwise ever made in baseball for the reason that it will give those who have been claiming that games are frequently run for the benefit of the box office a chance to do a lot of talking. Said the league president:

"I can conceive how it is possible that a losing club, financially and artistically, may find it necessary to keep the club going to dispose of a star player, but it is beyond my comprehension that a club having won the championship of the world and having received the most generous patronage of the Boston public, can in the slightest degree justify the apparent mercantile and unsportsmanlike transaction as the Dougherty deal. The Boston club is financially on Easy Street, and their action they deprive themselves of the services of a star outfielder and one of the best batters in the country. This cannot help but weaken the club for the remainder of the season, and strengthen an adversary. What an awful howl the Pittsburgh baseball public would raise if Barney Dreyfuss was to transfer Beaumont to the Giants, and yet the club owners, by their action,

BATHERS AGAIN IN GULF STREAM

Warm Water from Southern Clime Late in Reaching Atlantic City Beach.

WONG KAI KAH ARRIVES

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU, Young's Ocean Pier. ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., June 20.

Though hundreds have been in the surf since the first visitor of the year had the temerity to go into the water as early as February, the bathing season did not really open until this afternoon, when for the first time this year the effect of the annual changing at the course of the shore branch of the gulf stream was felt. This is one of the phenomenal things about the shore, but usually the change takes place late in May.

The gulf stream flows up the coast about six miles from the shore, causing in the early spring a counter current from the icy water of the north along the shore line. Later in the spring, and quite suddenly, this shore current is overcome and the waters commence to flow in the opposite direction as suddenly as the tide turns. Before today and almost up to noon, the temperature of the water here was 30 degrees, almost too cool for bathing, but this afternoon the change that the bath house keepers have been anxiously waiting for occurred and in less than two hours the temperature of the water had risen 7 degrees.

The change means more to Atlantic City than good baths, as with the warm water come all of the fish that leave the shore in cold weather. All of the fishermen brought in big strings. The first smack that had been out for a week without catching enough to send to market, came into the inlet tonight with 500 large bluefish and 7,000 pounds of sea bass. Those were caught since morning and were shipped to the New York markets tonight. As soon as the size of the catch became known there was a rush to the stores where fishing tackle is sold and tomorrow there will be a veritable slaughter of fish.

Wu Cha Chow recently took first honors at the High school here and will study banking at the University of Pennsylvania.

Counting the Returns.

A meeting of the entertainment committee of the Wimodausis club was held yesterday afternoon, when, after deducting the expenses incurred in the outing of the club at Kennywood park last Wednesday, it was found that the club treasury will be enriched by $450. The outing was the most successful entertainment the Wimodausis club has even given.

The Wimodausis club will hold another outing, with euchre and dance, in September, the exact date not yet being determined. Mrs. Reese Lindsay has been appointed the chairman of the sub-committee to secure prizes, and already it have been promised. On Wednesday afternoon, June 29, the entire entertainment committee will meet in the home of Mrs. Samuel Miller, in Forbes street, to make more covers for the card tables. HUNTER CAUGHT WITH THE WET GOODS INSIDE

Trail of Empty Wine Bottles Led Detective Dugan from Freight Car to Woods, Where He Found His Quarry.

"Caught with the goods on," Thomas Hunter was lodged in jail last night, charged with stealing two cases of champagne from a freight car on the Pittsburgh, McKeesport & Youghiogheny railroad. An over-taxing of his capacity for strong drink led to his arrest.

Saturday afternoon Detective S. J. Dugan, of the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie railroad, was notified that a freight car had been robbed near McKeesport on the branch line. He hastened to the scene and found the report was correct. There was no clue to the robber.

Adopting the methods used when sending bloodhounds after escaped criminals, he made a circuit of about 100 yards from the car and sure enough he found an empty bottle which had once contained the bubbling vintage. A few yards further on he spied another bottle and with true Sherlock Holmes instinct, deduced that the thief was drinking as he ran—or rather wobbled. On rushed the detective. Bottle after bottle was passed, but still no sign of the fugitive.

"Am I pursuing a camel or a man," mused the officer, but his zeal could not be quenched.

As he progressed the empty bottles appeared at short intervals on the trail and all was well. Finally he reached a dense thicket about a mile from the scene of the robbery and found Hunter prone on his back. In his hand was a bottle from which flowed the precious intoxicant. Under his head was an unopened basket and around him scattered on the turf were several more bottles.

"Whoopee! Have a drink. I have no ice, but it's pretty good at that!" yelled Hunter to the detective.

Gathering up the alleged culprit in his arms the officer proceeded to McKeesport from where he boarded a train to Esplen. There he arraigned Hunter before Justice W. R. Nicholson and the latter not appreciating the gloriousness of the occasion, sent Hunter, jag and all, to jail.

GRADUATES WERE TOLD NOT TO WORSHIP MONEY

A Class of Eighty-Three Young People Participated in Curry College Exercises.

"Make all you can, get all the money you want, but remember when you set out in life's struggles that wealth is not all; that it should neither be the purpose nor the end of life. A miser or one who sacrifices high ambitions to make lots of money, is to be least loved of all the people of the earth," said the Rev. E. H. Ward, D. D., rector of St. Peter's Episcopal church, in an address delivered on the occasion of the forty-fourth commencement exercises of Curry college, which were held in Carnegie Music hall last evening. He also said:

"Don't develop the money talent preeminently; develop the whole man. Environment has a wonderful power over character, but every man can rise superior to his circumstances. Our great heroes were made by the difficulties that they had to overcome."

The graduates numbered 83 and were seated in a elevated tier on the platform.

The program was as follows:

METCALF TO SUCCEED SECRETARY CORTELYOU

Definitely Settled That Cabinet Change Will Be Made at End of Month.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

WASHINGTON, June 20.—It can be stated with definiteness that Representative Victor H. Metcalf of the Third California district, will succeed Secretary George B. Cortelyou as the head of the department of commerce and labor. It has been assumed for 10 days that Mr. Metcalf probably would be invited to accept the portfolio. The president holds him in high esteem and for a long time he has been in closer touch with Mr. Roosevelt than almost any other member of the house of representatives.

No change will be made in the department until the close of the present fiscal year on June 30.

Secretary Cortelyou, who arrived from New York this morning, was engaged busily today on matters of detail concerning the investigation of the General Slocum disaster. Mr. Cortelyou will leave Washington for Chicago tomorrow afternoon, arriving in the convention city Wednesday evening.

AMERICA WILL ENFORCE DEMANDS BY LEISHMAN

Proposes to See That Discrimination Against Minister and American Citizens Cease.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

WASHINGTON, June 20.—Minister Leishman has encountered a singular and disagreeable reluctance on the part of the porte to enter on negotiations looking to the removal of discrimination against American citizens, professional and business men in Turkey. The citizens of European powers are permitted all sorts of privileges that are denied to American citizens, and for three or four years past our state department, through its minister, has striven vainly to remove this objectionable and characteristic Turkish method of blocking. At last the negotiation is a declination to accede to the request of the state department that the Turkish mission in Washington be elevated to the rank of an embassy, so that Minister Leishman at Constantinople might attain a similar rank, and thus be able personally to approach the sultan. Being kept in his grade as a minister, he is prevented from reaching that personage, and finds it almost impossible to do business through the porte.

The state department is determined that this discrimination shall cease, although it hopes that it will not be necessary for the battleship squadron, combined with the European squadron, to repair to Turkish waters.

BEEF PRICES RAISED AGAIN: SHILLING A POUND EXPECTED

NEW YORK, June 20.—(Special.)—There was a further advance of from an eighth to a quarter of a cent a pound in the wholesale price of prime pieces of beef today and some butchers went so far as to predict that "straight cattle," would cost a shilling a pound in the near future. This is an extreme price, but market conditions are said to warrant the prediction. The price asked today was ten to eleven cents a pound. Other meats than beef and poultry and sea food were relatively inactive.

Fined for Shooting Birds.

CLEARFIELD, PA., June 20.—(Special.)—Game Warden Joseph Berrier of Harrisburg arrested two Italians for shooting robins and other song birds. They were fined $100 each and costs, which they paid.

PERSONALS

Last evening William Connor and Postmaster Christian H. Sheets of Braddock, and Postmaster Frank Cyphers, Ira J. Fix, William Taylor and John Goetz of East Pittsburgh left for Chicago to attend the Republican national convention as spectators. Fred W. Edwards, who is already there, has promised to look after them.

S. H. Kerauver, a lumber manufacturer of Lumber Bridge, N. C., is in Pittsburgh soliciting orders for the fall delivery of North Carolina pine. Speaking of his business he said: "There are 23 wholesale lumber firms here and each one does more business in North Carolina pine than almost any other firm in the country. These firms furnish a lot of lumber to Pittsburgh, but they also distribute it throughout this district to the retail lumber dealers. I have been in business 40 years, and there is scarcely a noticeable falling off in the productive area."

H. B. Scott, formerly of the Federal National bank, left last night for Portland, Ore., to take charge of the agencies department of the Washington Life Insurance Company.

"There will be blood split in South Africa in the near future, owing to the importation of Chinese labor into the country," said Maj. C. Fox-Pitt of the colonial army. The major passed through the city last night on a tour of the states. He will spend a short time at the world's fair and then proceed to San Francisco. "At the last session of parliament a bill was passed permitting English capitalists to import Chinese to work in the mines. The bill permits this for two years, and if found profitable the time will be extended. The situation is this: The Kaffirs are in fairly good circumstances, most of them having made money during the late war. While they have many money they will not work, and when their money is spent they will have to work in the mines. The Kaffirs and Chinese cannot mingle without clashing, thus the result will be fights which will culminate in riots. The soldiers will be called upon and the mining industry will be jeopardized. The Chinese cannot live on the products of South African soil, and their foods stuffs will have to be imported. The bill will put the country in a deplorable state."

Maj. Fox-Pitt was born in Kensington, England, being the son of Gen. Fox-Pitt, a staff officer in the English army. About 20 years ago Maj. Fox-Pitt was commissioned to South Africa, and remained there until last December, when he was given a year's furlough for good service rendered during the Boer war. He fought in several battles and was twice wounded at Mateking.

A party of 15 business men from various parts of Western Pennsylvania, headed by G. Hedding, president of the Consolidated Copper and Coal Company, left the city last night in a special car over the Pennsylvania railroad. They contemplate inspecting the company's properties in Colorado and Wyoming.

Several delegates to the ninth biennial convention of the Pennsylvania assembly of the National Union arrived in the city last night. The meeting will be held today at the hall of the Pittsburgh branch, corner of Fifth avenue and Market street. At the meeting a senator will be elected to represent the state at the supreme union meeting to be held at Atlantic City next August.

D. F. Henry, Jr., left for Washington, D. C., last night, after spending two weeks in the city with his father, D. F. Henry, proprietor of the hotel bearing his name.

CARDINAL MEETS PROMINENT MEN

In an Address Monsignor Satolli Lauds Work of United States in the Philippines.

DINED BY SECRETARY TAFT

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

WASHINGTON, June 20.—Cardinal Satolli was the guest of honor at a dinner given tonight by Secretary of War Taft at the Arlington hotel. Covers were laid for 20 persons. Those present included representative government officials and well known dignitaries of the Catholic church. The table decorations were of American beauty and Cardinal roses. The cardinal attended the dinner arrayed in his robes of office. Cordial speeches of welcome and of response were made by Secretary Taft and the cardinal respectively. Those present, in addition to the secretary and the cardinal were Archbishop Farleys Gen. Chaffee, Mr. McCall, Mr. Glover, Mr. Conant, Admiral Mayler, Monsignor O'Keefe, Archbishop Ireland, Secretary Moody, Admiral Dewey, Monsignor O'Connell, Gen. Sanger, Father Stafford, Dr. Egan, Maj. Ballinger, Maj. Porter, Chief Justice Arellano of the Philippines and Justice Brown of the United States supreme court.

In welcoming the guest of the evening Secretary Taft said:

Gentlemen: I do not intend to inflict on your indigestion by inviting a general speech making at this board. I cannot refrain, however, from rising to propose a toast to Cardinal Satolli, who honors me by being my guest tonight. When in the course of adjusting affairs in the Philippines and especially of settling the matter of the friar lands, it was thought wise by the president and secretary of war to send a representative to Rome to begin the negotiations with the ultimate authority of the Roman church. I found myself greeted with a hearty welcome by Cardinal Satolli, whose former residence in this country as apostolic delegate had made him familiar with American thought, American customs and American character, and I do not think I speak too strongly when I say it had made him a friend of all Americans. It is a great satisfaction to know that among the advisors to his holiness, Pius X., the present pontiff, there is a man so familiar with America as Cardinal Satolli.

I give you, gentlemen, the health of our distinguished guest.

Cardinal Satolli replied as follows:

In the desire to come a third time to America the thought was in mind to pay a visit to Secretary Taft and thank him for consideration showed me by accepting, one day in Rome, my humble hospitality.

This evening I find myself somewhat embarrassed, because I see my debt of gratitude to him increased by the courteous invitation to his table to approach that of the distinguished a gathering of his fellow citizens.

I hope that while in Rome Mr. Taft received, and that he has since preserved, the most favorable impressions, not only of those magnificent Roman fields up to the admiration of the world—monuments of history and art, both ancient and modern—but also of the personal acquaintance he made with Pope Leo XIII., and with others whom he met in the audiences given his mission. And I desire here to bear testimony that I heard from the immortal pontif, Leo XIII. himself, that he was most highly pleased with the action of Mr. Taft and with the results obtained through it. The story of that meeting between the holy see and the United States will be a bright page in the history of the holy see and the Catholic church.

It is a pleasure for me to recall the fact that when the flag of the United States was displayed from the Hotel Quirinal in one of the principal streets of Rome, it was regarded with universal respect and friendliness, and as its folds were unfurled to the breeze it seemed to remind the Romans of the ancient deeds and glories of the republic of Romulus. Again, may it be pleasing to his excellency, Mr. Taft, to accept the tribute of a grateful heart for all the great good he has done in the government of the Philippines with admirable equity and prudence, and for his respect and deference, as far as it was in his power, for the interests of Catholicity in those islands which, under the wings of the American eagle, already feel the warmth of a new life, and which give promise of the most happy future, both political and civil, intellectual and Christian.

AMONG THE CLUBS

Secured Options for Soho Bath.

Several options were secured yesterday on sites in Soho for the erection of the proposed Soho public bath and wash house. These will be submitted to a sub-committee of the public baths committee to the city engineer and other city officials, who will investigate the locations and report to the public baths committee on Thursday. The price of several lots which were considered has been raised since the women looked at them and these almost without exception were laid aside. The three now considered are in a reasonable price. One is at Fifth avenue and Moultrie street, where a 60-foot frontage may be secured. Two others are in Forbes street, beyond Brady, and in the hillside. Either one is considered an admirable location for such a public bath and wash house as is being contemplated by the women who are interested in the project.

A meeting of the committee will be held on Thursday at noon in Miss Sweeny's rooms, Penn avenue and Fifth street, when the subcommittee of three, consisting of Mrs. Schludeburg, Mrs. W. W. Kerr and Dr. Luba Robin, will present some report from the city officials. Several ineffectual attempts have been made to secure the co-operation of the firm of Jones & Laughlin Steel Company in the Soho public baths, and yesterday Mrs. Gilliford B. Sweeney and Mrs. Franklin P. Iams were appointed a committee to carry to success an interview with the firm, many of whose employes are living in the district which will be benefited by the baths.

Several new donations to the fund for the baths were reported yesterday. Donations amounting to $120 were secured by Mrs. G. B. Sweeney, $50 by Mrs. J. H. Evans and the Colloquium club has paid in $42, part of the proceeds of the minstrel show given last week by the club in the Bellefield club house. The donation expected as the result of the New Era club's garden party last Friday has not yet been received. Other contributions include a previous donation of $25 from the New Era club, $32 from the Sorosis euchre, $157 15 from the Wimodausis club, $10 cash, $100 collected by Mrs. Samuel L. Seymour, and $50 from the euchre given by members of Sorosis under the direction of Mrs. Jesse Carey.

Plan Outing for Children.

The committee having in charge the outings of the children from the summer playgrounds to the fresh air homes will meet this morning in the Twentieth Century club house. The committee consists of Mrs. John Cowley, chairman; Mrs. George Hubbard, Mrs. John H. Evans, Mrs. William McCartey, Miss Sarah Pelt and Miss Kathryn Hutchinson. All are from Allegheny with the exception of Mrs. Hubbard and Mrs. Evans. The committee was first appointed when the invitation from the Fresh Air home at Glenfield was received by the joint committee of women's clubs, the managers of the home offering to care for all the children in the Allegheny playgrounds who will need a change of air this summer. Since then similar invitations have been received from the Fresh Air home in Sewickley, the Perrysville Avenue day nursery and the Kingsley house. In this respect the Allegheny children are better provided for than those in Pittsburgh, as the visitors to the homes in Glenfield and Sewickley and the Perrysville Avenue day nursery are restricted to children from the North Side, and the Lillian home of Kingsley house is the only place yet secured for the children of Pittsburgh. The children will be taken for periods of from 10 days to two weeks, and in each case will be accompanied by their mothers. So complete have the arrangements been made that it is expected the meeting this morning will be the only meeting of the committee which will be necessary.

Meeting for Final Arrangements.

A special meeting of the chairmen of the summer playgrounds and all the members of the playground and vacation school committees, will be held on Thursday morning, June 23, at 10 o'clock, in the assembly room of the Twentieth Century club house. At that time final arrangements for the opening and conducting of the summer playgrounds and vacation schools will be announced. The playgrounds are expected to open on Tuesday morning, July 5.

Meeting of Directors.

The board of directors of the Civic club of Allegheny county will hold its regular monthly meeting on Saturday morning, June 25, at 11 o'clock, in the Twentieth Century club house, Duquesne way.

Outing of Business Women's Club.

The Business Women's club has arranged to take its annual outing this year with the Sunday school of St. Andrew's Protestant Episcopal church. They will go to Cascade park on Wednesday, June 29. The committee appointed by the club to take charge of the arrangements includes Mrs. John Cowley, chairman; Miss Mary Gorman, Miss Irene McDermott, Miss Helen Voegtly, Miss Dora Schindler, Miss Elizabeth Saxter, Miss Nina Gates, Miss Katherine Meyers, Miss Stella Bellstein, Miss C. Cauner, Miss M. Deckfield, Miss M. Cording and Mrs. Robert J. Cleland.

Women Made $1,000.

A special meeting of the New Era club will be held next Friday afternoon at the Central Young Women's Christian association building, when it is expected that the entertainment committee will announce $1,000 as the proceeds from the garden party held last week. The many sub-committees have not all reported the amounts received in the different booths, but the euchre in the afternoon was so successful, 450 women being in attendance, and some of the other individual attractions reaped such large amounts, $116 being taken in in the amusement hall, with similarly large amounts at the ice cream tables and with the gate receipts amounting to $200, the members of the executive committee believe that $1,000 will be cleared after all the expenses have been paid. This amount will then be divided between the three philanthropic objects in which the club is interested—the juvenile court, the summer playgrounds and vacations schools and the Soho public bath and wash house fund.

Tourist Club in the Country.

The Tourist club has deferred its picnic which was to have been held at the home of Miss Marion Gaston yesterday until next Friday. The club will spend the afternoon at Miss Gaston's home in the country opposite Sewickley.

One Killed In New England Wreck.

HAS TRIED BOTH

Travel for Health vs. Dieting.

A man who was sent to Europe for his health and finally found cure in a little change in his diet says:

"I was troubled with dyspepsia for five years and two doctors here in Kenosha that treated me for over a year both told me there was no help for me. Then I had an expert from Chicago, but still received no relief; then followed another expert from Chicago who came to our house two times a month for four months. He gave me up like all the others and told me to take a trip across the ocean, which I did in the year 1898, and came home about as bad as when I started. The doctors told me my stomach lining was full of sores. Then I began to study my own case and learned of the diet recommended by the Postum Cereal Co. So I gave up coffee, pork and all greasy foods and began using Postum Food Coffee. Gradually I got better and better until I am well now as I ever was in my younger days, have no trouble and eat anything fit to eat.

"Sometimes away from home I am persuaded to drink coffee but I only take a sip of it for it tastes bitter and disagreeable to me but the longer I use Postum the better I like it and the better I feel. I could say a great deal more of my experience with Postum but think this will give everyone a good idea of what leaving off coffee and using Postum can do." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

SOCIETY

FEW brides have received a warmer or prettier welcome into Pittsburgh society than that which was accorded Mrs. Patrick Cochrane Campbell yesterday, when her mother-in-law, Mrs. William Pendleton Campbell of Forbes street gave a luncheon in her honor at the Hotel Schenley. Mrs. Campbell came to Pittsburgh as an April bride, having been Miss Martha Campbell of Cincinnati before her marriage. She and her husband are now at home in the Iroquois apartments. Mrs. Campbell and her guest of honor, with the younger woman's grandmother, Mrs. Martha B. Coleman, who makes her home with the bride and bridegroom, received together. They were assisted by the two daughters of the hostess, Miss Jeannette Campbell and Miss Alice Campbell. Mrs. William Campbell wore a gown of black crepe de chine and point lace with pearls. Mrs. Coleman appeared in a black lace robe, while the guest of honor wore her wedding gown of Renaissance lace hung over satin. She carried a bouquet of American Beauty roses. Miss Jeannette Campbell was gowned in white crepe de chine and duchess lace, her sister wearing white point d'esprit trimmed with green and white ribbon rosebuds.

The guests, 34 in number, were seated at one long table in the private dining room on the second floor of the hotel. The table was in dumb-bell shape, having in its center a very tall vase of American Beauty roses and at each end a low mound of the crimson flowers. The place cards were exquisite little sketches of scenery in Colorado and Wyoming and Oregon done in water colors by Miss Alice Campbell, who, with her father, brother and his fiancee, toured the western part of the country a couple of years ago.

Wedding Rehearsal and Supper.

The rehearsal for the wedding of Miss Letta May Hutson, daughter of the Rev. J. S. Hutson, D. D., and Mrs. Hutson, and Henry L. Carspecken will take place this evening in the new Beth Eden Baptist church in Allegheny, the wedding tonight being the first in the new church building. After the rehearsal Miss Sophie Carspecken, an aunt of the bridegroom, gave a supper for members of the bridal party. Miss Hutson presented each of her attendants with a pretty little gold bar pin. The decorations were of pink roses. Among the guests were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hutson, Jr., of Whitewater, Wis., and Mrs. John Gleason of Morgantown W Va., who are being entertained by Miss Carspecken over the wedding. In addition to the maid of honor, the bridesmaids, the ushers and the best man, Frederick Hutson, a member of the Ohio State university, there will be two little flower bearers, Miss Helen Hutson and Herbert Hutson, a niece and nephew of the bride. Among the numerous social affairs that have been given for the bride during the past week a dinner which Miss Carspecken gave on Friday evening, when the guests were the 15 young women in the Beth Eden Baptist church class, Miss Hortense Paulim of Clifton avenue, Allegheny, gave a dinner on Wednesday evening and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hutson entertained in the same manner on Saturday evening at the Union club.

Will Wed a Detroit Man.

The wedding of Miss Armilla Grace Helbling and Peter Nicholas Lauer of Detroit will take place Thursday morning at 9 o'clock in the Roman Catholic Church of the Sacred Heart. Miss Helbling is a daughter of Mrs. Elizabeth B. Helbling of Lehigh avenue, East End. She will be given away by her brother, Regis Helbling, and her sister, Miss Esther Mercedes Helbling, will be the maid of honor. A cousin, Miss Marion Elliott Vogel, will be the bridesmaid. The best man will be Alfred A. Schrats of Detroit. After the ceremony a reception and wedding breakfast will be given at the home of the bride's mother for the immediate relatives.

European Travelers Leave Today.

Miss Jean Stone and Miss Margaret Stone will leave Pittsburgh this evening for Baltimore, whence they will sail tomorrow on the Neckar, Mrs. William A. Stone, their mother, will leave the city early this morning for Cresson to attend the closing exercises at Mt. Aloysius academy, where Miss Isabel Stone, a younger daughter, is a pupil. Before returning to her home in Allegheny Mrs. Stone and Miss Isabella Stone will visit Mrs. Percy Hickling in Washington, D. C., and on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday of next week will attend the centennial celebration of Tioga county in Wellsborough, the county seat. Ex-Gov. Concerts at the Conservatory.

Commencement week at the Pittsburgh Conservatory of Music, in Dithridge street, was inaugurated by two concerts yesterday, one in the morning and one in the evening, both of them well attended by pupils and the general public. The morning concert was by representatives of the piano department, while the evening concert was by representatives of the voice department, under the direction of Mr. Frezl, the principal voice instructor. The participants in the morning recital were the Misses Marjorie Lowentritt, Mildred Griffin, Mary Jeffreys, Ruth Kaufman, Edith Kelly, Gladys Fleming, Eugenia Senn, Mary Hukill, Rebecca Hays, Frances Ferguson, Jeanette Houston, Helen Scully, Maude Harris, Margaret Leonard, Edna Pickles, Eva Fouk, Eleanor Hambly, Alice Hoerr, Mabel Moss and Vaughan Hunter, with Archie Martin and Rowland Wilson. Those who took part in the concert in the evening were the Misses Mary Milligan, Stella Armstrong, Helen Potts, Hilolee Hays, Anita McFall, Pearl Clapper, Fallie McKinley, Frances Casey and Emma Foltz, and Mrs. W. J. Froelich and Mrs. H. R. Stuart.

It is announced that the Chopin recital, to have been given by Miss Kurtz on Friday evening, will be given on Thursday evening instead, and on Friday evening Mr. Webster and the faculty of the conservatory will give a reception to the students and their friends.

Mrs. Sorg Will Be Hostess.

Mrs. Paul Arthur Sorg of Middletown, O., who is at the Hotel Schenley, having come here for the wedding of her son, Paul Arthur Sorg, and Miss Grace Watson Auil, will give a dinner for the bride and bridegroom and the members of the bridal party this evening at the Monongahela club. Owing to the recent death of Maj. Auil's father, Maj. and Mrs. Auil will not entertain for their daughter, and for the same reason there will be no reception after the church ceremony tomorrow evening.

After a visit of two days at Ingleside farm, the Auil's country place in Glencairn, the members of the bridal party returned yesterday afternoon. They went up to the farm on Sunday morning, chaperoned by Mr. and Mrs. John Albert Auil an Mr. and Mrs. Wilmer Martin. The quaint little farm house was opened for their use and a visit was made to the larger brick mansion across the fields. After their return Miss Sorg, who is to be one of the ushers, gave a dinner at the Monongahela club for the party.

COURT OPENS UP HIGGINS' ESTATE

Damaging Testimony Against Men Charged With Torturing Henry Davidson.

DONNER CASE IS ON TRIAL

Judge Miller has opened up the account and permitted two daughters of the late Michael Higgins to file exceptions to their mother's administration of the estate, which is valued at from $60,000 to $70,000. The exceptions will be filed by Mrs. Martin Leonard and Mrs. Kate Waters to the account of Mrs. Catherine Higgins. The daughters allege that valuable property in Foks street, known as Higgins & Son's metal yard, was not accounted for, although a partnership existed between the father and son. This property, they say, is worth from $30,000 to $50,000. The account was filed December 2, 1902, and confirmed January 16, 1903. They only discovered the alleged situation since their brother, John P. Higgins, died, leaving the partnership property to another brother, Lawrence.

Judge Miller decided that as they were not apprised of the filing of the account, nor represented by attorneys, they can now file exceptions. Watterson & Reed represent the exceptants. This is the begining of what will be a big legal fight for many thousands of dollars. Attorneys Ralph & Kessler represent the estate.

Before Judge Frazer in criminal court George Anderson and Robert Fry were placed on trial on a charge of burglary. William Graham, one of the gang, who pleaded guilty to the charge last Thursday, was the chief witness for the prosecution, and he gave some very damaging testimony. The men on trial were indicted with Graham, James Murphy and John Keys, but the latter two were never captured. The men are charged with having robbed and tortured Henry Davidson of West Deer township, father of Harry Davidson, delinquent tax collector of Allegheny, on the night of December 2, 1903, and the case is being prosecuted by Assistant District Attorney John S. Robb and Attorney Harry Davidson, and the defense is represented by Attorneys Ralph P. Tannehill and I. A. Gumbert. When court adjourned the commonwealth had finished its side of the case and the defense will open this morning.

Graham told of the plans of the robbery, made on the night of December 1. He then said the gang met at a school house the next night and later went to the Davidson house, where the door was broken in. The witness said he and Murphy were detailed to keep watch on the first floor and ransack it. This was done, but nothing found. The rest of the gang were upstairs and did the torturing and robbing. This, he said, was done by Keys and Anderson.

Mr. Davidson said he had retired about 10 o'clock in the evening and had been sleeping two or three hours when the robbers came. He identified the defendants as two of the gang, but said they were not the ones who put candles to his feet and burned him.

Mary Porter, one of Davidson's nieces, in the house at the time of the robbery with another niece, Rachael Holmes, also identified the men as two of the gang. The women were wrapped in mattresses and threatened with death by burning if they did not reveal the hiding place of the money which was thought to be in the house.

All that was secured by the robbers was a watch and chain valued at $25 and about $12 in money.

A. S. Munroe was acquitted of a charge of larceny and William Long was convicted of receiving stolen goods. The men were charged by H. M. Pratt with stealing a lot of iron pipe from Allegheny county. An indictment against John Carfine was quashed. He was alleged to have attempted to criminally assault Effie, the 4-year-old daughter of Peter Lisi.

Judge Marshall Brown in common pleas court No. 1, is trying the equity suit brought by Frank Donner against William H. Donner for an accounting of an interest in the Standard Steel Company and affiliated corporations. The steel company has its main plant at Donora and is now owned by the United States Steel Corporation. The defendant, a brother of the plaintiff, conceived the idea of erecting the large industry, and after submitting plans to A. W. and R. B. Mellon, received sufficient financial backing to erect them into sucessful operation.

The plaintiff came from the west to accept a position in the Donora plant. He claims he should share pro rata with his brother in the proceeds received from the sale of the plant and associated interests, and believes he should have at least $250,000.

He asks an accounting on that basis. His wife was one of the witnesses and detailed many meetings between her husband and his brother in her presence, at which the latter refused to agree to anything. Her husband understand that he was to have at least $20,000 worth of stock in the enterprise. Her husband, she said, wanted to invest $50,000 of his money in the venture, but the defendant replied that the corporation was a very close one and that it was doubtful if he could get him any stock at all. She said the defendant finally agreed to take $20,000 worth for her husband and said he would get the certificates as soon as he could get the Mellons together for a meeting. The case is still on trial.

PRUDENTIAL MUST PAY.

Contractor Issues Big Execution Against a Trust Company on a Guarantee.

In common pleas court No. 1, an execution for $29,725 has been issued against the Prudential Trust Company. The execution was issued on a judgment entered against the trust company in the suit in which the plaintiffs are Arthur Machin and Frank Brown, trading as Machin & Brown, for use of Francis Shubert, for use of Samuel B. Vrooman, assignee, for the benefit of the creditors of John C. Cottingham.

The action involved a contract for the erection of apartment houses at Craft avenue and Kentucky alley for the Monongahela Investments Corporation, Machin & Brown of Philadelphia being the contractors. The trust company, it was alleged, had guaranteed to pay the contractors $50,000 on the completion of the contract. The suit was entered on May 6 last, and an answer filed on May 24. A rule was granted for judgment for want of sufficient affidavit of defense, and after argument was made absolute and the judgment entered against the trust company.

In the answer filed by the trust company it was set forth that the payment of the amount was dependent on a number of conditions in the contract which had been violated, it was alleged, by the plaintiff firm.

The Monongahela Investment Co. it was set forth in the answer, had given a first mortgage on the property of $200,000 and the defendant company had agreed to take a second mortgage for $40,000. The defendant then alleged the contractors agreed to have the buildings completed within eight months before either of the mortgages fell due.

The plaintiff firm, it was averred, should have completed the contract by April 23, 1905, but it was January, 1904, before they finished. The answer then continues: By reason of said default the first mortgage of $200,000 against the premises is now being overdue, and the mortgagee named therein is about to proceed to foreclose the same, by which foreclosure the defendant would not only be left without security for the additional advances for which the suit is brought, but would suffer the loss of the advances already made on account of the $40,000 mortgage.

The trust company assigned several other reasons for making the amount not payable, among them that the plaintiff had agreed not to file liens against the property, but had since done so. The other plaintiffs become parties to the suit by the assignment of the amount in question.

O'Mara's Case Postponed.

In criminal court yesterday the cases against Eddie Kennedy, Harry Donald and Richard Wiseman, charged with riot by Roger O'Mara, were postponed until July 11. The trio, it is alleged, created a riot in Fifth avenue on New Year's day. Judge Kennedy and Elliott Rodgers are determined that no cases will be heard where the men are out on bail, as the jail is too full. The alleged rioters are out on bail.

LEGAL BRIEFS.

A petition in bankruptcy was filed by R. E. and C. L. Weschler of Erie. The debts of the firm are given as $22,757, with assets amounting to $19,275 55.

Common pleas court No. 3 authorized the Rt. Rev. Richard Phelan, trustee of the Roman Catholic Church of the Immaculate Heart of Mary, to place a mortgage on the church property on the corner of Bryan and Thirtieth street, to secure a $100,000 loan. The trustee is required to give a bond of $200,000 before executing the mortgage. The mortgage will be given to a New York institution.

The following executions were issue yesterday: J. Henry Lunz vs. Marie Coyne et al, $84; Clarence Pettit vs. Bozo Kosorvich, $22 36; M. G. Sanes vs. Patrick J. Quinn, $225; Charles Schofield, receiver, vs. Alfred Turner, $389 41; A. B. Longacre vs. J. Clayton Miller et al, $176; E. S. Trauerman Co. vs. H. C. Fitton, $391 25; Federal National Bank of Pittsburgh vs. L. E. Hedges, $2,536 72; C. Webster vs. R. E. Hughes, $75; Machin & Brown use vs. Prudential Trust Company, $28,725.

MAYOR MUST SIGN BANK AGREEMENTS

Special Session of Councils This Week to Enact More Legislation.

HAYS AGAIN IN PREDICAMENT

A special meeting of common council will be held Thursday night, and of select council Friday afternoon to approve agreements to carry into effect the resolution appointing the city depositories for four years, beginning the first of next February. The depositories, which were selected by councils at their last meeting, are the Allegheny National bank, the Second National bank, the Columbia National bank and the Farmers Deposit National bank.

The agreement will be presented to the finance committee this afternoon and be reported by the finance committee to common council Thursday night. They will take exactly the same course as did the resolution appointing the depositories. The agreements are intended to clich the previous action by councils and to provide against any question of legality that may be raised by the controller, or by any of the banks which failed to be appointed.

Mayor Hays will be called upon to sign the agreements in behalf of the city. When he heard this yesterday the mayor was very much displeased. "I thought I would not have anything to do with the matter," said he. "The resolution appointing the banks was not sent to me for my signature and I thought I was out of the affair for good."

Mayor Weaver was one of those chiefly interested in the passage of the bank resolution and the mayor had agreed with the controller in declaring that the passage of the resolution by councils was not legal. To save him the embarrassment of meeting the issue direct the resolution was not sent to the mayor and he felt considerably relieved. He now finds himself in the same predicament, for if he signs the agreements it will be the same as signing the resolution appointing the banks.

It is the intention of the banks not to lose any time in consummating the deal with the city, and to put the matter through as speedily as possible it was decided to call councils in special session this week, instead of waiting only five days until the regular meeting next week.

The finance committee will also approve at its meeting this afternoon the resolution transferring $5,000 from the appropriation for the retaining wall in Second avenue to the Filipino entertainment fund. Action will also be taken on the resolution directing the city solicitor to take steps to purchase the Monongahela water works. This resolution will be adopted by councils before July 12 to placate the South Side, but Director Bigelow says the city has the right to purchase the plant until the contract with the company expires, in December, 1906.

The ordinance amending the ordinance authorizing the $1,122,278 bond issue for the payment of judgments against the city will be sent to councils by the committee with an affirmative recommendation this week.

Two other important committees are also called to meet this afternoon—corporations and public safety.

The work of organizing the miners, especially in the Connellsville region, is being pushed vigorously. National Organizer Edward McKay will spend this week in the Mercer field. NEW YORK STOCKS IRREGULAR, PRICES AVERAGING LOWER Steel Preferred, Southern Pacific and Manhattan Closed Firm and Higher—Further Advance in Pittsburgh Coal Preferred.

By JOHN O. BAGLIN, Financial Editor.

There was considerable irregularity in the New York stock market yesterday, with the close showing the average of prices slightly lower, although there were some strong spots in the market. On the whole, however, the movements were not important. London prices for American securities came higher, which influenced the market here at the opening, and initial quotations were generally at small gains over Saturday's close. Then the market became dull and irregular, a few stocks displaying strength while the majority slowly declined.

United States Steel preferred was one of the strongest stocks on the list, and after opening at 54½ to 54⅝ advanced to 65¼. The sinking fund bonds advanced to 74⅜. The publication of a statement that the steel rail pool was scheduled to meet this month, and the statement credited to a director of the Steel corporation that no change would be made in prices, standard sections being held for the coming year at $28 a ton, possibly had some effect upon market sentiment. Such action as maintaining the price of rails would probably be construed as confidence on the part of the corporation in a revival of demand later in the year, and possibly a rush of orders early next year. There was also a report, which is quoted for what it is worth, that some influential capitalists in Pittsburgh are now buying Steel preferred on the theory that even if the dividend were reduced the stock was already too low. Amalgamated Copper also opened firm and advanced to 50⅝, but did not hold the gain, declining to and closing at 50¼, a slight net decline for the day. The remainder of the industrial list was dull and neglected.

Southern Pacific was the strongest of the railroad list, opening at 45⅛ and advancing to 46⅝. From this point there was a slight decline, but the stock again rallied and closed at 46 bid. The movement was credited to shorts covering. Wall street professionals are still bearish on the proposition to bear preferred stock, but the best buying of Southern Pacific since the announcement of the financial scheme has apparently been by insiders. Union Pacific advanced to 81⅜, but later reacted to 81⅛ and closed at 81¼. The specialties in the remainder of the railroad list did not cover 1 per cent; in some instances they were less than ½ per cent. The tone at the opening was firm, but in the majority of stocks the closing prices were at or near the lowest of the day.

A feature of the traction group was the extreme weakness in Metropolitan Street Railway, which declined from 111½ to 109¾ and closed at 110¾. While this movement was in progress Manhattan advanced from 146¾ to 143½, and closed at 147¼. Brooklyn Rapid Transit advanced to 49½, but did not hold the gain. The only gossip to account for the weakness in Metropolitan was to the effect that the annual report of the company was likely to be more unfavorable than expected.

Very little news developed to influence prices all day. Railroad earnings were, as a rule, favorable, but in no particular instance was the exhibit striking enough to cause special acteation. It was remarked how little interest Wall street appeared to be taking in the Chicago convention, but this may be accounted for by the fact that the nominee of the convention is not in doubt, and the chief interest that will attach to the work of the convention is the make-up of the platform. It is likely to be different when the St. Louis convention meets next month.

The money market is so easy that it attracts no attention, except when a new low rate is quoted on time loans. Funds are now offering to carry the borrowing over the first two weeks of next January at the lowest rate quoted for several years, indicating that lenders do not look for any radical change in the situation; but in order to obtain these extremely low rates, first-class New York stock exchange collateral is required.

Commodity markets were irregular. Cotton again declined and closed at the low point of the day. The entire Chicago list, on the other hand, advanced and closed at net gains. The rise in wheat was based upon purely speculative conditions, although there were reports that rains in Southern Kansas, where harvesting had begun, were interfering with field work. The first cutting of the new wheat arrived in St. Louis yesterday and sold at auction at $1.03 a bushel. In the corn belt the weather was reported extremely favorable for the growing crop.

On the Pittsburgh stock exchange the feature was the strength in Pittsburgh Coal preferred, which advanced another dollar a share to 58 and closed at 57⅞ bid. River Coal preferred sold unchanged at 21¾. No dealings occurred in the common stocks of these companies. Westinghouse Electric was also firm and advanced to 78 bid at the close, but no stock changed hands all day. The natural gas stocks were slightly lower, while the steel stocks remained dull and unchanged.

NATIONAL BANK "ROLL OF HONOR."

The fourteenth annual roll of honor of the national banks of the United States, prepared by the Financier of New York, appears with this week's issue of that publication. The record presented shows that 684 banks out of 5,642 institutions organized under the national system had, according to the reports of the comptroller of the currency, stating their condition as of September 9, 1903, an excess of surplus and undivided profits over and above their capital. This number of banks is greater by 92 than the number which was enrolled for the corresponding period in 1902; moreover it shows that those banks entitled to this honorable enrollment constitute 13.56 per cent of the institutions organized at the above mentioned date. Pittsburgh has 15 banks in the Financier's roll, the rank of which is determined by the percentage of surplus and undivided profits to capital, as follows:

NOTES AND COMMENT.

It is street opinion that part of the advance in Pittsburgh Coal preferred is based upon shorts covering. During the period when lake traffic was tied up and shipments of coal interrupted, local traders became very bearish on the stock, and although the market remained very narrow and the dealings light, it is thought that a considerable percentage of the sales for two months past represented short stock. There has been a scarcity of offerings, and now that lake shipments have been actively resumed, there is no pressure of the stock for sale, and very little offering from any source. Coal preferred is now about 3 points above Steel preferred, and as the dividend periods are the same, traders feel that either Steel preferred will advance or Pittsburgh Coal preferred react until the stocks are quoted at an approximate parity.

Crucible Steel common was quoted at 4¼ bid, no stock offering. The preferred sold unchanged at 33 and closed offered at that price.

Ohio Fuel Supply declined to 37 and closed at that price bid. Manufacturers Light and Heat was a shade lower at 30⅛, closing at that price bid. A small lot of Philadelphia Company changed hands at 38, which was unchanged. Peoples Natural Gas and Pipage was quoted at 20 bid. This latter company has declared a quarterly dividend of 2 per cent, payable July 15 to stock of record July 10.

There were no dealings in the Westinghouse stocks yesterday. Airbrake closed at 127 bid. The Switch and Signal dividends are expected this week.

"Investor" addresses the following to this department: "It is a question of considerable importance to investors why industrial stocks are selling at such low values as at present in comparison to railroad stocks. Railroads are dependent upon the industrial conditions of the country; they suffer equally during business depression from earnings standpoint with industrials, and as a rule are more heavily bonded, and yet values are maintained regardless of dividends, while the industrials are permitted to sell much below what might be considered reasonable values. No doubt the railroad stocks are better protected by inside interests, while industrials are permitted to take care of themselves." A fair comment upon what our correspondent regards as unusual would be that industrials are passing through exactly the same experience as the great majority of railroads 10 years ago. Many of the latter passed through one or more periods of receiverships and were finally reorganized on their present basis. It is within easy recollection when Atchison common, for instance, sold at 3, Baltimore & Ohio at 9, Union Pacific at 3½, Missouri Pacific at 10, the Reading issues below the actual cash paid in at the time of reorganization, and even a standard investment stock like St. Paul sold below 54 in 1895. It is the fear that the industrial stocks will be compelled to go through reorganizations, just as the railroads were in the early nineties, that accounts for the relatively low prices now quoted. Railroad and industrial stocks are affected alike by business conditions, but the public knows what railroad stocks were able to do in 1896, 1897 and 1898—years of severe depression—after they had been reorganized. It is true that industrials are now allowed to take care of themselves, but it is not true that railroad stocks are relatively higher because they are protected by insiders.

The Philadelphia News Bureau says: In view of the fact that Senator Quay's will directs that his estate be sold, it is conjectured that the weakness in the New York passenger stocks may have been aided by selling for the Quay estate. The late senator's holdings of passenger railways, while not large as holdings go, were large enough when put on a market like the present to affect prices somewhat.

Returns of Chicago banks and trust companies as of June 9 show the deposits to be the largest in the history of that city. Since about the end of March deposits have increased more than $19,000,000 and the total held in 14 national banks and 30 state banks at the close of business June 9 was nearly $540,000,000. The total loans of the banks now are about $1,500,000 less than they were in March, and the cash resources are $18,000,000 higher. The total deposits, loans and cash resources of the 14 national and 30 state banks in the city of Chicago as of June 9, and the changes from the totals of the last preceding statements show:

The Excelsior Express and Standard Cab Company has declared a dividend of 3 per cent, payable July 1.

The gross earnings of Southern Railway for the second week in June increased $16,000.

The directors of the Corn Products Company are scheduled to meet today in New York for the purpose of acting on the quarterly dividend on the preferred stock. "The regular rate will be paid at the usual date," said an officer of the company yesterday.

It is understood that the Lake Shore & Michigan Southern 4 per cent debenture bonds syndicate has been closed with a profit of something over 2 per cent and interest at 4 per cent on syndicate's money during the operation. This is the syndicate that took the $40,000,000 of 25-year debenture bonds purchased by J. P. Morgan & Co. from the Lake Shore road a few months ago.

The statement of a leading interest identified with the Metropolitan will perhaps throw some light on its affairs. He said: "It is conceded that the Metropolitan Street Railway is not earning its full 7 per cent dividend, but Metropolitan Securities Company guarantees that and there need be no fear of its payment. How long can the guarantee be maintained? Oh, a dozen or 15 years. There are $30,000,000 to draw on, half of which has been paid in by Metropolitan Securities shareholders, and the remainder of which is subject to call at any time."

"The Law of Banks and Trust Companies in Pennsylvania" is the title of a large volume compiled by W. T. Tredway, of the Pittsburgh bar. The book contains 267 pages divided into 11 chapters, and a copious index makes it possible to instantly refer to any desired subject. It is the only work of the kind published in Pennsylvania, and it is rendered especially valuable because it brings down to the year 1904 the decisions of the courts on the subject of banks and banking in this state. It will be useful not only to practitioners who represent banks and trust companies, but also to officers of the latter, and to correspondent banks in cities outside the state.

In the New York market United States new registered 4s declined ½ per cent. Other issues were unchanged.

It is hoped that the United States Steel Corporation can become an operating company on January 1, 1905. This date was definitely fixed last fall and the progress will be carried out if it is at all possible. The consolidation of the Carnegie Steel Company, National Steel Company and American Steel Hoop Company on April 1, 1903, the consolidation of the constituent companies of the latter, the consolidation of the American Tin Plate Company and American Sheet Steel Company on December 31, 1903, and the consolidation of the Lorain Steel Company of Ohio and the National Tube Company, which will be technically completed yet, have all been steps in carrying out the general program. The principal business of the company outside of crude materials and transport, is now carried on by five companies that control Illinois Wire Tube and Sheet. The corporate entities of the Union Steel Company and Clairton Steel Company will have to be retained for some time, but this will not interfere, since the works can be leased to the operating company. In the case of Union this has already been done, to certain subsidiaries. The coke, ore and transportation companies may not be brought into the combination, but inasmuch as the coke and ore properties can be absorbed, but the transportation properties will remain independent. This is a necessity which is not peculiar to the Steel Corporation, as even a small steel works maintains its own "terminal" railroad as a means of getting a division of the freights with the trunk lines, and of charging shippers into the properties with excess freights. This will include and importance of the terminal railroad industry is not fully appreciated by the public. The consolidation of the operating properties is a herculean task, from a variety of considerations. There are difficulties of practical operation and difficulties on account of certain securities outstanding. Another difficulty lies in the form of the mortgage securing the original Steel Corporation bonds, which Andrew Carnegie and certain of his partners received for their interests in the Carnegie company. This mortgage is on the stocks of the subsidiary companies as they stood on April 1, 1903, when the Corporation was formally launched. A unique feature, which has not been exploited, shows how careful Andrew Carnegie was that no changes should be made detrimental to his interest. This feature is the voting power of the Steel Corporation on the stock of the subsidiary companies ceases the moment the interest on the bonds becomes in arrears. Carnegie provided not only that he should receive interest monthly, declining to wait three months for it, but that a default in interest should immediately tie up the whole Steel Corporation so that it could not vote the stocks of the subsidiary companies and therefore could not control the policies. Improvements are now made in regard to increasing liens against the properties, etc.—Philadelphia News Bureau.

PENN AVENUE PROPERTY SOLD

George B. Barrett Purchases No. 636 for $75,000, Raising the Record.

KREB'S HOUSE BRINGS $35,000

Dr. R. H. M. Mackenzie has sold to George B. Barrett, the wholesale jeweler, the property at 636 Penn avenue, for $75,000. Dr. Mackenzie purchased the property about a year ago for $60,000, so that the deal would net him $15,000 on the consideration had been all cash. The lot is 20x90 feet, facing on the south side of Penn avenue, opposite the Second Presbyterian church, and is improved with an old brick residence. In part payment Mr. Barrett is reported to have tendered a three-story brick apartment house on a lot 40x132 feet, on the South side of Wallace avenue, between Hay and Pitt streets, First ward, Wilkinsburg. This building was put into the deal at $25,000. It was erected four years ago and contains six flats of five rooms and bath each. The flats rent for $43 33 a month. The deal makes a new record price for the Penn avenue property, $3,750 a front foot, or $62.50 a square foot. The McCook holdings at 634-636 Penn avenue sold last year for $4,500 a front foot, or $84 50 a square foot, but the lot measured 40x111 feet. It is not known whether the Mackenzie holdings will be improved or not.

Residence Property Purchased.

Another Fifth avenue residence has changed owners for $53,000, the deal having been negotiated by John Armstrong of the Humphrey Armstrong Company. The property sold belonged to Edward Keelan and was bought by an East End woman for a home. It is situated on the north side of Fifth avenue, between Neville street and Cable place, Twenty-ninth ward. The lot measures 97x200 feet and is improved with a modern two-and-a-half-story brick house, built eight years ago, a brick and stone stable and a large greenhouse. The residence faces the Hostetter holdings, which have lately been traded and improved. The Humphrey-Armstrong Company, which has opened a fine office at 506 Bijou building, has two more good sized transactions under way which may be announced this week.

Second avenue property attracted attention again yesterday by the sale of 209 for $35,000. The purchaser is Ella Proctor, who owns 207, and she purchased 209 from Elizabeth Wolf. The property measures 20x66 feet and faces on the north side of Second avenue, 100 feet Market street. The house is a three-story pressed brick, handsomely finished, and is considered one of the best residences in the locality. The price paid for property cost the buyer $1,750 a front foot, or $21 50 a square foot.

Building Operations Figured.

Building operations in the city continue to show much activity when compared with real estate transfers. The receipts of all kinds of local architects for bids this week. Architects McCollum & Dowler will take bids in a few days on the six-story fireproof brick hotel to be erected by Peter Shields on the public square at Butler, Pa., at a cost of $100,000. The hotel will be far the finest in Butler county and one of the best in Western Pennsylvania. The same architects are taking bids on the bank and office fixtures for the First National bank of Columbus, O., to cost $50,000. Architects Robinson & Winkler are taking bids on a six-room brick house in Brakeville, to cost $40,000. H. H. Adams is taking bids on a three-story brick store and apartment building in Ditbridge street to cost $15,000. Architect H. J. Lohman and McKeesport are taking bids on a three-story brick store building for Mrs. Josephine Nixon in Flowers avenue, Hazelwood, to cost $15,000. Architect Edward Stotz is getting estimates on the laundry and boiler houses to be erected by Mercy hospital in Locust street.

Among the building contracts awarded recently are: The Widows Home, to John H. Trimble & Brother, a three-story brick building in Arch street, Allegheny, $25,000; architect R. Maurice Trimble to Ross K. Sefton, a brick chapel for the Twelfth United Presbyterian church in Western avenue, Allegheny, to cost $10,000; Architect T. Edward Cornelius to A. Wishart & Sons Company, a three-story flat in Orchard avenue, Avalon, to cost $15,500; Architects A. Dudgeon & Son to S. L. Smith & Co., an apartment house for Frank McCombat in Penn and Trenton avenues, Wilkinsburg, to cost $25,000.

Want Licenses for Architects.

The members of licenses for architects is again being discussed in local building circles and it is likely that some action may be taken. Several times within the past three years the local architects' associations have advocated the passing of a state law requiring every architect desiring to practice in this city to have a license or pass a state examination. A similar law is on the statute books of Ohio and Indiana and is said to be very satisfactory. All efforts to get the Pennsylvania legislature interested in such a movement have failed, but architects are determined, it is said, to get a city ordinance passed if they cannot secure state legislation.

At present it is said there are many so-called architects in business in Greater Pittsburgh who are not graduates of any reputable school and who have had no previous experience in designing buildings. These men violate all the professional etiquette, it is said, in underbidding on jobs and often are responsible for the make-shift buildings that are a menace to the health and safety of their occupants. With a rigid state law or city ordinance a high standard of competence could be maintained and a more satisfactory understanding between the architects could be had.

Carnegie Transaction of $20,000.

The sale is reported of Fife's plan of lots in the Second ward, Carnegie, for $20,000, the buyer being Samuel Gamble of Carnegie. There are about 150 lots in the plan and the buyer, it is reported, will at once improve the property by building 10 houses.

Springboro: Vet. L. Brown sold for R. F. Wilcox & Co. of Conneautville, to Howard J. Watkins of Pittsburgh, a farm of 185 acres in Beaver township, near Springboro, Crawford county, Pa., for $8,000. In exchange Mr. Watkins tendered a 12-room brick house on a lot 44x120 feet, in Josephine street, East McKeesport.

Ellis avenue: T. C. Allison sold for H. J. Rockenstein to George P. Eckert, 2717 Ellis avenue, a frame house on a lot 24x150 feet, for $5,100.

Homer street: Andrew R. Robinson sold to Willis A. Booth an improved lot, 32x132 feet, on the south side of Homer street, near Heath street, Nineteenth ward, for $5,000.

Patterson: A. L. Patterson sold to John P. Lawthers an improved lot 25x88 feet, in Sixth avenue, near McClure street, Fourth ward, for $7,500.

Collins avenue: John H. Taylor sold to James McHugh an improved lot, 30x129 feet, at the southwest corner of Collins avenue and Rodman street, Nineteenth ward, for $7,250.

COFFEE GOES HIGHER; BUTTER IS UNCHANGED

New Potatoes Are Very Low. Cattle Prices Drop—Peaches Are Advanced.

There was a general firmness in nearly all commercial markets yesterday. In accord with last week's statements regarding the coffee situation, advances went into effect yesterday. Standard packages have gone up 50 cents a 100. There was no change in the flour situation. Canned tomatoes are also quoted higher; cereals of patent make are in good demand now. There was no change in butter, supply continuing light and demand fair. Eggs are firm and wanted.

New potatoes went down again yesterday and touched the $3 50 mark. There were 118 cars of stock in the yards yesterday. Old potatoes are nearly exhausted. The berry market was fairly active. Strawberries brought 10 cents on fancy, and as high as 8 cents on choice stock. Huckleberries are in much better demand. Texas peaches came in yesterday in very limited quantities and prices have been raised. The arrivals amounted to only 1,000 crates. There was also a spurt in water melons and prices advanced. Cantaloupes are having a strong market with as yet comparatively few arriving.

The cattle receipts were very heavy at Herrs island yards yesterday, and prices have been reduced after three weeks of unusually strong market conditions. Best cattle are still scarce, however, and are commanding high prices. There was a firm feeling on oats yesterday, although one car of No. 2 for future delivery brought but 46½ cents on change. Oats and wheat straw were wanted, but none was offered. Shelled corn offered at 55 and ear at 89 cents with no bids. Hay will likely drag to the end of the season; It offered at $15 with about $14 bid.

HAY, GRAIN AND FEED.

Receipts bulletined: Pennsylvania, 36 cars hay, 13 cars oats, 2 cars straw, 11 cars corn; Pittsburgh & Lake Erie, 7 cars hay, 1 car oats; Baltimore & Ohio, 13 cars hay, 1 car straw.

Dealers charge an advance of 50c a bushel on grain and $3 00 a ton on hay and millfeed from quotations in less than carload lots.

The Drygoods Market.

NEW YORK, June 20.—The principal feature of the dry goods market has been the announcement of a western jobber quoting prices ¼ cent under agents' latest revisions in several lines of bleached lines and ticks. Business at first hands has been of an indifferent nature, buyers not feeling confidence in the situation.

WHEAT TAKES JUMP ON CHICAGO GRAIN MARKET

Shrinkage in Foreign Crops and Rains in Southwest Helped the Bulls.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

CHICAGO, June 20.—A probable shrinkage of two-thirds in the Roumanian crop was the principal element of strength in the wheat pit today. Rains in the southwest were additional bull factors. At the close September wheat showed a gain of ¾c. September corn is up ⅛c. Oats are ⅛c higher and provisions 17½ to 37½c higher.

A feeling of uncertainty pervaded the wheat pit at the start. Opening quotations on September were a shade higher to ⅛c lower at 79⅜@79½c to 79¾c. July was ⅛@¼c higher to ⅛@⅜c lower at 85⅝@85¾c. There was an active general demand and with only light offerings sentiment soon became quite strong. Weather in the southwest was unfavorable to harvesting, rains being reported in Eastern Nebraska and Kansas with prediction of additional showers. The foreign situation was also bearish. Liverpool cables were higher and the amount on passage showed a decrease of 3,000,000 bushels. Reports from Buchrest indicated an exceedingly small crop of wheat in Roumania, advices stating two-thirds of the crop had been ruined by prolonged drouth.

The anxiety of shorts was increased by reports of rains in the fall of a fair export business. Late in the day fresh strength was derived from advices from the northwest, claiming serious damage would result if wet weather continued. A small market closed almost at the highest point of the session. After selling up to 80¼c September closed at 79⅞@80c. July was up ⅜c at 84⅝@84¾c, after the price had touched 84½c. Clearances of wheat and flour were equal to 61,700 bushels. Primary receipts were 402,500 bushels, compared with 409,200 bushels a year ago. Minneapolis, Duluth and Chicago reported receipts of 361 cars, against 384 cars last week and 410 cars a year ago.

There appeared to be only one factor tending to sustain corn prices, while much in the way of bear news was in evidence, and in the face of very favorable growing weather with large estimated receipts for tomorrow and liberal world's shipments, the strength of wheat prices held the market firm, and there was little doing to do but at less than the closing figures for Saturday. The close showed July unchanged at 47¾c, after starting a shade to ⅛c lower and ranging between 47c and 47¾@48c. September closed ½c higher at 48⅝c, after selling up from 48⅜ to 48⅝c. Local receipts were 425 cars, of which 60 cars were of graded contract.

Strength of bond of new oats in July nearly stifled speculation in that cereal. With but meager stocks in hand traders evinced little desire to press sales in any volume. Trade was dull and featureless all day, closed 38¾c after at 38½c, ranging between 37¾@38c and 38⅝@38¾c, with September up ¼c at 32c, the top price of the day, having sold up from 31½c. Local receipts were 116 cars.

Provisions made a sharp upturn in firm situation in the hog market. Large shipments of hogs which have been for some time expected having failed to materialize, packers and long holders were liberal buyers. Final figures showed a gain of 37½c in September pork at $13 22½, with September lard up 17½@ 18¾c and ribs 10 cents higher at $7 65. Estimated receipts for tomorrow: Wheat, 48 cars; corn, 677 cars; oats, 175 cars; hogs, 18,000 head.

LEVI Z. LEITER'S WILL IS FILED

Entire Estate Is Bequeathed to Widow and Children of Dead Millionaire.

PROVIDES FOR INVESTMENTS

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, June 20.—The will of Levi Z. Leiter, the Chicago millionaire, who died at Bar Harbor, Me., last week, was filed today with the register of wills in this city. It is dated June 1 and names Mary T. Leiter and Joseph Leiter, his widow and son, as executors, and they, together with his daughters, Nancy Lathrop Carver Leiter and Marguerite Hyde Leiter, and Seymour Morris of Chicago, are designated as trustees.

The will leaves one-third of the estate, outside of specific reservation of coal lands in Illinois to the widow, and the rest of the estate for equal distribution among the children. There is nothing in the will which indicates the total value of Mr. Leiter's estate.

After the death of the widow her portion of the estate goes into the general estate, which is distributed equally among the children, except that 7,500 acres of coal lands in Illinois, which is vested in fee simple in Joseph Leiter, the son, as soon as he pays on the amount advanced thereon by the testator. Specific provision is made to guarantee Joseph Leiter an annual income of at least $15,000 under any circumstances, and to ensure him an annual income of $40,000 in any event after the fulfillment of the trust created for the estate under the terms of the will. Chauncey Keep of Chicago is designated as the first person to be offered the first vacancy among the trustees, whose number is fixed at three. Seymour Morris as trustee is given $5,000 a year for such service.

Lady Curzon's Marriage Settlement.

Mention is made of the marriage settlement of $700,000 previously made on one of the daughters, Lady Curzon, in addition to which the will bequeathes $1,000,000 more as a trust fund for her, the total of $1,700,000 to be charged against her as an advancement in the distribution of the estate. The trustees named for this independent fund are Joseph Leiter, Robert T. Lincoln of Chicago, Franklin Nathaniel Curzon of St. Emins Mansions, London, and St. John Fremantle Brodrick of No. 34 Portland place, London.

Except as to the coal lands mentioned, all the rest of the estate, wherever situated, is bequeathed to the widow, Mary T. Leiter, the son Joseph Leiter and the daughters, Nancy Lathrop Carver Leiter and Marguerite Hyde Leiter, and to Seymour Morris as trustees to hold the property and to pay to the widow on her own individual receipt one-third of the net annual income of the entire estate as she may require. Upon her death and during the continuance of the trust her allotted part of the income is to become part of the general residue of the estate and subject to the distribution among the children. The trustees are authorized to pay off encumbrances or make property improvements out of the net income.

The will cites that during his lifetime Mr. Leiter gave the following amounts "in advance": To Lady Curzon, $1,700,000 (including the $1,000,000 she received jointly with Nancy and Marguerite, 1,000 shares of capital stock of the Chicago Railway Company to be valued at $155 a share, and 1,000 shares of the capital stock of the Edison Company of Chicago, to be valued at $145,000, making a total charge against each of $300,000 to be treated as advancements in the division of the income and principal of the trust.

Interest on Advancements.

To Joseph Leiter, the son, advancements partly evidenced by notes signed by him, but canceled and not to be taken into account, and partly evidenced by checks and books, amounting to $2,000,000, the latter to be charged as an advancement. Each of the children is to be charged with 4 per cent interest on advancements beginning with the testator's death, and the total interest is to be added to the two-thirds of the net annual income from the trust estate and to the whole of the annual income after the death of the widow and the said interest is to be divided equally among the four children or their descendants per stirpes.

The will says that Mr. Leiter had purchased title to 7,500 acres of coal lands in Franklin and Williamson counties of Illinois, and certain shares of the capital stock of the Universal Fuel Company, and directs that a corporation may be formed under the Illinois laws to own said lands and with the shares to stand in the place of the lands and the fuel company stock. The trustees are directed to permit Joseph Leiter to manage and control the lands and the dividends and profits are to be applied as a credit on the amount invested in the coal lands, the earnings to bear interest at 5 per cent per annum. Whenever Joseph Leiter repays the estate $1,000,000 in full with interest, the whole amount invested in the coal lands and the fuel company is to be conveyed absolutely to him.

Under the terms of the will the trustees are to hold the estate intact by investing as nearly as practicable, one-half of it in real property and one-half of it in personal property. None of the estate is to pass to any of the children absolutely and the ultimate conveyance away of the property is forbidden until the death of the last surviving member of the testator's immediate family, that is, the widow and the four children. Mrs. Leiter is given all the furnishings of the Leiter residence in this city.

Provides for Investments.

In the provision for the independent trust fund of $1,000,000 for Lady Curzon, the will says that to the trustees named for this purpose, the executors are to pay over in trust, either in money or in bonds, stocks or other forms of the murely personal property belonging to the Leiter estate, to invest and reinvest in good income-yielding securities, the whole of the net annual income thereof to be paid to Lady Curzon (formerly Mary Victoria Leiter), during her life, for her sole use during marriage and upon her sole and separate receipt. She is prohibited from disposing of it "in the way of anticipation," and on her decease it is to go in trust to her husband, and if on her death she leaves one child, the amount is to be divided equally between the husband and child, and if more than one child, then one-third at least is to be given to the husband.

Mr. Leiter provided that the investments under this provision may be made in any public stocks or securities of or guaranteed by the united government of India or other held securities in England and Wales, heritable securities in Scotland, freehold securities in the United States north of the Potomac and Ohio rivers and north and east of the Missouri river, or the stocks, funds, debentures, mortgages of any corporations of the United Kingdom or of the United States paying regular annual dividends on ordinary stock or shares or interest on their obligations, the trustees to have especially in view the security of the investment rather than the rate of interest.

TWO KILLED, MANY HURT IN FALLING BUILDING

Structure Damaged by Tornado Years Ago Carries Inmates to Death.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

KANSAS CITY, MO., June 20.—Two persons were killed and seven others injured, one fatally, here today by the partial collapse of the four-story brick building at Third and Delaware streets, occupied by the Block Preserving Company.

The collapse was caused by overloading. It was at first supposed that a carboy of ammonia had exploded, but this proved to be untrue. One side of the structure, extending its whole length, fell in. There were 50 girls and men on the upper stories at the time, and a panic prevailed among them. Many escaped down the rear fire escape while others were rescued by firemen.

THE DEAD.

BERT BROWN, aged 30, of Joplin, Mo.

LILA ALLEN, aged 13.

Of the injured, Claude Chambers may die. The body of Lila Allen was only recovered after seven hours' search.

The building was 25 years old. It was damaged during the fatal tornado of 1886 and had never been properly repaired.

Miss Alice Bailey, of Atlanta, Ga., escaped the surgeon's knife, by using Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—I wish to express my gratitude for the restored health and happiness Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has brought into my life.

"I had suffered for three years with terrible pains at the time of menstruation, and did not know what the trouble was until the doctor pronounced it inflammation of the ovaries, and proposed an operation.

"I felt so weak and sick that I felt sure that I could not survive the ordeal, and so I told him that I would not undergo it. The following week I read an advertisement in the paper of your Vegetable Compound in such an emergency, and so I decided to try it. Great was my joy to find that I actually improved after taking two bottles, so I kept taking it for ten weeks, and at the end of that time I was cured. I had gained eighteen pounds and was in excellent health, and am now.

"You surely deserve great success, and you have my very best wishes."—Miss Alice Bailey, 50 North Boulevard, Atlanta, Ga. —$5000 forfeit if original of above letter proving genuineness cannot be produced.

All sick women would be wise if they would take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and be well.

Why Men Grow Weak

It Is Due to a Wasting of the Most Vital Elements, Which Destroys the Whole of the Bodily Forces.

It makes young men feel old and it cuts off the usefulness of middle-aged and old men long before their allotted time, resulting in premature decline and decay. It robs the blood of all its richness, exhausts the body of its animating powers, and saps the very life itself from the brain and nerve centers. Dr. Chase's Blood and Nerve Food acts at once upon this impoverished condition of the blood, brain and nerve forces, stopping the drain and replacing the run down and worn out tissues with the same material that has been wasted. It fills the shriveled arteries with pure, rich blood, which increases the weight in sound, healthy flesh and muscles, that give you strength, and the brain and nerves with fresh, vital fluid, that forces new life and vigor into every portion of the body, building up the entire system and transforming the sufferer into a type of perfect manhood. Weigh yourself before taking it. Price 50 cents. Book free.
